CONGRESS WETS WIN TESTS

26,000 CANADA RAILMEN HAVE WAGES CUT 10%

Unions Will Vote on Course to Take.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., Dec. 3.—Twenty-six thousand Canadian railway men tonight were notified that their wages will be reduced 10 per cent and that the pay cut will be effective as of Dec. 15.

Earlier in the day Canada's two railway systems advised the 21 general chairmen representing brotherhoods of the railway trades assembled in Montreal that the reduction was to be made. The announcement of the decision by the railway systems came as a shock to the labor chieftains, despite the fact that the cut had been recommended by a conciliation board.

Act in Face of Objections.

The union leaders yesterday notified the minister of labor at Ottawa that the board's recommendation was not acceptable and the railways announced their decision today in the face of the union objections that the men had until Dec. 15 to accept or reject the award. Should the locals refuse to accept the award, further negotiations between the chairmen and the railways would take place with a view to a compromise, it was said by union men.

James Murdock, former minister of labor and vice president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, today announced that another protest on behalf of the men had been made to the ministry of labor and to railway officials.

According to Senator Murdock, the employs of the "running trades," including locomotive engineers, locomotive firemen, conductors, trainmen, yardmen and telegraphers, have been notified their checks will be issued on Dec. 18 on the basis of the reduction rate. These checks cover wages earned between Nov. 15 and 30.

Await Decisions of Unions.

The date of Nov. 15 was recommended in the conciliation board's majority report as when the reduced rate should become effective.

Meanwhile, the representatives of the unions were waiting to hear from the local unions throughout the dominion the attitude of the railway men concerned.

"There is little chance of an immediate conference between railway heads and union men to settle the dispute by a compromise," J. E. B. Weir, general chairman, said. "We may wait to see what the men think of the board's decision before we do anything. We expect to hear from the unions within a day or two."

It is felt by union leaders here that the move taken by the companies is not only "illegal" but in direct contravention to what they declare was a tacit agreement that the findings of the board were not binding.

Call Action Illegal.

"It is not only illegal," Senator Murdock said, "but it defeats the original intent of the law. It also nullifies an amendment to the industrial disputes investigation act. We are making a reply to the companies saying that they have the right to carry out their proposals."

The union leaders estimate that the reduction to pay will amount to approximately $225 for each man on an annual basis.

Senator Murdock announced that a statement attributed to him in one of the local newspapers that "there is no option of a strike" is erroneous. "That is up to the men to decide," he explained.

Will Not Repay Companies.

According to the railway pay reduction, the men will not have to pay money already given them for services performed. Both the Canadian National railways and the Canadian Pacific hold back two weeks' pay on the last pay day on Nov. 30 was reported at Nov. 1 to 15. The cut, therefore, will come out of envelopes which the men receive Dec. 15.

The government, it is declared here, has nothing more to do with the dispute, which now lies directly between railways and the men. The proposed cut on the pay out placed before union locals can hardly be different from a strike vote.

Plans are to ballot on whether or not they will accept the reduction. A majority vote against acceptance is difficult to say what action the executive council can take in Montreal other than calling a strike.

GOVERNORS ASK ACTION OPENING CHICAGO TO SEA

Urge St. Lawrence Waterway Treaty.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Chicago an ocean port, the shifting of the seaboard 2,000 miles inland, the opening of the midcontinent to the seven seas and great lakes harbors transformed into salt water ports by means of a St. Lawrence seaway—these were pictures thrown on the screen last night by speakers at a dinner of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Tidewater association at the Chicago club.

They amplified a memorial adopted earlier in the day at the Stevens hotel, urging congress to ratify a treaty with Canada, under which work can be started to drown out the rapids in the international section of the St. Lawrence and open it to ships drawing 27 feet of water. The resolution hung up the motto: "By 1936 the great lakes harbors should become world seaports."

Eight Governors Attend.

Governors of eight states and officials from fifteen other commonwealths were in attendance, and the day was filled with speeches, talks over the air and the making of talkie pictures for the news reels.

Speakers said the seaway would benefit producers in states affected to the tune of half a billion dollars a year. The memorial, the chief object of the conference, set forth that a treaty is soon to be set before congress covering the project. It called on the senate to ratify, and upon the house to originate enabling bills.

Washington was urged to speed action up so that work on the St. Lawrence seaway can start next year. This is about the time the Illinois waterway, the link between the lakes and the Gulf of Mexico, may be finished if plans to expedite the work bear fruit.

"Chicago as an Ocean Port" was the theme taken by Col. William Nelson Pelouze, chairman of the deep waterway commission of Illinois, in opening the dinner program. Gov. George F. Shafer of North Dakota served as toastmaster.

Midwest Seen as Landlocked.

"Forty million people adjacent to the great lakes are landlocked," said Col. Pelouze. "When the St. Lawrence is open for deep navigation cities on the great lakes will become ocean ports. Manufacturers and farmers of the central states will then be on an equality basis, so far as cost of water transportation is concerned, with their seaboard competitors.

"More is involvnd than the saving of freight. New opportunities will be opened by this new line of communication. It will afford central west manufacturers a road to markets now closed. It will open avenues by which they can draw their raw material from all parts of the world that are now inaccessible.

"From the head of navigation on Lake Michigan to the Atlantic is 2,500 miles, all an active water highway. Between Chicago and Buffalo is the busiest inland marine traffic in the world. No public improvement promises greater benefits than the St. Lawrence seaway."

Waterway experts outlined the project in detail. Between Ogdensburg, N. Y., and Cornwall, Ont., lies the international rapids section of the proposed seaway. This is the section to which particular attention is directed, as joint agreement is necessary. It is 43 miles long with a drop of 55 feet and a potential electrical development of two million horse power.

Aim of the Treaty.

The proposal is to throw across two dams, drowning the rapids. The cost is figured at 135 million dollars. The memorandum of a proposed treaty at Washington, it was indicated, calls for construction of this work by the United States at its own expense, to balance off the money spent by Canada in building the new $125,000,000 Welland canal and other improvements. The proposal is to divide the power in the international section equally between the two nations.

Canada is going ahead in the reaches of the St. Lawrence which lie within the dominion. From Cornwall to Montreal three million horse power is available for Canada. In the 14 mile Soulanges section, which has two million horse power available, the Beauharnois company is building a huge power-navigation channel. In the Lachine section, where is a million horse power, a new canal is projected into the Montreal harbor.

Gov. Emmerson said the seaway

Judge, Police in War on "42" Gang; Seize 65

A crusade to smash the notorious west side "42" gang, blamed for much of the city's recent crime, was under way in two phases last night.

The first was the personal expedition of Judge Francis Borrelli of the Des Plaines street court into the stronghold of the hoodlum organization. For one month the judge, dressed in shabby clothes, mingled with the young hoodlums, frequented their haunts, and satisfied himself through personal observations of the need for smashing up of the gang. Yesterday he delivered the first blow by fining six of the alleged gangsters $200 and costs each.

Police Squads Open Drive.

The second blow came last night when heavily armed police squads invaded the west side territory of the organization. Within a few hours 65 men were seized.

Last night's police drive was a movement to cooperate with Judge Borrelli. Police said that as long as a judge was ready and anxious to assist them, they would do their part.

The result was that early last night Deputy Chief of Detectives Walter Storms, after a conference with Chief of Detectives William Schoemaker, summoned ten bureau squads.

"Judge Borrelli has begun a drive to break up the '42' mob," he explained. "We're going to help. You men are to go into their territory. Arrest every man who cannot give an account of himself. But be sure and get members of the '42' or any other gang. Bring them in and we'll take them before Judge Borrelli."

Ten Squads at Work.

At 11 p. m. the ten squads invaded the gang's territory, broadened for police purposes from Madison to 42d streets and from the river to Ashland avenue. The area was divided into eight main sectors, with concentration on the region between Harrison and 18th streets and along Halsted street and Ashland avenue.

The net was the most perfect ever spread over a prescribed area, police experts said.

The police squads entered their respective zones on time. They cruised in every street, down alleys. They invaded poolrooms, restaurants, and social clubs. They looked into all types of stores. They picked up men on corners and in front of homes. That the arrests were not more numerous was because of rain, which kept many of the hoodlums off the streets, police said.

The drive on the "42" gang was first revealed yesterday by Judge Borrelli when nineteen alleged members of the gang faced him. He fined six, discharged nine and held four for further hearing tomorrow.

"If I never do another thing in my life I'm going to break up the '42' gang," said the judge, addressing the defendants. "Most of you are of my race, and are a disgrace to the Italian people. I went into your neighborhood and learned everything said about you is true. You're a gang of thieves, and I'm going to clean up your district. Conditions are horrible, with people being terrorized daily."

Those fined yesterday were Guido de Salvo, Mario Balsommo, Peter Longo, Joseph Morando, John Fiore and James Kokinis.

During the day Alfred Carfagno, 21 years old, 1514 Cypress street, and James Nuzzo, 18 years old, 934 Polk street, alleged members of the 42 gang, were held to the grand jury in total bonds of $35,000 by Judge Alfar M. Eberhardt on charges of robbery.

CHICAGO TO PUT ITS PRISONERS TO WORK HELPING SANTA CLAUS

Prisoners in the Bridewell will be made deputies at Santa Claus, under a plan announced yesterday by Mayor Cermak. They will repair and brighten thousands of second hand toys, to be collected by the police for distribution to poor children on Christmas day.

His plan resulted, the mayor said, from a recent visit to furnish shoes to a poverty stricken family in which seven children were found going about the house in their stocking feet. As he was leaving, Mayor Cermak asked a 5 year old daughter of the family if she had a doll.

"I never had a doll," she replied.

"It is hard to imagine," the mayor said yesterday, "but there are thousands of little girls like her in Chicago, who have never had a doll to mother. I feel certain that the more fortunate citizens can find toys about their homes, discarded by their own children, which would bring joy to the heart of some poor youngster on Christmas morning."

Mr. Cermak urged that old toys be delivered to police stations throughout the city. It does not matter if the dolls and toys are broken, or their paint is scratched, he said. That will be repaired at the Bridewell. As many of the prisoners there—more than 2,000 in number—as are needed, will be put to work fixing the toys.

RAIN OR SNOW TODAY, WEATHER MAN PREDICTS

Light rain or snow probably will fall in Chicago today, according to the official forecast, and the temperature is expected to fall somewhat below that of yesterday, when a maximum of 45 degrees was registered from 1 to 2 p. m.

Tomorrow, it was indicated, will be generally fair and moderately cold.

Rain or snow was general yesterday over the central valleys, the Pacific northwest and the Rocky Mountains. Temperatures had fallen considerably in the western Canadian provinces last night.

Kills Invalid Mother to End Her Suffering

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Dec. 3.—(AP)—Mrs. Else Wille Bang, 42, was charged today on her own confession with the murder of her mother, Baroness von Dueben, who had suffered for years from an incurable disease.

The baroness died last week from an overdose of medicine which her daughter admitted administering.

"I gave to mother eternal life," Mrs. Bang declared in Police court.

The public prosecutor asked if her mother had known that a lethal dose was being given to her.

"Perhaps Mother Knew."

"I don't know what mother thought—perhaps she knew," Mrs. Bang replied. "She said, 'Else, you must give me this again Christmas eve.'

"Perhaps she said this because she wanted to appear without knowledge of what I was doing. Mother and I had much in common but she was weak. Once she tried suicide and I was afraid she would make another attempt and lose eternal life. Therefore I had to do it.

"By my strength I secured eternal life for mother. I don't regret it. Let the persons and lawyers say and do what they like to me."

Jury Will Hear Case.

Mrs. Bang, a highly-strung woman who left her husband after seven months of unhappy marriage, studied singing in Paris, but never succeeded as a singer.

Her case will be heard shortly by a jury which, for the first time in Denmark, will have to decide whether a woman who kills her mother from motives of humanity is guilty of murder.

After the baroness died last week Mrs. Bang told the Rev. Johannes Engel that she had administered an overdose of medicine. The clergyman and her father accompanied her when she surrendered to police.

DAMAGE $50,000 IN 5-11 FIRE AT FULTON MARKET

Fire which did $50,000 damage, swept through two floors of the Charles Gunderson Dressed Poultry company at 1105 Fulton street last night.

The blaze was in the center of the new Fulton street market, and for a while imperiled adjoining buildings. A 5-11 alarm was sounded. A fire escape on the front of the building aided greatly in expediting the fight, Marshal Michael Corrigan said.

The fire started on the second floor of the four story building, and had eaten to the third floor when firemen arrived.

Army Seizes Salvador in Armed Revolt

SAN SALVADOR, Republic of Salvador, Dec. 3.—(AP)—A military directorate assumed the powers of government today as President Arturo Araujo fled from the capital.

Organization of the new regime, it was announced, will proceed in accordance with the precepts of the law.

"Legalize" New Regime Today.

It was understood the national congress would meet tomorrow to legalize the new government.

The military directorate now governing the country includes six officers and four subalterns. The officers are Col. Osmin Aguirre, Col. Joaquin Valdes, Lieut. Col. Juan C. Vidal, Capt. Manuel Urgina, Lieut. Joaquin Castro Canizales, and Lieut. Carlos Rodriguez. The others are Miguel Hernandez Zaldana, Alfonso Hueso, Juan Ramon Nunez, and Julio Capas.

The new regime was given an ovation this afternoon in a demonstration of citizens, who were massed for blocks, shouting enthusiastically.

Regent Fighting Continues.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 3.—Dispatches tonight from San Salvador indicated that some blood had been shed in the revolution which deposed President Arturo Araujo, and that fighting was still going on outside the capital. One report said a part of the San Salvador garrison which remained loyal had withdrawn to a neighboring town and that the fighting had been transferred to neighboring points.

Meager dispatches telling of the rebellion said the trouble began at 10 o'clock last night, when the garrisons of two army forts mutinied and attacked the national palace. General fighting developed in the streets of the capital. The fighting is understood to have lasted until daylight.

Report Minister Slain.

One report tonight said President Araujo had fled to Santa Tecla, a short distance from San Salvador. Another report said he had been captured.

There was also some uncertainty regarding the reported killing of a cabinet minister. One report said Maximilian Hernandez Martinez, minister of war, was shot to death when he refused the rebels' terms of surrender. A later report said that his death was unconfirmed, but that Francisco Jose Espinoza, minister of finance, had been assassinated.

A TROUBLED HISTORY.

The tiny republic of Salvador, which is 140 miles long and 60 miles wide, has had a troubled history since it gained its independence from Spain in 1821. There have been several attempted uprisings since 1927.

Señor Araujo was elected early this year to succeed Dr. Boscos. Martial law subsequently was declared because of attacks against the government in opposition newspapers.

PUSH CAMPAIGN FOR SHOWDOWN ON PROHIBITION

House Rule Changes May Help.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 3.—[Special.]—The wet forces of both houses continued their drive for a showdown vote on prohibition today as the opening of congress approached.

House Republicans who favor bringing a repeal or modification bill to a vote successfully staved off a dry effort to maintain the house rules much as they now are. At the Republican house caucus there succeeded in their fight for a liberalization of the rule concerning the discharge of committees, which has heretofore been used to pigeonhole wet bills in committee.

In the senate, following the somewhat sudden tolerance of dry leaders in the face of the newly demonstrated wet strength, Senator Simeon D. Fess [Rep., O.] announced that he would offer no opposition to any wet move to bring out a bill which would definitely establish the line up of congress on the prohibition question.

Fess Agreeable to Vote.

"I am quite willing," said the Ohio senator, who is Republican national chairman and is listed as the driver of the dry; "that the wets should put the members of congress on record on prohibition."

In the Republican house caucus the rule permitting 145 members to bring a bill out of committee was finally passed despite efforts of the drys led by Representative C. Ellis Moore of Ohio to raise the figure to 160 on constitutional questions such as a resolution calling for repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

Previously leaders of the house Democrats, who will doubtless control at the next session, met and agreed that they, too, would favor the more liberal rules. Their decision will be passed upon and probably approved at their party caucus next Saturday.

Propose Five and Ten Repeal.

The wets' election at their new strength found outlet in proposals of new bills, among these one to repeal the Jones five and ten law by Representative Elect Ralph A. Horr [Rep., Wash.] and in statements illustrative of their confidence. Representative B. H. Clancy [Rep., Mich.] predicted that though the wets might not be able to pass the legislation they desired they could at least block some of the fanatic dry measures.

The American Federation of Labor through its committee on modification of the Volstead act today hailed the announcement by congressional leaders that the modification issue will be brought to a vote as "an indication of approaching victory in definite form."

"The announcement now that a vote is to be had on modification is an indication that the American people have made known their views in unmistakable manner," said Matthew Woll, chairman of the committee.

Moses Opposition Grows.

It also began to look today as though the long rumored effort of the senate insurgents to upset the rule of Senator George H. Moses [Rep., N. H.] as president pro tempore was really going through.

If it does, according to the plans now laid down, from eight to ten on the Republican side will vote for Senator Wesley L. Jones [Rep., Wash.] or Senator Charles L. McNary [Rep., Ore.] for president pro tempore. The result will be that no party or group will have a majority of the votes cast. And if a vote to declare the office of president pro tem. vacant precedes the vote for a new incumbent, it may leave the senate in a pretty parliamentary tangle.

It's a Grand Fight.

The insurgents believe they will have the Democrats' help to vote through the vacancy motion.

The radicals' fight against Senator Moses is a grudge fight, but there is more behind it than his noted description of them as "sons of the wild jackass." They claim that he recently threatened to oust the nine of them who hold committee chairmanships from the elevated offices. Then there is Senator Moses' administration of the senate office building, of which he has charge as chairman of the rules committee. Personal irritations have sprung up. Radical batting has been one of Senator Moses' favorite pastimes, as witness his exposure at the last session of the huge amounts spent by Senator Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota and his committee on senatorial campaign expenditures.

Nor is the anti-Moses group limited to the insurgents. It was reliably reported today that Senator James E.

Metcalf of Rhode Island would vote against the New Hampshire senator. Senator Moses, it is said, once opposed Senator Metcalf's appointment on an important committee and at the last election predicted Senator Metcalf's defeat.

Among those who probably will vote against Senator Moses are Senators Borah, Norris, Cousens, Metcalf, Nye, Frazier, La Follette, Blaine, and Brookhart. And there may be others.

It promises to be a vehement battle, particularly if the insurgents start to explain their course; for Senator Moses is not renowned for a peaceable tongue.

Two Contests Brewing.

In addition to the fight over the president pro tempore, trouble is forecast over the seating of Senator Elect John H. Bankhead [Dem., Ala.] and Josiah W. Bailey [Dem., N. C.]. The elections of both have been contested and resolutions demanding that they stand aside when they present themselves to take oath are under consideration.

In addition to supporting the anti-Hoolettes' demand for a change in the house rules, Democratic house leaders today were reported to have agreed that the seniority rule should apply to committee chairmen, thus giving southern members a majority of those posts. Texas, for example probably will have seven committee chairmen. The north, according to the plan, will be assured by having northern members given an extra share of places on the important committees.

REPORT MALTBY INDICTED FOR $180,000 FRAUD

Ernest V. Maltby, 55 years old, general manager of the defunct Rural Grain company, was reported named in a true bill voted by the grand jury yesterday on a charge of embezzling $180,000 from the concern. A federal charge of violating the grain futures administration act is also pending against Maltby.

According to the report, the grand jury heard evidence that Maltby had appropriated the money from 1928 to 1930 and had used it in stock speculations. He is alleged to have used the names of the grain company's customers in his stock dealing. Maltby was wiped out in the failing markets.

The Rural Grain company went into voluntary bankruptcy in June of 1930. Maltby fled to Seattle, Wash., near where he was captured by federal authorities on Oct. 30. He formerly lived at 15248 Lexington street, Harvey.

COUNTY CLERK OF ROCKFORD IN FIGHT WITH COP

Rockford, Ill., Dec. 3.—(AP)—County Clerk Howard W. Short of Winnebago county was charged with drunkenness, resisting an officer, and carrying concealed weapons tonight after he and a companion, Leonard Cochrane, allegedly attacked Policeman Herbert Bloomquist.

Bloomquist reported he offered to get Short upon a taxicab after he had been told they were drunk. Short and Cochrane were sitting in Short's automobile and Bloomquist tried to pull Cochrane from the back part of the car, Short, he said, struck him on the back of the head, knocking him to the pavement.

Detectives R. A. Johnson and Lloyd Anderson, who arrived at the scene, arrested Cochrane and Short and searched the car. They said they found a loaded .32 caliber pistol and a bottle of liquor in the automobile.

Henry R. Baldwin was elected president of the Illinois Society of the Sons of the American Revolution at their annual dinner held last night in the La Salle hotel. He succeeds Matthew Mills. L. D. Wright and Carroll H. Sudler were elected vice presidents, and Louis A. Bowman was elected secretary. Benjamin N. Johnson of Boston, president general of the organization, and Josephine Perry, member of the state legislature, were speakers.

SENATE BACKS UP ON PERSONAL TAX RELEVY ACT

BY PARKE BROWN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 3.—[Special.]—With less than half an attendance, the Republican organization of the senate today effected a reversal of the chamber's action yesterday, seeking a reassessment of personal property in Cook county. It put through a reconsideration of the Courtney resolution, passed unanimously less than 24 hours earlier, and postponed action on it until next Wednesday.

In the meantime the house formally adopted the Igoe resolution which already had been recommended by the committee of the whole. The two resolutions are identical in purpose, each requesting Gov. Emmerson to direct the state tax commission to order the reassessment that is sought.

Unlikely to Take Action.

With this sort of a tangle both houses wound up their fifth legislative week and went home until next Tuesday. In view of the senate's reversal it is considered unlikely that Gov. Emmerson will take any action. He was in Chicago today, but it is understood here his position is that he has no authority over the state commission. It also was rumored that if the two houses present reassessment resolutions to him he may refer them to his tax conference for consideration.

This latter body is the conference of fifty which sponsors the program for revenue relief for the local governments of Cook county, now before the special session. It is said that if the conference approved the reassessment idea the governor would transmit that recommendation to the tax commission of which Omer N. Custer of Galesburg is chairman.

It was admitted privately that the senate's action was prompted largely by a desire of the Republican majority leaders to discipline a Chicago Democrat, whom they consider a turbulent influence. It was not until Senator Harold G. Ward, who hails from the Lake View district, had shouted and stormed almost constantly throughout a bit of debate that Senator Richard J. Barr of Joliet, president pro tem, with his usual suave manner suggested reconsidering the Courtney resolution and, with 21 votes behind him, put it over, the three Democrats protesting.

No Quorum Present.

Senator Thomas J. Courtney, minority leader, had left for his home in Chicago, and it was suggested that if he, something of a parliamentarian, had been here the presence of a quorum—26—would have been challenged. But in his absence the point was not raised and the Barr idea went over.

The fracas started with a resolution by Senator Charles H. Thompson [Rep., Harrisburg], requesting Mayor Cermak of Chicago and President Whalen of the Cook county board to address the senate next week and state what legislation they believe Chicago and Cook county need from this session. Ward immediately protested that both the officials are members of Gov. Emmerson's tax conference and signed the conference report.

REVIEWERS ADMIT DENIAL OF HEARINGS ON TAX COMPLAINTS

The board of review stipulated yesterday, in the suit before County Judge Jarecki attacking the validity of the 1928 and 1929 assessments, that it denied hearings to a majority of the taxpayers who filed complaints against the assessments. On the 1928 assessment, the stipulation disclosed, 40,233 of the 67,754 complaints were denied hearing, while on the 1929 assessment hearings were denied for 28,532 of the 40,941 complaints.

County Attorney Hayden N. Bell also agreed to a stipulation that taxpayers were given no individual notices of the 1928 reassessment of real estate. He stated for the record, however, that the matter was widely announced through newspapers.

Attorney Morris Schaefer, who is conducting the attack on the assessment rolls, on the contention that failure to assess personal property at its full value placed an inequitable burden on real estate, put in the record figures on inheritance taxes collected in the Probate court of Cook county for 1928 and 1929. In those years approximately 70 per cent of inheritance taxes were on personalty. In 1928 the 1,259 estates which paid inheritance taxes scheduled personalty at $244,573,905 and real estate at $28,074,038. In 1929 the totals scheduled were $173,340,848 in personalty and $37,133,703 in real estate.

se that the whole world knows where they stand.

Senator Thompson and Senator W. R. McCauley [Rep., Olney] both replied that the senate should hear from the Chicagoans; and Senator Henry M. Dunlap [Rep., Savoy], argued that the Thompson resolution should be adopted, especially since Courtney "has opposed the conference report right along."

Opposes Income Tax?

"How do you know he has?" demanded Ward.

"He's opposed the income tax," replied Dunlap.

"Certainly he has," retorted Ward. "We're going to pay it. You're not."

A moment later Senator George Maypole [Dem., Chicago], offered to vote for the Thompson resolution with an amendment that Gov. Emmerson also appear before the senate and state his views.

"The only objection I have," put in Ward, "is that the governor was here and read his message, but refused to give us any advice at all."

Asks Courtesy for Thompson.

"You ought to show the same courtesy to Senator Thompson that we showed Senator Courtney last night," said Senator Martin R. Carlson [Rep., Moline]. "But last night it was a Democratic resolution and today it's a Republican one."

"Well, what hurry is there?" asked Ward. "Why not put it off until Tuesday? The mayor has been invited to appear before the house that day. Why not go over there and hear him?"

"There's not a man on the Democratic side," said Senator Arthur A. Huebsch [Rep., Brookfield], "who has taken a stand for a single thing before this session. Let's find out where some of them stand."

"If you adopt it without my amendment," said Maypole, "it means that you want a chance to abuse the mayor of Chicago and won't put the governor on the stand."

Objects to Inviting Cermak.

A motion to suspend the rules for action on Thompson's resolution was lost. Senator Harold C. Kessinger [Rep., Aurora] suggested that Mayor Cermak need not be asked to make two speeches here next week. Huebsch suggested a letter of invitation from the senate and Ward objected.

"If he's going to be here anyway," Ward said, "why not just go and listen to him?"

But by a viva voce vote the motion to write Mayor Cermak was passed, and then Barr, speaking quietly and smilingly, suggested that the Courtney resolution should not have been passed without sufficient consideration.

Dunlap pointed out that, because of his absence when the resolution was passed, Barr could not move reconsideration. Dunlap made his own motion for that action and, with Ward shouting wildly, a viva voce vote showed the motion passed and Lieut. Gov. Sterling announced it would be taken up on Wednesday.

House Hears Two Addresses.

The house of representatives listened to two speakers, Attorney William Ruger for the Chicago Real Estate board and Frederick W. Pringle, attorney for the village of Oak Park.

During these speeches the new steering committee meeting in secret session with Joseph K. Brittain, chairman of the executive committee of the governor's conference and Mark Levy, president of the Chicago Real Estate board, sought vainly to persuade these two men to agree to compromise in some way on the wide differences between the conference bill for the installment payment of 1930 taxes and the real estate board's plan to fund that entire levy by bond issue. No progress was reported.

Speaker Shanahan announced that the steering committee had voted to terminate all public hearings at noon next Wednesday.

OFFICIALS SPLIT ON PERSONALTY REASSESSMENT

Predict Delay in Collecting Taxes for 1930.

Action in the legislature indicating the governor may be requested to instruct the state tax commission to order a reassessment of personal property for 1930 yesterday found county officials in conflict. The move was interpreted by the assessors as one that would lead to financial stability, while other officials pointed to further financial chaos through resulting delay in collection of 1930 taxes.

Charles Fox, appraiser for the board of assessors, told county commissioners the task can be completed in 120 days at a cost of $150,000. Commissioner William Busse reminded him of the promises made as to the completion of the real estate reassessment and the time taken for the work. Busse said the work could not be completed for a year and at a cost far beyond $150,000.

Bills Pending in Assembly.

Assessor John E. Conroy held the work might be done in three months if bills of the assessors, now pending before the legislature, are passed. The bills are designed to aid collection of personal property taxes. The first bill would hold a person who fails to file a schedule guilty of a misdemeanor and subject to a fine of $100 as well as an increase of 50 per cent in his assessment.

The second bill is designed to refuse licenses to corporations until they have presented receipts for their capital stock and franchise assessments. The third bill would enable the board of assessors to force firms to bring in their books so that assessments might be made accurately. The fourth bill provides for publication of assessments after they have been fixed by the board of assessors and before presentation to the board of review.

Under the present system publication follows mailing of tax bills. The last bill provides that changes of the board of review be published in a supplement to the first lists.

Favors Teeth in Law.

"I am in favor of any law which puts teeth in the personal property tax," Conroy said. "A reassessment would life a share of the burden from the shoulders of the real estate owner."

County Attorney Hayden N. Bell said the ordering of a reassessment of personal property would raise a volume of legal questions which might delay the collection of 1930 taxes indefinitely.

Mr. Bell said the first questions will be whether the state tax commission has the power to order a reassessment when the present assessment is in the hands of the county clerk for extension. Mr. Bell doubted the power of the commission.

Other questions which may be raised are whether the county can proceed with the collection of real estate taxes pending the reassessment of personal property, whether real estate tax payers can be reimbursed for a portion of their payments with an increase in personal property taxes and whether the reassessment can be made for 1931 to be retroactive for 1930, 1929 and 1928. County officials held conflicting views of the questions.

BOMB LA GRANGE PLANT OF CUT RATE CLEANERS

The customary quiet of the village of La Grange was shattered last night by the explosion of a large bomb in the doorway of the cleaning establishment of Abarbanell Brothers, 116 West Burlington avenue. The explosive, apparently tossed from a moving automobile, blew out the front of the place and caused damage of $500 or more.

Price cutting methods of the Abarbanells are believed to have caused the bombing. The firm has a chain of stores operating in eight western suburbs and has been cleaning and pressing suits at 75 cents each. It has in the past had difficulty with labor unions.

In Chicago a small bomb was exploded in the rear of the Kosher Star Sausage Manufacturing plant at 1010 Maxwell street. Windows of surrounding buildings, mostly occupied by Negroes, were broken. The motive of the bombers was not learned by the police.

Slays Sister, Believing She's His Mother-in-Law

Paul's Valley, Okla., Dec. 3.—(AP)—Homer Hurt, Garvin county attorney, announced tonight that J. O. Logan had confessed he killed his sister, Mrs. Indiana Anderson, with an ax after mistaking her for his mother-in-law.

COURT TO ANNUL PRINCE NICHOLAS' MARRIAGE TODAY

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Dec. 3.—(AP)—Formal annulment of the marriage of Prince Nicholas and Mme. Jana Lucia Deleti will be declared tomorrow by the Rumanian supreme court, it was understood tonight, as a result of a personal petition by King Carol.

This action will be based on the theory that the marriage was not contracted in accordance with the dynastic statute of the Hohenzollerns and that it occurred without the consent of King Carol. As a consequence of the formal annulment, Nicholas will not have the status of Mme. Deleti's lawful husband.

The king, it is understood, will not consider it necessary any longer to exclude his brother from the royal family. Nicholas will be allowed to quit Rumania as he sees fit and no banishment will be pronounced. King Carol has summoned all the generals of the Rumanian army to be present at the royal palace tomorrow when he will define his attitude toward his brother.

$954,000 TAX WARRANTS SOLD IN DAY'S DRIVE

Small Investors Urged to Help Cause.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The mayor's committee, headed by D. F. Kelly, and engaged in promoting the sale of 1930 city and school tax warrants so that public employes may be paid, gathered in $954,000 yesterday in cash and pledges. This brings the total subscriptions up to $2,211,000 in three days. This sum has been got together before the active canvass has actually begun, or the details of the drive have been decided upon.

D. F. KELLY.

The largest of yesterday's subscriptions came from the Commonwealth Edison company. A check for $750,000 from the company was delivered to City Controller M. S. Szymczak by Attorney William H. Arthur and George E. Dixon, assistant treasurer. An interim certificate was delivered in lieu of the tax anticipation warrants, pending special legislation by the general assembly.

Fair Store Buys Warrants.

Mr. Kelly, who is president of The Fair, announced that his store will take $150,000 worth of the warrants. Another subscription of $50,000 came from Maurice Rosenfeld, who has frequently bought tax anticipation warrants of the city.

The continuing subscription of the day came from Charles Frey, business agent of the machinists' union. He asked that his union be put down for $4,000 and offered to take the 1931 tax warrants which the city has been unable to sell heretofore to private investors.

Mr. Frey said that he would attempt to get other unions interested in investing their treasury funds in tax anticipation warrants.

Calls Action Encouraging.

"That is very encouraging," commented City Controller Szymczak.

Large corporations are acquainted with tax anticipation warrants. They became educated in this subject early in 1929 when Philip R. Clarke, president of the Central Republic bank, put on a drive which raised $15,000,000 on participation certificates in a trust, which brought a like amount of tax anticipation warrants. The various local governments were then, as now, in urgent need of cash, and the large corporations and wealthy individuals subscribed to Mr. Clarke's fund.

"But the small investors and property owners are not so well acquainted with tax warrants," explained Mr. Kelly. "These 1930 tax anticipation warrants of the city and school board can be utilized to pay taxes of the tax year of 1930, which will be payable in a short time.

Gets 6 Per Cent Interest.

In the meantime, the investor will be getting six per cent on his money, which is a good rate for a sound investment. The validity of these warrants has been approved by Chapman & Cutler, recognized security experts.

"Every one is looking for a bargain. These warrants offer one. The small investors and the persons with cash in their safety boxes should grab these warrants; and many of them will when they know about them."

The offer of Marshall Field & Co. to purchase $431,000 worth of 1930 warrants was approved by the city council finance committe. The offer included the provision that the company may turn in $350,000 worth of 1929 warrants, which it cannot use to pay 1930 taxes, and $56,000 of accrued interest on them, as a part of the purchase price. The city will realize $25,000 in cash on the deal.

President T. G. Lee of Armour & Co., which will take a large block of warrants, inquired yesterday of the city controller for the exact proportion of these warrants which could be used to pay taxes.

Good for 29 Per Cent.

County Treasurer Joseph B. McDonough, as county collector of taxes, has the final word on that point. In his letter to Mayor Cermak yesterday, Mr. McDonough said:

"City of Chicago corporate warrants will be acceptable for approximately 20 per cent of a total tax bill, and board of education warrants for educational fund for approximately 19¼ per cent of a total tax bill."

The Association of Commerce plans to send informative data to the small corporations and individuals relative to the tax warrants, in the hope of getting them to invest.

WITH AND WITHOUT DISGUISE

Judge Francis Borrelli of the Municipal court told yesterday how he had gone disguised among the young hoodlums of the "42 gang" gathering evidence against them. In court he fined six of the alleged gang $200 and costs each. The judge posed last night in the disguise. (Story on page 1.)

Thousands of Christmas trees have begun to arrive in Chicago freight yards, to be carried by trucks and wagons to wholesale houses and retail stores. A year ago the shipments reached a total of 223 carlots.

A survey yesterday showed that 16 carloads of the trees had been placed in railroad yards. In addition to the scores of shipments still expected by rail, truck carriers are counted on to bring in trees cut this fall in northern Wisconsin and Michigan.

WIFE "TOO PIOUS TO LIVE WITH," HE WINS DIVORCE

Held Rings and Pretty Clothes Ungodly.

Baltimore, Md., Dec. 3.—[Special.]—On the grounds that his wife was too pious to live with, Henry Schmidt today was granted a divorce by Judge George A. Soller.

When the case was called Mrs. Schmidt interrupted to say: "Wait a minute, Judge, I think we ought to open court with a brief prayer before we start."

But Judge Soller replied that court procedure must be followed and that the courtroom was not the place for prayer. Mrs. Schmidt then said:

"Well, then, I'll just pray silently."

"Just as much as you like, madam," replied the judge.

It was testified that the wife destroyed valuables because she did not believe in personal adornment.

When the litigants left the courtroom, after the judge announced he would grant the husband a divorce, Mrs. Schmidt bade her husband goodby. They had married in 1913 and separated in 1927, according to records filed in the case.

It was testified that Mrs. Schmidt had given away new clothing after her husband complimented her on her appearance in the garments.

Mrs. Schmidt was quoted as saying that she "did not believe in worldly pleasures or personal adornment."

The court also was told that she had tried to destroy a diamond ring with a hammer and had thrown the ring into a fire, along with silverware.

Norfolk, Neb., Dec. 3.—(AP)—Imagine pork chops and ham on the hoof at less than one cent a pound. That's the price fall pigs, weighing sixty to seventy pounds brought at a sale in the stockyards yesterday. They sold for 50 cents each.

STAKES LIFE ON SOLITAIRE GAME; LOSES; IS SUICIDE

New York, Dec. 3.—[Special.]—Samuel Garber, 21, a junior prelaw student at New York university, last night staked his life on a game of solitaire. He lost and this morning his body was found in his gas filled furnished room at 106 Bank street.

Though he wrote a note and a letter shortly before committing suicide, he did not explain his reason for staking all on the card game, other than that he was discouraged by his failure in several examinations.

He wrote a special delivery letter to a friend, Louis Gordon, of Astoria, Queens, in which he said:

"When you get this get in immediate touch with me. I am staking my life on a game of solitaire and if I win I will continue my course."

The letter was delayed in delivery. Gordon got it this morning.

Wearer of Star Fined for Impersonating Official

Edward Lowry, 4822 North Ridgeway avenue, who flashed a star purporting to show that he was an employé of the corporation counsel's office when Policeman George Hurley gave him a parking ticket several days ago, was fined $1 yesterday by Judge Donald S. McKinlay. The charge was impersonating a public official. The judge ordered Lowry, who was attached to the corporation counsel's office in the Dever regime, to return the star and suggested that an investigation be made to learn how many badges are being worn now.

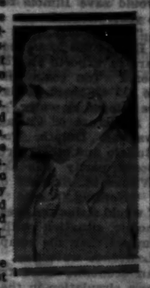
Drink Buyer's Evidence Placed Against Them.

Three white haired men—a great-grandfather and two grandfathers—sat side by side on a bench in the lockup in the federal building yesterday, the result of an afternoon roundup by prohibition agents. They were mild mannered men, staring at the bars before them. They had little to say. A deputy marshal appeared at the door and called, "John M. Kelleher!"



EDWIN K. WALKER. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

The man in the middle, the oldest of the three, arose and was taken before United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker, where he was charged with violation of the prohibition law. Agent C. M. Martin testified that he had bought a drink of liquor in Kelleher's delicatessen at 1907 Congress street on Nov. 24.

78 Years Old, He Says.

Commissioner Walker turned to the defendant. "How old are you?" he asked. "Seventy-eight," Kelleher replied.

"Did you sell this man liquor?" the commissioner continued, pointing to Martin.

Kelleher nodded. "Business was poor," he said, "I had to do something to keep going."

He was released on his own recognizance in bonds of $1,000.

This defendant gave his name as David McInerny and said he was 66 years old. Agent Martin testified that he had bought a drink in McInerny's soft drink parlor at 1411 Van Buren street while McInerny was absent several days ago.

"I don't know anything about it," McInerny told Commissioner Walker. "I'm not around the place much. As far as I know, only near beer and light lunches are served."

He was held in bonds of $1,500 and a hearing on the case was set for Dec. 11.

Third Grandfather Angry.

McInerny was followed by James O'Brien, 40 years old, 3117 Washington boulevard, the third of the grandfathers. O'Brien was indignant. He said he and three friends had been playing pinochle in the Bill Posters union headquarters at 413 South Ashland avenue when someone knocked at the door.

He admitted two men who placed him under arrest after declaring they had purchased liquor in the union headquarters on Nov. 23. A search of the premises revealed a half pint of colored spirits, Commissioner Walker was told. O'Brien was held in bonds of $500 as the proprietor.

CHICAGO PLAYS GOLDEN CARDS FOR CHARITIES

Crowds at Bridge Tables in Big Hotels.

For an hour and a half in Chicago last night, bridge reigned supreme. In 61st interval more hands were bent over card tables as the Golden Cards tournament under the auspices of this newspaper got under way, than ever before at one time in the history of this city. It's all over now but the scoring. Or, rather, the totaling of the score cards, which must be mailed not later than 6 o'clock tonight in order to make the players eligible to enter the finals in the Golden Card tournament on Dec. 15.

What the returns, either in scores or in funds for the Hungry School Children fund and the Joint Emergency Relief fund will be, was problematical at a late hour last night and cannot be announced until all the figures have been turned in. But there was no confusion on the matter of the good time the event furnished, incidental to support of these two major welfare undertakings.

Bridge Expert Gives Signal.

North, west, and south, Chicagoans met and listened as Charles True Adams, Tribune bridge editor, stepped before a microphone in radio station W-G-N at 8:15 o'clock and, in an introductory address, officially set the card players in motion across their tables. And all around the town they had a grand time with those pre-arranged, baffling hands.

Of the large hotels participating actively in the tournament, the largest crowd was discovered at the Shoreland on the south side, where stars of the stage, the radio, and the operatic world joined to keep the crowd amused and delighted. The ballroom was jammed with players and spectators early in the evening, and from the dinner hour until the small hours of the morning they stayed to enjoy the gayety.

Mrs. Virginia Tobin, an outstanding bridge player, was in charge of the tournament games in the hotel, where approximately 500 persons began play of the Golden Cards game and stayed down to the serious business of running up a good score. Merchants of the district had generously donated a number of prizes, which were awarded on the basis of total scores for auction and contract bridge.

They Provide Entertainment.

Such celebrities as Franklin Masters, band leader; Ted Weems, Olga Cook, Leatrice Wood, Dorothea Kane, Sybil Comer, radio crooner, and others helped to make the evening's entertainment enjoyable. Dancers and singers interspersed plenty of action between the numbers offered by Jerry Cenely and her orchestra. The Leschin fashion revue, presented by six of the prettiest members of the Service club, was the especial delight of the feminine half of the spectators.

Style Show at Hotel.

A similar production was that sponsored by Marshall Field's at the Chicago Beach hotel, where six professional models displaying the recent creations to arrive for midwinter and winter resort wear, constituted the major but far from the only attraction. Mrs. D. P. M. Taylor was the bridge expert in charge of play at this center, and the ballroom, where the tournament was centered, was well filled both for the games and later for the program.

The Ethel and Gertrude Morgan dancers presented several numbers for the Chicago Beach audience. Agatha Lewis and Doris Birk Watertons, sopranos, each contributed solos to the musical part of the bill, and Ruth Streeter and Henry Phillips, a popular duo, sang a number of duets. Ann Birk Kuper was heard in musical readings and Kathryn Bennett in piano selections, while the Mitzie Wyman orchestra scored a success both before and after the formal program.

At the Blackstone the interest was heated in the scorecards, since the couple returning the best scores were eligible to receive a trip to the Rio Grande valley. The awards were captured by Mrs. Edward S. Cody, of 316 North Menard avenue, and Mrs. Frank S. Collins, 7019 34th street, Berwyn. Runners up were Walter H. Pernadoff, 4511 North Francisco avenue, and Mrs. Louis A. Johnstone.

The two winners played contract and the runners-up, auction bridge. The two highest cards of each game were placed in a receptacle. Herbert Rawlinson, star of stage and screen and at present a member of the W-G-N staff, drew two cards. They proved to be the scores of Mrs. Cody and Mrs. Collins. Mrs. O. J. Rabe, widely known for her club affiliations and philanthropic activities, was the donor and was hostess to several tables of bridge.

With Mr. Rawlinson officiating as master of ceremonies, the crowd welcomed Charles Hackett, Chicago Civic Opera star, who warmly commended the Hungry School Children's fund, in which he is especially interested. Serafina Di Leo, youngest star of the opera company; Lawrence Salerno, baritone, and his accompanist, Allan Grant, both of W-G-N; Gregory Ratoff and the principals of his show, "Girl Crazy"; Miss Zita Johann of "Tomorrow and Tomorrow"; Bess Williams, W-G-N feature artist; Gayle Hinton, blues singer; and Adelbert Huguelet, concert pianist.

A Galaxy of Champions.

Nowhere in the city, either in public or in private, was the concentration on the cards any more intense than in the Oriental room of the Hotel Knickerbocker, where the tables were filled with the best players of the city, and even a few present and past national champions. Here the members of the Auction Bridge Club of Chicago constituted a nucleus that attracted other players of unusual skill. Edward J. Tobin, a member of the club, was present to supervise the play.

For the less serious part of the evening's activities, Miss Earlene Edwards of the hotel staff had arranged a program, the feature of which was the fur fashion show staged under auspices of the Fashion Art Bureau of America. A group of artists from the Ned Wayburn dance studios included Richard Bennett, eccentric dancer, and Raoul and Saskia, tango team. Musical numbers were given by Adeline Clarke, W-G-N soprano, and Minnie Sherman, blues singer.

Prof. Paul Seymour and Miss Elizabeth Morgan officiated at the tournament tables in the ballroom of the Belden-Stratford hotel. Following the games, Natalie Alt, soprano of W-G-N, sang a number of solos, with Delos Owen at the piano. Robert Hall, bass, and Emery Darcy, baritone, also sang.

Returns from the games played in private homes cannot be judged until the score cards begin to arrive at the desk of the Golden Cards editor of The Tribune today and tonight.

TAKE WITNESSES' STATEMENTS FOR GILDAY PROSECUTION

Assistant State's Attorney Mal Coglan took statements yesterday from four witnesses in preparation for the prosecution of Daniel L. Gilday, reformer and dry crusader who shot Herman Knol, 17 years old, while the boy was trying to help him home.

At the Englewood hospital Dr. Leo Jacobson said that Knol was continuing to improve, although he was not out of danger.

No bail was furnished for Gilday during the day and he remained in a cell while the prosecutor was preparing the evidence against him for presentation to the grand jury. Arthur Helgeson, 6821 South Green street; Clyde A. Phillips, 6925 South Green street, and Charles Lassman, 6917 South Union avenue, made statements to the prosecutor that Gilday was interested at the time of the shooting and all said they had seen him staggering along the sidewalk.

Gilday's two "courtesy" stars, his shield, a gift from a prohibition agent, and his fountain pen tear gas bomb were referred to in letters sent yesterday by the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform and the Crusaders to Mayor Cermak, Sheriff Mayering, and State's Attorney Swanson. The letters ask an investigation to determine whether there are any considerable number of reformers carrying dangerous weapons.

VISION CHICAGO AS OCEAN PORT ON WATERWAY

Governors Ask Treaty on St. Lawrence Project.

"In the last three years," he said, "Illinois has averaged 215 million dollars in exports and 50 million in imports. Ten cents will be reduced 25 to $10 on these goods when they can be shipped by water."

A picture of Chicago, Detroit, Milwaukee, Duluth, Toledo, Cleveland, Buffalo and other ports shifted to seaboard parity was sketched by Gov. Wilbur M. Brucker of Michigan.

"Nothing," said Gov. Brucker, "would strike the present sluggish economic situation with more dynamic impact than the completion of the St. Lawrence waterway. It would act as an economic blood transfusion to restore new circulation in the body politic.

"It would not only be a psychic stimulant but would invigorate the whole of North America as well by the establishment of new world trade routes. To Michigan and some of her sister states the St. Lawrence completion means more than any government undertaking ever before proposed.

"All that stands in the way today of this great project is 48 miles of rapids in 2,000 miles of waterway. If we had 48 miles of corduroy road to improve on a 2,000 mile highway we'd have the job done in a week.

"Can any one visualize the stimulus that will come with direct connection for all lake ports with Liverpool, Shanghai, Yokohama, Bombay, Rio de Janeiro, and other world ports?"

Gov. Leslie speaks.

The Calumet area was depicted as the industrial center of America by Gov. Harry G. Leslie of Indiana.

"Indiana," he said, "has 40 miles on Lake Michigan, which reaches into the heart of the richest area in the world. While the lake frontage is small it is the most important harbor project on Lake Michigan. Indiana Harbor, Burlington, and Gary have a water borne commerce that not only takes first place among Lake Michigan port facilities, but compares favorably with many of the great ports on the Atlantic and Pacific, and outranks all harbors on the gulf coast, including New Orleans."

Gov. George White of Ohio dwelt on the effect upon industrial expansion inland.

"Lake ports will become seaports," he said, "in terms of freight haulage. Toronto and Buffalo, Cleveland and Chicago will be nearer to Europe than is New York. Ocean going vessels from the Orient will discharge their cargoes upon the shores of Minnesota. A veritable Northwest passage will become reality.

"Much of this titanic project is already accomplished. It's completion depends on the successful negotiation of a treaty between the United States and Canada."

Governors Floyd B. Olson of Minnesota, George F. Shafer of North Dakota, J. M. Erickson of Montana, and Warren Green of South Dakota spoke in similar strain. Iowa was represented by two ex-governors, William L. Harding and John Hammill.

"The seaway," said Gov. Shafer, "will bring the Atlantic ocean, as an avenue of commerce, 2,700 miles into the heart of the North American continent, transform the great lakes into an inland ocean, remake many American and Canadian cities from lake-port cities into seaport cities, and liberate 20 American states and several Canadian provinces from those burdens of distant transportation which have long stood as an unsurmountable barrier to the economic progress of this great inland empire."

Dr. R. S. MacElwee, contributed to the day's discussion a paper on distance and ship time to world markets from lake ports.

One Killed, Fifteen Hurt by Gas Explosion

Berkeley, Cal., Dec. 3.—(AP)—One person was killed, fifteen were seriously injured, three of whom may die, and more than forty others were hurt in a gas explosion that tore the roof from a burning residence in the Hillside district here late today. The terrific blast, which came as firemen battling flames in the home had them nearly under control, hurled burning timbers into a tightly packed crowd watching the fire. Sherman Pepper, 14, son of Prof. Stephen Pepper of the University of California, was killed.

PROPOSE TO PAY COUNTY WORKERS BUT 10½ MONTHS

Economy Plan for 1932 Wins Support.

County employés will work twelve months for ten and a half months' pay next year. The drastic economy program was adopted yesterday by a subcommittee of the county board finance committee as an alternative to cutting wages or turning off a large number of county employés. It received the approval of elective county officials and of the judges of the Circuit court, who dictate the budget for the county fee offices.

M. J. O'CONNOR.

The economy program was made necessary by a $2,000,000 anticipated deficiency in county revenue for 1932 below its normal financial needs. The three half month payless periods, imposed on all employés, amount to a reduction in their annual income of approximately 11 per cent and will save about $1,000,000, Michael J. O'Connor, deputy county controller, said.

Must Cut Down Services.

The other $1,000,000 to be saved, he said, will have to be squeezed from supply and miscellaneous funds, including the appropriation for the Cook County Training School for Nursing, which has received $1,200,000 under a contract with the county board for furnishing nursing service at the county hospital.

The elective officials of the county, whose salaries are fixed by law, have agreed to participate in the three payless periods, and it is understood that the judges of the Circuit and Superior courts will also accept the pay loss for that half of their salary received from the county. The state pays the other half.

Three Payless Periods.

Commissioner Maurice Kavanagh, chairman of the county board finance committee, said that one half-month payless period would be arranged in the first quarter of 1932, one in the second quarter, and one in the third. The plan really goes into effect, however, as of Dec. 1, the beginning of the county board fiscal year.

The extra employés who work a few weeks or months in county offices will also feel the economy plan. Their wages are to be reduced from $6 to $5 a day. The officials who drafted the plan felt that it would be better than an outright cut in salaries, since it might require years to restore salaries to their former level if a cut were made. They also oppose cutting the number of employés, both because of the general unemployment situation and to avoid decreasing the efficiency of their offices.

Judges Give Consent.

Practically all of the elective county officials agreed to the plan at a morning meeting with the finance subcommittee, and in the afternoon a committee of officials presented the plan to the Circuit judges and obtained their consent.

The plan will be presented to the full finance committee of the county board for formal action today, and will go to the board itself at its meeting Monday. It is preliminary to the actual county budget making for 1932.

U. S. REFUSES TO RESCIND BAN ON BONDS OF COUNTY

U. S. treasury officials yesterday refused to accept the explanation that Cook county had not actually defaulted but only had slipped a little last June in the payment of interest and principal upon bonds. The explanation was advanced after county bonds were declared unacceptable as investment for postal savings funds. County Controller William Graham was notified that the bonds were no longer acceptable on Nov. 30.

Graham wrote the treasury that Chicago banks had paid bonds and interest coupons presented and that the county later had repaid the banks with refunding bonds. The government, however, held that the county was not in position to meet the interest and principal due. Officials refused to acknowledge the difference between the technical and actual defaults. The bonds will not again be acceptable until after 10 years without a default.

JUDGE FINDS TWO SLUGGERS GUILTY IN LABOR FIGHT

Witnesses Tell About Attack on Worker.

Two labor sluggers were found guilty by Judge Rudolph F. Desort in the Criminal court yesterday despite threats of gang rides and bombings made against prosecuting witnesses. Two witnesses told of the threats from the stand, although one of them "lost his memory" and had to be cross-examined as a court's witness before he told his story.

JUDGE DESORT.
[Loubell Photo.]

Judge Desort ordered the two defendants, John Connors and John Gill, both 24 years old, held overnight in the county jail pending disposition of a motion for new trial, which he will hear today. He found them guilty of assault with deadly weapons, and they face maximum sentences of a year in the Bridewell.

Gill and Connors were operating in connection with jurisdictional disputes in the Tile Setters' union. The complaining witness, Walter Rastorfer, 618 Roscoe street, was setting tile in a swimming pool on the Winnetka estate of Max Epstein, philanthropist and capitalist, when he was assaulted on Sept. 29.

He testified that on that day Connors and Gill, with a third man, appeared on the job and ordered him and his companions to quit work. Rastorfer is a member of local No. 67 of the Tile Setters' union.

When he refused he was beaten with a hammer, he charged. His fellow workmen came to his aid, but were cowed by the revolvers which the sluggers drew, he said.

One of Rastorfer's fellow workmen, Frank Harding, 3647 North Kedvale avenue, suffered a "lapse of memory" when he was called to the witness stand. Assistant State's Attorney George Lavin then asked Judge Desort to make Harding a court's witness, that he might be cross-examined by the state.

On cross-examination Harding admitted that he had identified Connors and Gill as the sluggers when he saw them at the detective bureau after their arrest. After that, he said, he received threats that he would be taken for a ride and that his home would be bombed if he testified against them, and he decided that silence was the best policy. Rastorfer told a similar story of attempted intimidation.

Connors and Gill were arrested on Oct. 8 in Douglas park in an automobile.

JAPAN REJECTS PLAN OF LEAGUE TO BRING PEACE

Drafts Counter Proposals —Council in Gloom.

BULLETIN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Dec. 4.—(Friday.)—A dispatch from Mukden today said Chinese troops at Chinchow are advancing in three directions toward Mukden. The movement includes cavalry and infantry. Japanese army headquarters at Mukden regard the situation as threatening.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Dec. 3.—Japan today flatly turned down the league of nations' peace program for Manchuria and drew up counter proposals which will be submitted to the league council sitting in Paris. The Japanese government objected to the league's plan which was interpreted to restrict Japanese activity against Chinese bandits and fixing of a time limit for the evacuation of troops outside the Manchurian treaty zone as "too severe."

[A. P. Photo.]
BARON SHIDEHARA

The counter proposals were drawn up by Baron Shidehara, foreign minister, and other members of the cabinet at a meeting which lasted throughout the night. It was decided to send the proposals and a new set of instructions to Kenkichi Yoshizawa, the Japanese spokesman at the league council.

Objects to Two Points.

Specifically, Japan objected to the fifth paragraph of the council's prepared "peace resolution," which provides that if the withdrawal of troops is not completed by the time the league's commission of neutral observers reaches Manchuria they are to "report speedily to the league with whatever recommendations they see fit."

The other point to which Japan strenuously objects is the "declaration" by Aristide Briand, council chairman, which is to accompany the resolution when the council acts upon it. This declaration admonishes China and Japan to cooperate in suppressing banditry.

"That particular statement does not give Japan sufficient latitude in dealing with bandits," a foreign office spokesman is quoted as saying.

League Plunged Into Gloom.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Dec. 3.—The council of the league of nations was plunged into gloom today when it was learned that Japan had rejected two features of the council's proposal for an international commission of investigation on the Manchurian conflict. Tokio's note of rejection and the government's counter proposals are being decoded by the Japanese delegation tonight.

The council did not meet today and did not schedule a meeting for tomorrow.

The council is awaiting a reply from China as to whether it will accept the resolution. Dr. Alfred Sze, Chinese delegate, has requested his government to reveal its views upon the Japanese proposal that a neutral zone be established in South Manchuria and the removal of the Chinese troops within the Great Wall.

DRINKS AT CLUB OF WELSHER LACK KICK; HE'S FREED

Commissioner Hears Tale of Marden Club.

A new story about the hospitality of Ben [The Welsher] Marden in his one time ritzy Continental Gold Coast club at 19 Cedar street was told yesterday before United States Commissioner Walker. Two months ago it was revealed that Mr. Marden refused to pay a $21,000 gambling debt. Yesterday it came to light that he served Tom Collinses in his establishment without mixing in the alcoholic ingredient.

After hearing two witnesses tell of the nonalcoholic drinks, Commissioner Walker freed Marden and his partner, Ben Levin, on charges of selling liquor and maintaining a public nuisance. There was not sufficient evidence, the commissioner decided.

Two Describe Their Drinks.

The witnesses who described the quality of Marden's beverages were C. E. Austin, an advertising man living at 1173 Ashbury avenue, Hubbard Woods, and Policeman Walter Gregory of the East Chicago avenue station.

Austin testified that he and Gregory and two women, whose names were not revealed, entered Marden's club at 3 o'clock in the morning of Oct. 29. The women ordered Tom Collinses for the party while Austin and Gregory were out of the room.

"Could you detect alcohol in your drink?" asked Alfred W. Bosworth, assistant United States district attorney.

"No," Austin answered, "but there was a taste of gin."

"How many Tom Collinses did you have?" Bosworth asked.

"We had six rounds, but I couldn't feel any effects at all," said the witness.

Official Describes the Drink.

The testimony of Policeman Gregory was substantially the same. After Gregory left the stand James Slattery, defense attorney, turned to Commissioner Walker and said, "Well, your honor, serving a gin essence isn't a violation of the prohibition law."

"But a Tom Collins is known to be a very potent drink," protested Prosecutor Bosworth.

"Yes," said the commissioner, "I've heard of it. It's gin, lime, and seltzer water." Then he added, "Of course, I've never had one."

Marden's club, because of his method of handling gambling debts, intermittent raids or his Tom Collinses, was closed on Nov. 6.

BANK TELLER SENTENCED.

Claire Auburn Young, teller of a Fort Wayne, Ind., bank, who embezzled $1,100 from his employers, was sentenced to two years in the federal reformatory at Chillicothe, O., by Federal Judge Thomas W. Slick at Richmond yesterday.

COAST GUARDS SHOOT 2 IN RUM CHASE ON LAKE

Toledo, O., Dec. 3.—(AP)—Two alleged rum runners were wounded and captured by a coast guard crew late tonight after a two mile chase in Lake Erie.

The captured men, shot when the coast guardsmen opened fire with rifles and pistols, gave their names as Ed Zess, 28, Fort Clinton, and Gaus Welch, 30, Detroit.

Zess was shot through the neck, but is expected to recover. Welch suffered a shattered elbow.

The chase lasted until the two boats were near the Toledo harbor light, where the water was too shallow to permit the cutter to follow any further.

Zess and Welch were unable to continue their flight and the coast guardsmen boarded their boat. There were 780 cases of beer and whisky aboard, Capt. Hagglogge said.

6 ROBBERS RAID CAFE; PATRONS LOSE GEMS, CASH

Six bandits, including a middle aged leader, held up seven patrons and the owner in the soft drink parlor and restaurant at 5401 South Lincoln street late last night. They obtained $224 in cash and $1,210 in jewelry. Five of the bandits guarded the victims while the leader searched them.

Those robbed and their losses were Joseph Graff, the owner, $80, and a revolver; Adolph Graff, 5759 South Maplewood avenue, $65, a ring valued at $920, and a $200 pin; John Kuber, 2132 54th street, $40 watch; Thomas Norak, 5619 Ada street, $23; John Detlos, 5252 South Wood street, $9; Thomas Maloney, 5316 Morgan street, $50 watch; Paul Jenesek, 2057 55th place, $64, and John Murphy, $3.

Bride Is Actress

Caesar J. Petrillo, brother of James C. Petrillo, president of the Chicago Federation of Musicians, and Miss Ruth A. Hink, known on the stage as Jean Gordon, were married yesterday by Judge John A. Sbarbaro in the city hall. Miss Hink played in "A Night in Spain," "Pleasure Bound," and other musical shows. Petrillo was for six years a member of Mark Fisher's band. Earl Mastro, the fighter, was best man.

U. S. CONSIDERS RESTORATION OF '24 STAMP TAX

Washington, D. C., Dec. 3.—[Special.]—A plan to revert to the basis of the 1924 revenue act, in an effort to increase next year's federal income by approximately one billion, 200 million dollars, was reported today as under consideration by the administration.

What is chiefly desired is a restoration of the various excise and stamp taxes, those on automobiles, for example, and the income tax rates that were appreciably higher than those now in force.

The present maximum surtax on incomes over $1,000,000 is 20 per cent. The 1924 act called for a 40 per cent surtax on incomes over $500,000.

Hiccoughing Stopped by Pressure on Phrenic Nerve

Mount Vernon, O., Dec. 3.—(AP)—Carl Horlacher, 39 year old news dealer, was relieved today of an attack of hiccoughing which had persisted for 15 days following a treatment by Dr. Charles McGavran of Columbus. Dr. Julius Shamansky, Horlacher's physician, said that Dr. McGavran succeeded in stopping the hiccoughing by applying pressure to the phrenic nerve in the left shoulder.

BAR 'GAMBLING,' BUT PLAY CARDS FOR MERCHANDISE

Mayor Favors Legalizing Games of Chance.

Marion, Ind., Dec. 3.—[Special.]—Card games were being played in downtown poolrooms and cigar stores today under special permission granted by Mayor Jack Edwards and members of the police board. Winners will receive checks which may be exchanged for merchandise, but no open gambling will be permitted, officials said.

All games are to be played in front rooms, William Herkless, board president, said, and no punch boards or slot machines are permitted. All police board members agreed to the plan.

Prosecutor "Not Advised."

"The action is being taken at the request of several cigar store owners, who have assured members of the police board that no gambling will be permitted," Herkless said.

"It is news to me," was the comment of Harley F. Hardin, county prosecutor, who said he had not been advised of the change in card playing restrictions.

"I was not consulted about it and I will file affidavits in all cases where I learn that gaming is being permitted," the prosecutor said.

Mayor Edwards said he would propose an ordinance taxing each card game table $5. He likewise will sponsor a law in the next state legislature legalizing gambling, he said.

Might Seek Reprisal.

In answer to Hardin's threat to "make it tough on the gambiers," Mayor Edwards countered with the remark that "I can get tough, too." He inferred he might seek reprisal by raiding poker and bridge parties at private homes.

It was Marion which recently took the brunt of State's Attorney General James M. Ogden's "seething in corruption" charge with its subsequent fruitless grand jury investigation. So far as revealed, gambling did not figure appreciably in that investigation.

Slugs Woman with Lead Pipe and Robs Her of $8

An unidentified robber struck Mrs. Mamie Cronin, 47 years old, on the head with a lead pipe as she entered the hallway of her home at 1002 North State street early this morning. He fled with her purse containing $8. Mrs. Cronin, a dressmaker, told East Chicago avenue police she did not see her assailant. He came down the stairs as she started to walk up, she said.

HARVARD BEQUEST OF ARTEMUS WARD TOTALS $5,370,669

Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 3.—[Special.]—Through the will of Artemus Ward, an accounting of which has just been filed in New York, Harvard university has received a virtually unrestricted bequest of $5,370,669, and with part of it is now maintaining—a patriotic and historic museum the Gen. Artemus Ward homestead at Shrewsbury.

Gen. Artemus Ward was the great-grandfather of the testator, who was Artemus Ward, proprietor of Artemus Ward, Inc., an advertising organization. The exact amount of the bequest to Harvard was not set forth at the time of the appraisal of the estate, inasmuch as, being left to an educational institution, it was exempt from taxation.

The will makes Harvard university residuary legatee of the estate, to be known as the Gen. Artemus Ward fund.

The university has been receiving the money in installments over a period of the past five or six years.

Mistakes Poison for Rum; Dies as Result of Drink

There were two bottles on a shelf in the home of Michael Wawziakowics at 1122 North Mozart street. On Monday he went to the shelf and took a drink from the one which he believed contained moonshine liquor, but got the one that held concentrated nitric acid. He died yesterday.

WELFARE GROUP TO DECIDE ABOUT PIANO BOX GIRL

Escanaba, Mich., Dec. 3.—(AP)—Decision as to the future of an 8 year old girl who neighbors said had been kept in a piano box in her back yard in all sorts of weather rested tonight with the Michigan state welfare department.

In the meanwhile the girl, Elaine Plucker, remained in the home of her father and stepmother, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Plucker, who were accused of the mistreatment. There is no piano box there, though, for last night Plucker smashed it into kindling wood with an ax in the presence of Probate Judge Judd Telland, before whom he and his wife had been accused of cruelty and neglect.

The Pluckers denied charges of neighbors and of Mrs. Cora Plucker, Elaine's grandmother, that the girl had been kept in the box almost all of every day. They said she never had been a prisoner.

Judge Telland left it to the state welfare investigators to determine whether the girl shall remain with the Pluckers, or be given to the grandmother, as the latter asked in bringing the case to court, or be sent to an institution.

$125,000 in Pensions Sent Out to Retired Teachers

Checks totaling more than $125,000 were mailed yesterday by the teachers' pension board to Chicago's 1,650 retired teachers. At the semi-annual meeting of the Retired Teachers' association in the Morrison hotel, President James A. Armstrong said there was more than $2,000,000 in the pension fund. The active public school teachers have been paid in cash only once since April.

FINLAND ASSAILS PROHIBITION AS CURSE TO NATION

Asks Diet to Authorize Speedy Referendum.

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Dec. 3.—(AP)—The Finnish government tonight asked the diet to authorize a referendum to determine whether prohibition shall be continued, repealed outright, or modified to permit medium strength wines and beer.

With the referendum measure the government submitted a statement declaring that during the 12 years that prohibition has been in effect none of the expected changes in the nation's habits has occurred.

Contrarily, the government statement said, the conflict between the law and the predilections of the people had led to brazen and pernicious violations of the statute. Destructive influences have been brought to bear against respect for law in general, the government statement added, because violations of the dry law have become so common.

Cites Increase in Crime.

In addition to the prevalence of drunkenness, the government cited a considerable increase in crimes of violence and declared intoxicants had played a large part in it.

A special criminal profession has come into being, utilizing the situation which prohibition opened up, the government statement said, and thus public justice has been threatened by those who wish to obtain alcohol illegally.

The ministry's declaration averred the evils of prohibition had loomed larger than the benefits of increased sobriety brought about by the law in many parts of the country.

Bad Financial Effect.

Furthermore, the government declared, prohibition has had unfavorable financial effects, causing a heavy tax burden to be laid on citizens living on legal incomes while those living on the illegal sale of alcohol are free from taxation.

Finland's financial position is such that it has become extremely difficult to balance income and expenditure and sooner or later liquor taxation must be resorted to, the government statement said.

The debate on the measure in the diet was the signal for an intensive campaign by the opponents of prohibition for outright repeal when the referendum is taken, probably Dec. 29 and 30.

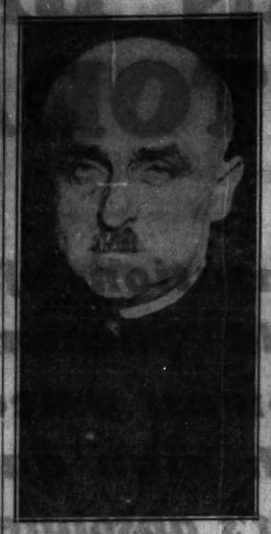
Both Sides "Alarmed."

The National Temperance association, which is Finland's central anti-prohibition organization, called a mass-meeting for Sunday to prepare for the campaign and arrange committees throughout the country.

Both the antagonists of prohibition and its supporters took a pessimistic view of the situation tonight.

Certain anti-prohibition leaders said their position was weaker because they were without a large campaign fund comparable with that of the prohibitionists. The prohibitionists, on the other hand, declared wet propaganda had gained such a head start recently it might be difficult to counteract it in the short time remaining before the referendum. Party lines were broken in the debate today on the referendum resolution.

Jailed by 9th Wife



PAUL ELLIS.

Paul Ellis, 1250 North Maplewood avenue, was sentenced to six months in the county jail by Circuit Judge Daniel P. Trude yesterday for nonpayment of child support money to his ninth wife, Mrs. Rose Ellis, 32 years old, 3518 Grenshaw street. It was the third similar sentence for Ellis since their divorce in 1926. Subsequently he married for the tenth time and is the father of three more children. County welfare workers told the court that fourteen different charitable organizations were aiding Ellis' latest family and that he received monthly ration deliveries from the county.

Arraigned because he was $31 in arrears Ellis pleaded that he had no money. Attorney F. Yale Fishman for Mrs. Ellis No. 9, asserted that Ellis had made the same plea on two prior occasions but had paid promptly when he was sent to jail.

GIRLS SHOULD MARRY AT 23, DOCTOR SAYS

The average girl of today should marry at the age of 23 from a biological viewpoint, Dr. N. Sproat Heanley, attending obstetrician and gynecologist at the Presbyterian hospital, asserted yesterday. Dr. Heanley spoke at a gynecological clinic held at the hospital for members of the Gynecological Travel club.

"At 23," said Dr. Heanley, "a girl has reached full maturity. She is ready for bearing children. Pioneer women usually married earlier. Conditions then prepared them for childbearing at a younger age. The stress of modern life is of a different nature."

The gynecological club is an association of gynecologists of various American and Canadian cities.

36 INDICTED IN U. S. CAPITAL ON LIQUOR CHARGES

Washington, D. C., Dec. 3.—[Special.]—An indictment charging 36 residents of the national capital with conspiracy to commit 1,100 violations of the prohibition laws was returned today by the District grand jury, culminating ten months of secret investigation by the district attorney's office into what is said to be the largest liquor ring ever unearthed here.

Three stills, more than 300 gallons of liquor and 3,000 gallons of mash are said to have been seized during the investigation by the staff of prohibition agents and police who have been working under the direction of Assistant United States Attorney Harold W. Orcutt.

All of the 36 persons named in the indictment, six of whom are women, have been arrested and are under bond, Orcutt said today, except two who are ill and one who has not been found. The assistant district attorney declared that he will ask for an early trial.

LOOT OAK PARK DRESS SHOP.

Burglars made a rapid raid early yesterday on the Lerner dress shop, 11122 Lake street, Oak Park, four blocks from the police station. They smashed the glass in the front door, took 700 dresses valued at $7,000 to a waiting automobile, and escaped before police arrived in response to a burglar alarm.

Her Horse Wears Trousers, but New Husband Doesn't

Nyack, N. Y., Dec. 3.—(AP)—Herbert Collishaw, the taxi driver who last week married Mrs. Evelyn Word Leigh, exponent of sun ray cure, who lives in a glass house and dresses her horse in trousers, was in the Rockland state hospital for the insane at Orangesburg today. He was taken there last night on a temporary commitment signed by Dr. Ralph Debaun of Congers. Collishaw, who his wife said had promised her a life of ease and a trip to Florida but deserted her instead, was found walking on the state road near New City last night garbed only in a shirt.

COMMONS BACKS MacDONALD ON POLICY IN INDIA

All but Three Approve Britain's Attitude.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 3.—An overwhelming majority for Prime Minister MacDonald's policy on India was voted by the house of commons tonight at the conclusion of a two day debate. The prime minister's motion asking the members to support the government's stand missed being unanimous by only three votes.

The approval by the house came after it had rejected an amendment offered by Winston Churchill, fiery Conservative. The chief points of his amendment were that the house of commons should not be committed to a dominion status for India and that effective safeguards be provided for British trade with India. It was defeated, 269 to 43.

Churchill's speech in today's debate was generally admitted as being one of the most brilliant he has ever made in commons.

Democracy in India, he asserted, was "preposterous," not because the Indians inherently were incapable of it, but because conditions made it impossible. Any attempt to apply democratic institutions, such as in Canada and Australia, rigidly to India would produce measures of tyranny, ending in bloodshed, he asserted. He said that the words "dominion status," as used 10 or 15 years ago, did not imply dominion structure or dominion rights.

"The Irwin-Gandhi pact had as much to do with the collapse of British credit as any speculation in the city of London," he exclaimed. "Strip this island of her interest and sovereignty in her tropical lands and you would have a plain explanation of the collapse of the pound sterling."

Mahatma Gandhi, India's Nationalist leader, who is recovering from a slight fever, is still sitting on the fence. He has not yet formed a definite opinion of Prime Minister MacDonald's declaration.

"If the declaration bears the meaning I felt it did when I heard it, then it means the parting of the ways," Gandhi said tonight.

STALIN PUNISHES PROFESSOR FOR "INSULT" TO LENIN

Expels Red Historian from Party.

MOSCOW, Dec. 3.—(AP)—The wrath of Joseph Stalin, Russian dictator, has descended on a young member of the institute of Red professors and the editorial board of the journal, Proletarian Revolution, because of an article questioning the orthodoxy of Nikolai Lenin's pre-war bolshevism.

Prof. A. C. Slutsky, who earned some reputation as a historian of the revolution, has been expelled from the communist party, it was learned, and sent to an inferior post in a lower Moscow school. He and the editors were denounced by Stalin as calumniators, falsifiers, and Trotskyites.

Slutsky charged in the magazine that Lenin had underevaluated the danger of centrism in Germany and the general pre-war social democracy.

Rakes Board Over Fire.

Stalin addressed a scathing letter to the board, just published in the magazine, Bolshevik, in which he said: "Slutsky made it appear that Lenin was not a real bolshevik until during or after the period of the imperialistic war. Instead of proclaiming this newly come 'historian' a calumniator and a falsifier, you start a discussion and give him a tribute.

"You can not transform into discussion the matter of Lenin's bolshevism. You make another error in declaring that the board considers it natural from a political viewpoint to discuss further problems concerning the relations of the bolsheviks with the Second International.

"Lenin's bolshevism is an axiom. Everybody knows that Lenin was born, grew up, and became strong in the merciless fight against centrism and all sorts of opportunism."

Francis X. Bushman Sued by Woman Hart in Crash

Francis X. Bushman, one of the first motion picture stars, was named as a defendant yesterday in a $50,000 damage suit filed in the Circuit court by Mrs. Margaret O'Malley, 202 South Hamlin avenue. Mrs. O'Malley is alleged to have suffered injuries on Dec. 1 when Bushman's automobile collided with another car at Jackson boulevard and Homan avenue.

MASS BUILDING OF CITY HOMES AT ONCE URGED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 3.—[Special.]—Application of large scale methods to the problem of supplying adequate housing for the 50,000,000 Americans not now living in desirable types of homes was one of the major recommendations made today as the President's conference on home ownership and home operation began its four day sessions.

The committee on large scale operations, one of fifteen committees of experts who have been studying various phases of the national housing situation during the last year, submitted a report in which it urged the formation of corporations, organized for large scale operations, which would construct urban homes and replace the present slums and blighted areas with first class living accommodations. This committee urged that the problem of supplying better homes for the low wage city dweller be taken up at once by city, state, and federal authorities.

Housing Institute Proposed.

The committee report stated that large scale housing operations would lower building costs, offer low rents to low salaried families, provide a good investment for the financier, and eliminate waste. It asserted, however, that "only a corporation organized for large scale operations, with ample funds, directed and staffed by experienced and able architects, contractors, and manufacturers, and enjoying the cooperation of labor and city, state, and federal governments could produce an adequate result." It urged immediate establishment of an "aggressive national housing agency or institute, with direct federal government affiliation."

Developments at the large scale committee meeting today disclosed President Hoover apparently out of step with some of the most influential leaders of the conference which he called a year ago to study the problem of better housing for the country. Last night in his opening address the President advised sidetracking the problem of supplying better housing conditions in the city's slums in favor of an immediate program of providing machinery for financing the construction of individual homes for the man who could afford to make a 20 or 25 per cent down payment.

See Attempt to Dictate.

While there was little comment openly, a strong undercurrent of disappointment over the President's address of last night ran through today's meeting of the large scale committee, whose membership had spent much of the last year studying the city housing problem. Some of the delegates in discussing the subject among themselves intimated that the President was attempting to dictate the conclusions of his conference.

Early today the President's remarks were the subject of discussion between conference officials and leading members of the administration. At that time it was pointed out that the President last night had urged postponement of the slum rehabilitation movement without awaiting to hear from the committee appointed to study that question.

While no direct mention of the President's attitude was made during the meetings of the conference today, several speakers took occasion to assert that the problem of furnishing better living conditions for the low salary city dweller must be taken up at once. Several delegates spoke against the idea of individual construction of detached homes, taking the position that mass production furnished the best solution of the housing problem for the man without large means.

W. A. Starrett, president of the Starrett corporation of New York City, and a member of the committee asserted the rehabilitation of the city slum and other blighted areas cannot be postponed.

Alfred K. Stern of Chicago, chairman of the committee and director of the Julius Rosenwald fund, urged that the city housing problem be tackled now. He said the lowest level of housing exists in the cities.

"This committee believes that the present breakdown in the financing, construction, and distribution of homes is more than a temporary or emergency situation," its report stated. "Even at the height of financial prosperity and of building activity we failed to approach in the remotest manner the ideal set before this conference in the words of the President: 'It should be possible for any person of sound character and industrious habits to provide himself with adequate and suitable housing.'

"Our deficiencies have not been produced by the present cessation of the normal methods of home construction; they are rather, as there is plenty of evidence to show, the cumulative result of those methods for over a generation. New houses of acceptable standard of living are too expensive for two-thirds of the population; while dwellings that meet fully the requirements of cheapness are too unsound for safe financial investment.

Few Desirable Ones Built.

"The results of careful research cited in the reports of other committees have established the fact that practically no new dwellings and certainly desirable types of houses have been constructed in recent years at costs within the means of two-thirds of our population. This two-thirds comprises 50 million people, the farm population being excepted."

To make large scale building operations effective the committee urged that in certain cases properties be exempted from taxation, that archaic building codes be scrapped, laws against illegal agreements rigidly enforced and the whole building practice modernized. Laws should be passed, it was said, to make possible condemnation of land where corporations desire to build community developments.

Federal and state help were urged, although the committee was not clear just how much federal help it would need. Whether federal loans would be asked was not divulged, although it was said that if private initiative fails "the alternative may have to be government housing."

CHILDREN TO FIND STATE ST. A LAND OF MAKE BELIEVE

Key to Giant Fantasies Is Revealed.

Thousands of small children will jam State street tomorrow morning when the seventy "giant fantasies" adorning the light posts on both sides of the street between Lake and Van Buren streets are unveiled. Mayor Cermak will give the signal for the simultaneous unveiling of the figures, which are 16 feet high.

The figures were designed by Nicholas Remisoff, Russian designer of the "Chauve Souris" scenery. There are ten designs represented, and the sketches which follow tell what each design is intended to portray. The parent who takes his children to the loop tomorrow morning and thereafter should read these sketches in order to be able to answer the inevitable question: "What do they mean?"

Titles of Figures.

Each figure has a title, and by referring to the title on the light post the parent may supply the explanation of the figure. The titles are as follows:

1. "No Parking." The figure represented is that of a giant rooster. The name of the rooster is Mr. Chuckles and the tale told concerning him is that he became curious concerning the big city, of which he had heard so much, and ran away from the farm. Frightened at the noise, he flew to the first perch he saw, one of the tall light posts.

2. "All-oop." Two circus acrobats are represented. Their names are Big Ben and Little Leo, and they had a quarrel about who was the strongest they decided that the one who could eat the most was the strongest. Big Ben won. They are all ready for a trick and are saying "All-oop," the phrase used by all acrobats since it was first decided that something had to open a vaudeville bill.

3. "Lamp Lighter." Years ago there was a man who used to go around at night lighting the gas lamps. One night the man with the torch was sick and couldn't make his rounds. Every one in town was puzzled what to do until Smiler, the biggest man in town, came to the rescue. He was so tall that he could light the lamps merely by puffing his cigaret.

4. "Zoom Zoom." Zoom Zoom was a musician and he played the bass viol. Poor Zoom Zoom had to carry his bass viol all over town and he often grew very tired. The figure shows him wearily lugging his bass viol and wondering why his mother didn't make him take lessons on the piccolo.

5. "Crooner." Crooner got his name because he was always singing in a low, melodious manner. The figure shows Crooner crooning a Christmas carol. Crooner's mouth is open, but there is no sound coming therefrom and Crooner stands there as an object lesson to all crooners.

6. "Zoo Skyscraper." Mr. Giraffe in the zoo thought he was the tallest fellow in the world. Then he heard that a skyscraper was taller. So he journeyed to the city and you can imagine Mr. Giraffe's mortification.

7. "High and Dry." This figure represents Blinkers, a resplendently clad courtier bearing aloft a two foot high stein of foaming beer. Parents with children will of course find it difficult in these days of Volstead to explain to the youngsters just what a stein of beer is.

8. "Gold Coast." Mr. Judy was a rich old man who lived on the gold coast. He had a huge servant named Grumps. Suddenly Mr. Judy had an idea that he and Grumps should go around on Christmas day giving away presents to all the little girls and boys who hadn't got any. The figure shows him at the end of the day with Grumps as they smile happily.

9. "Pole Sitter." This shows Derby Dan, who was just a little fellow who could never see parades because every one was so much bigger than he. So after many years he decided to climb a pole and then he could see the parades easily. Derby Dan was somewhat slow mentally or he would have thought of it in the first place.

10. "Laughs." There was once a happy family by the name of Laugh. There were Mr. Laugh, Mrs. Laugh, and their four sons, Hearty, Loud, Happy, and Long Laugh. Also a dog, Giggles. The figure shows the Laugh brothers setting out to visit their friends on Christmas day.

Tiffany Marks First Year as Lake County Sheriff

Lester Tiffany celebrated the completion of the first year of his term as sheriff of Lake county with a duck supper last evening in Memorial hall of the courthouse at Waukegan. His deputy sheriffs and their wives were guests. State's Attorney A. V. Smith was toastmaster and the other speakers included Lester Edinger, sheriff of McHenry county; Charles Holmes, chief of police of Niles Center, and Deputy United States Marshal Harold E. Goodwin.

WOMAN DIES AFTER FALL.

Mrs. Nora Carlson, 53 years old, died yesterday at the county hospital of injuries suffered in a fall from a third floor porch at her home, 4307 West Congress street.

REALTY DEALER IS FREED; GIRL ACCUSER HELD

A. H. Cutter, 54 years old, a real estate man, was dismissed on a charge of attacking a 17 year old girl by Judge Joseph A. Graber in the Domestic Relations court yesterday. Judge Graber said the charge looked like "a shake-down," and ordered the arrest of the girl and two youths, her second cousins.

The girl is Eugenia Mirocha, 3504 North Hamlin avenue. Her cousins, accused of assisting her in the alleged plot, are Joseph Putyraa, 24 years old, 3040 West North avenue, and his brother, Edwin, 22 years old. All were held.

The Mirocha girl declared on the witness stand that Cutter, to whom she had gone seeking a job, took her to his apartment and attacked her. Cutter denied the attack, but admitted that he had taken the girl to his apartment.

Joseph Sloaberg, 2235 Farwell avenue, a real estate broker at 180 North La Salle street, then testified that Edwin Putyraa appeared in his office on Oct. 19, and demanded that Cutter pay over some money or the attack charge would be filed.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If your food sours and gases and the world looks punky, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly cheerful and happy and full of ambition.

For they don't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your food every day.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul. Your skin often breaks out in blotches. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely. Then you "pep" up and up. They contain wonderful, gentle, vegetable ingredients that Nature uses when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Refuse substitutes. 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

SEA FLYER TELLS OF PLAYING TAG WITH LIGHTNING

Hinkler "Dodged" Bolts for 6 Hours in Storm.

BY JAY ALLEN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MADRID, Dec. 3.—Midway between the South American and African coasts during his lone 2,000 mile, 22½ hour airplane flight, over the South Atlantic, Bert Hinkler, British airman, played a game of tag with lightning. He told about it here today after his arrival from Rabat, Morocco, on his way to London.

"This is the worst season of the year for the doldrums because they are farther south," he said. "In the night I ran into six hours of the worst lightning I ever saw. It was during a tropical storm. In addition there were bad winds. I tried to get over the clouds but couldn't. They were 25,000 feet high.

Misses Hitting Wave.

"I kept an altitude of between 8,000 and 12,000 feet, but once when I tried to go under the ceiling I was no more than 100 feet above the sea. I saw the crests of the waves and missed one by only about eight feet. I had a collapsible life boat, but had I hit the wave, it would have been just too bad."

"Wasn't your plane in danger of being struck by lightning bolts during most of the six hours?" Hinkler was asked.

"I thought so," answered the taciturn Briton.

The airman, who formerly held the England to Australia flight record, said he made the transcontinental flight because he was broke, declaring he only had enough money to buy gasoline. He said he expected to cash in on the flight and for being the first to fly across the South Atlantic, west to east.

"Forgot to Study Weather."

"I was too busy filling the plane," he said.

The flyer had only ordinary navigating instruments and his map was was a page from the London Times atlas. There were no lights on the plane's dashboard.

"I reached the African coast 10 miles from where I aimed, a point of land just south of Bathurst, Gambia," Hinkler said. "They seemed somewhat surprised at Bathhurst when they found out where I came from."

With a 110 horsepower plane, he estimated he made an average of 90 miles an hour against headwinds. He wore no flying togs and was soaked from rain, having been forced to open the cabin window for navigation purposes on the Atlantic crossing. He will hop for Paris tomorrow.

AVIATION NOTES

Christmas may be 21 days away, but today is the last day on which mail and packages can reach China and Japan by Christmas, and they must go by air mail, according to United Air Lines. Other closing dates for Christmas air mail to foreign lands are: Dec. 10, Austria, Bulgaria, Czecho-Slovakia, Estonia, Finland, Gibraltar, Greece, Hungary, Latvia, Lithuania, Madeira, Malta, Norway, Poland, Portugal, Rumania, Spain, Sweden, Turkey, U. S. S. R., and Jugo-Slavia.

Forty traffic representatives of all the air lines operating out of Chicago have organized the Air Traffic club and elected as temporary officers Vernon Little, Braniff Airways, president; Chase Wasen, Northwest Airways, treasurer; and Sidney E. Collins, Century Air Lines, secretary. They will meet the first and third Mondays of each month.

The new Ford trimotor planes being placed in service between Chicago and the Twin Cities by Northwest Airways are equipped with radio for the entertainment of passengers, the first time such equipment has been installed on transport airplanes. At each seat are individual head phones with individual volume control. Pilots on the line are John F. Malone, L. S. DeLong, Mal F. Freeburg, Fred Whitemore, and Homer F. Cole. Copilots are Charles J. Schlapkohl, Bert F. Ritchie, Robert Johnson, and Joseph Kimm.

The huge coffin containing the body of Charles Bush, 49 years old, 5700 South Morgan street, 640 pound giant, who died in his home on Monday of a heart ailment, was lowered from his third floor flat with the aid of block and tackle equipment yesterday morning at the funeral. A double window casement was first removed. Ten husky pallbearers then lifted the coffin into the hearse and the cortege proceeded to Holy Cross church. Burial was at St. Casimir's cemetery, where special equipment was used to lower the coffin into the grave.

Bush, who laid claim to being the country's heaviest man, weighed normally 350 pounds. Within the last few years, however, an abnormal activity of the endocrine glands nearly doubled his weight. He is survived by his widow, a son and three daughters.

LADIES CALL OFF THAT ROOSEVELT BOOM DINNER

Embarrassed Gentlemen Are Thereby Relieved.

BY TOM PETTEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 3.—[Special.]—A "Roosevelt for President" dinner, which was to have "launched" Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt's candidacy for the Democratic nomination on Dec. 21, was indefinitely postponed here today just as it was beginning to take on national importance.

MRS. JAMES W. GERARD. [A. P. Photo.]

The dinner was sponsored by the Empire state committee of one thousand women and distinguished party leaders had been scheduled to make addresses. Mrs. James W. Gerard, wife of the former ambassador to Germany, is chairman of the committee and the organization includes many of New York state's women leaders.

Miss Elizabeth Edwards, secretary of the committee, merely announced that the dinner had been put off until "some time in January," but from other sources it was learned that the postponement came at the emphatic insistence of Gov. Roosevelt's political advisers.

Called for a Showdown.

Too many prominent politicians found themselves in an embarrassing position when the postman began delivering invitations. To attend meant an indorsement and to decline would put them out in the open as opposed to Gov. Roosevelt's candidacy. The governor himself was known to have frowned upon the dinner, but he remained silent and let his friends act.

James A. Farley, state Democratic chairman, and other Roosevelt boosters became worried when the affair began to take on a national aspect. The governor is not officially a candidate for the nomination. After thinking it over, the men leaders are said to have told the women politicians that they were getting too far out in front of the parade and that they had better wait until Gov. Roosevelt said "go."

Among the first of the local party chiefs to find the proposed dinner embarrassing was John M. McCooey of Brooklyn. Yesterday it was announced Mr. McCooey, a power in the party, would attend the launching. Returning from a visit to Atlantic City later in the day Mr. McCooey denied he had indorsed the candidacy of Gov. Roosevelt and furthermore said: "I do not think that matters have reached a point where it is necessary to consider it."

John F. Curry, Tammany Hall boss, also is said to have considered the dinner "most inadvisable."

The entire policy of the Roosevelt campaign in this state has been to prevent even the formation of Roosevelt clubs. Gov. Roosevelt at no time, his friends said, intended to be present at the proposed dinner.

There were those among the sponsors of the dinner, however, who held the opinion that Gov. Roosevelt was injuring his cause by his continued refusal to admit publicly that he is a candidate.

CALLS AIR LINES IN ILLINOIS BEST SERVICE IN U. S.

East St. Louis, Ill., Dec. 3.—(AP)—The best and most efficient intrastate airline service in the United States can be claimed by Illinois, Howard C. Knotts, aviation supervisor of the Illinois commerce commission, said here today in an address before the first convention of the National Association of State Aviation Officials. The convention, which opened today, is attended by representatives from 30 states.

In support of his contention, Knotts, a world war ace, pointed out that Illinois airlines daily carry passengers, mail and express over a 5,000 mile network of routes. An average of 2,500 passengers is carried each month in the most modern of planes.

The airline system in Illinois is so arranged, he said, that all Illinois lines have direct connections with other airlines, and is supplemented by railroads and motor bus lines of 47 other states, and two foreign countries. No connecting point is more than 36 hours travel from Illinois, he said.

SEEK TO PREVENT MOVING RANTOUL ARMY AIR SCHOOL

Champaign, Ill., Dec. 3.—Resolutions opposing the proposed moving of the Air Corps Technical school, at Chanute field, Rantoul, Ill., to Wright field at Dayton, O., have been passed by chambers of commerce of Danville, Paxton, Ranteul, Urbana, and Champaign.

Opposition to the proposed move is headed by Charles A. Kiler, chairman of the mercantile affairs department of the Illinois chamber of commerce, which has also gone on record as opposed to the move. Copies of the resolutions have been sent to congressmen from Illinois.

Secretary of War Hurley has announced that the proposed move of the technical school to Dayton is being reconsidered by the department.

THE HOUSING CONFERENCE GETS A BAD START.

Mr. Hoover's address at the opening of the national housing conference in Washington was disappointing. The President's remarks were concerned largely with the value of home ownership in enriching the life of the American family and in strengthening the state. He believed that every American longed to live beneath his own roof and would do so if it were at all possible. He hoped that the conference would consider ways and means of bringing about a more general home ownership. He thought that the principal impediment today is the difficulty of borrowing money on favorable terms. He hoped that the conference would devise a scheme of financing home building which would make it possible for the American citizen to borrow as much as 75 or 80 per cent of the cost of his house and land on reasonable terms.

Mr. Hoover's emphasis was entirely upon the vine covered cottage and home, sweet home. This is disappointing to those who thought that out of the conference would come some of the groundwork for an industrial revival. Nothing that Mr. Hoover had to say justified the calling together of several thousand of the most important figures in the construction industry; they accepted his invitation because they recognized the fact that the housing now available for millions of American families is susceptible of great improvement and because they knew what a vast stimulus to a general business revival would be found in providing better housing.

It is idle to pretend that the mere cheapening of the small mortgage will lead to a prompt revival of construction of individual cottages. There are numerous explanations for the halting of residential building in recent years, but two of them are of outstanding importance and the costs of financing have little to do with either. First is the fact that there is already a glut of accommodations for families in the higher income groups, say from $5,000 a year and up. No matter how cheaply they may be able to build individual homes today, they can probably rent more cheaply. The second and more important consideration is that in an era of doubt and uncertainty not many people of small means, however secure their incomes may be at the moment, are going to make important commitments if they can be avoided. Property owners are finding it difficult to induce tenants to sign leases for as short a period as a year even though the terms are extremely favorable to the tenant; under such circumstances there can be little hope of inducing large numbers of families to commit themselves to ten or fifteen year programs and no amount of sentimental sales talk or cheap money will avail until times change for the better.

The emphasis in the conference should have been placed not on the small project but on the big one. There is little hope of inducing large numbers of families to undertake separate building operations at present, but there is reason to believe that large aggregations of capital might be ventured in the field of housing even under present business conditions, provided certain difficulties are cleared up. The purpose of the conference should have been to determine what obstacles stand in the way of large projects and how, if possible, they might be removed.

Some of these obstacles are high and uncertain taxation, the difficulty of assembling land, and the needlessly high cost of building which results from trade union restrictions on construction methods. If the attention of the conference, containing, as it does, representatives of all phases of the building industry, had been concentrated upon these and similar matters, the conference might have achieved something. If the conference merely steers the course which has been set for it, little will be accomplished.

The phrase "large project" does not mean, necessarily, the city apartment house occupying, as the Marshall Field and Rosenwald projects in Chicago do, a city block. It can mean, as well, a large suburban development of detached and semi-detached houses. What is implied in the phrase are large scale economies in construction, financing and management, economies which cannot be obtained in small operations, whether a national mortgage bank is established or not.

It has been found possible to make a better automobile for less money by making large numbers of automobiles. This, in turn, has stimulated the demand for cars. It may be possible to make better homes by making them in large quantities and thereby stimulate demand for better housing. The possibility of reviving the construction industry in this manner offers an avenue of escape from the depression, which, it is to be hoped, the conference has not been discouraged from exploring.

PROHIBITION AS AN ECONOMIC ISSUE.

Senator Watson, Republican floor leader in the senate, says that he will not use his position to prevent a vote on any bills proposed by the opposition to national prohibition. In the house of representatives this opposition is endeavoring to obtain a modification of rules which will require fewer votes to discharge a committee and bring a bill to the floor. The prohibitionists have been able to smother proposals for repeal or modification.

The opponents of the Volstead act and the eighteenth amendment have been growing with every election, and, although they do not claim a majority in congress as yet, their present strength encourages them to believe that the turn against national prohibition is close by and that there is even now, with a greater freedom for bills, a chance that some modification of the restrictive laws can be had.

The economic issue in prohibition has arisen more clearly in the last twelve months. The fundamental objection to the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act will remain one of principle, but it is customary in political action on such issues to approach gradually. It is realized now that the government in construing the eighteenth amendment, by the terms of the enforcement act, to exclude beer from the permitted beverages is depriving itself of excise taxes badly needed to balance the budget, is suppressing an industry which could be revived with great advantage to general business conditions, and is, in addition, disciplining the citizenship in a manner which is equally ridiculous and tyrannous.

STREET APPEALS FOR HELP.

The presence in the city of a good many "panhandlers" or habitual beggars creates a problem not only for the police but for the well disposed citizen. Conditions of unemployment have no doubt forced deserving individuals to making appeals for alms on the street, and no one wishes to refuse help where it is really needed and deserved. But no one, on the other hand, wants to subsidize a professional beggar and there is a public duty not to do so. Small gifts in the course of months run up to substantial sums which would better be turned over to our responsible relief agencies.

Most appeals on the street are from professionals and undesirables, but in order to prevent refusal of aid to the exceptional case the emergency committee and charitable agencies have provided a ticket which may be given to any one asking aid on the street. The ticket merely directs the holder where to apply for food and lodging. It has no other value and cannot be used for profit, but it is of value to any one who really needs immediate shelter and food. It obviously would be improper to put orders for relief into the hands of the general public, which would prevent control of charity and impose on the citizen the responsibility of discriminating between the deserving and undeserving. The ticket of direction relieves him of this responsibility while providing him a means of putting all applicants in touch with responsible agencies of relief.

This, of course, could be accomplished by orally directing the applicant to the relief clearing houses, which are at 118 South Green street and 3140 Indiana avenue, but many may prefer to use the tickets of direction, which are obtainable without charge at the headquarters of the emergency relief committee, 10 South La Salle street; at police stations, churches and community centers. We would suggest that if the number of deserving applicants for food and shelter is large more clearing houses be established. And it is hoped that a thorough effort to free the streets of professionals be made and kept up by the police.

COMPETING DECIBELS.

[New York Herald Tribune.]

The mild heartburning started last week among citizens both of New York and of Chicago over the radio engineers' direct comparison of the noise of Times square and of Chicago's loop makes too much of the 40 per cent difference. Chicagoans appear to be distressed by their noise, four times greater than New York's, which the instruments recorded, while progressive New Yorkers fear that falling behind so much as this in noisiness is another blow to eastern supremacy scarcely offset by the recent announcement of the weather experts that New York really is windier than Chicago, if not noisier. Yet this noise difference of 40 per cent really means something rather different when human ears are taken into account. The decibels, in which new noise units the comparison was made, are a truer measure of relative noisiness than the percentage figures of 80 and 20.

The comparison was more of a scientific accomplishment, in fact, than press notices have made clear. Ordinarily, the transmission over telephone circuits of complicated sounds like city noises is accompanied by considerable distortion. Some noises vanish en route; others are accentuated in comparison. What Mr. Cohan of the Columbia broadcasting system did before the New York Electrical society's meeting, where the comparison was made, was to bring the Chicago noise to New York over a virtually distortionless circuit like those now used for high quality broadcasting. His success was undeniable. Individual noises were clearly recognizable, perhaps the most noticeable thing to New Yorkers being the police whistles still used in Chicago, although banished from New York by the recent agreement between the police department and the noise commission. Scientifically, this perfection of transmission of the Chicago noise made possible a reasonably accurate measurement by the noise meters of the sound energy entering the two matched microphones a thousand miles apart.

The measurement showed fifty-five decibels of noise in the New York sample and sixty-one decibels in that from Chicago, a difference of but six of the decibel units, which nevertheless indicates between four and five times more noise energy in the sampled Chicago locality than in the New York one. The Chicago noise, however, did not seem to auditors to be four times louder. A fairer comparison was the decibel difference; that is an apparent greater loudness of perhaps 10 per cent in the Chicago clatter.

This disagreement is the fault of the human ear. One noise twice as loud as another in physical energy does not seem twice as loud to the ear. Two noisy trucks on a highway, for example, do not double the apparent noise of one truck. Instead, the response of the ear decreases, the louder the noise. To very faint noises that organ is extremely sensitive; more so, in fact, than any noise meter yet devised. In very loud noises the ear protects itself by lowering its sensitivity. Accordingly while the sound energy loops in the loop on last Tuesday evening really was four or five times that vibrating in New York, it probably sounded to average ears, there or here, only 10 to 20 per cent louder —too small a difference, after all, to argue about very seriously.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

THE LINEBOOK OF 1931.

Ladies and gentlemen, friends and fellow citizens, gentle reader, contribs, and whom it may concern, today we have with us The Linebook of 1931. We usually feel a little scared the day when a new Linebook comes out. You've always been so grand about the others that we're always afraid you'll be disappointed in the new one.

But here it is, anyway, and, glancing hither and yon over its sixty-four damn pages, we see a powerful lot of things you've written in about this past year. We'll pass modestly over our own stuff—but in passing we want to thank you for the many, many letters you sent in asking for special quips and stories and paragraphs and what not from our own typewriter. Those letters not only influenced the Linebook's hard hearted compiler but pleased us very much.

Look, here's that lovely, touching poem of Adelaide Love's about "the unaccustomed quiet of her hands"—scarcely a week has passed this year without several of you writing in for copies of that. And here's Eolus' overwhelmingly popular "Rhymes of Reminiscence," and a bully thing it is, too. And here's Duke Bakrak with one of his scholarly lectures on the B. & C., and Davida's naughty comment on Ravel's "Bolero" (that precipitated a positive crisis when we published it in the Line, we remember), and here's an exquisite lyric by Dorothy Kissling, and here's another—ah, Dorothy, that's one of the best you've done, to our way of thinking:

"O little world, so tremulous a setting
For all that is too beautiful and fleet!"

And then here's Helen Welshimer, the very favorite poet of many of you, and grand old Aborigine, with what so many another considers his finest poem since "The Sound of the Silence," "White Death." We can't list them all, but here are old friends and new companions in plenty, or so we hope. Marjorie F. W., whom you have loved steadily and well ever since we published "Alchemy" so many years agone, side by side with Richard Duffey, whose "Lost Deirdre" dozens and dozens of you wrote us about when we published it only this fall; Nancy Shore's beautiful sonnets reappear along with P. S. McDonald's "Bits of Life I've Missed"; one or maybe two of Lynnette's fragile "Songs for Lynn"; the immortal laughter of Groucho Marx's "Speech" that was worn to bits in how many thousand coat pockets last winter; that wicked bit about times being so hard in Chicago that the gangsters have laid off 200 policemen; The Solicitor, Ethelyn Bryant Chapman, Jayhawker, Colorado Pete—"The Old Unrest" is a lovely poem, Pete; we wish we could quote it all—

"For all our unrest is a wishing
For an infinite vale set apart. . . ."

Well, there's this and that, and we hope a bit of everything you've liked and wanted in the Linebook of 1931. We give it to you with some fear and trembling, but also some hope that you'll like it and put it alongside the others, which you have made us very happy by liking so much.

It is on sale today and every day hereafter until they're all gone at the bookstores, the Tribune Public Service at 1 South Dearborn, in the lobby of the Tribune Tower, and elsewhere; price 10 cents if you come and get it, 12 cents by mail.

KEEP THOU MY HEART.

Keep thou my heart till summer comes again,
O little cabin folded in God's hills.
Here in the city's toil it has small part;
I cannot make it happy. Care and pain
Will be its portion where the myriad ills
Of life surround it. Take my tired heart
Safe in the promise of a thousand springs,
The snow will comfort it; the April rain
Will waken it with all the growing things
That slumber in the dear Earth-Mother's breast.
Keep thou my heart till summer comes again.

READING what some of the G. O. P. gloomily say about the good old Republican party, we can't figure out whether they favor a complete housecleaning and renovation or whether they're going to call up some wrecking company and have them come over and pull the dam thing down.

LOWELL SHERMAN out in Hollywood is suing his wife, Helene Costello, for divorce on the grounds she called him a "fat old man" and a "ham actor." Mercy, how sensitive actors have become these days! Time was when they sometimes had to stand a barrage of onions and aged eggs, but had to return to the stage to say: "Thank you, ladies and gentlemen, for the beautiful reception you have given our play. We hope you will come again, every night for two weeks, matinees Wednesday and Saturday!"

THE REPUBLIC OF SAN SALVADOR is in the throes of a revolution. It is not known at present whether this is the regular mid-November revolution, somewhat delayed owing to the inclemency of the weather, or the regular mid-December revolution hastened so as to get it out of the way before the Christmas uprising takes place.

TRUISM.

The game's not worth the candle
If that be all the prize;
If more—to make a game of it
Is hardly wise.

BERTRAM ENOS.

LISTEN, SANTA CLAUS, whatever else you do when you drop around towards the end of this month, don't pull that one. Well, you know how it is; I got hit pretty hard in this depression myself, and, while I'd like to help you out—well, brother, we're all in the same boat, I guess. So long." Don't, Mr. Claus, please don't say that. If you've got to alibi this year pull a new one anyhow.

PRESS REPORTS from Paris yesterday say that the little quarrel in Manchuria is far from settled. Goodness, we should hope so; at least until congress gets going; we've just got to have our daily excitement.

ACID IN THE STOMACH.

At a recent meeting of the American Medical association in Philadelphia, one of the sections engaged in a discussion of free acid in the stomach. The men participating were all specialists in stomach disorders. Dr. E. L. Eggleston of Battle Creek, who opened the discussion, based his opinion upon several thousand cases that had been under his care, and he drew on the experience of an associate who had studied over six thousand cases. Every man participating in the debate had seen hundreds or more of cases.

The opinions of most of these gentlemen knocked most of the common ideas about acidity of the stomach into a cocked hat. One said he did not think there was such a disorder as hyperacidity or too much free acid in the stomach. However, most of the discussion was on the subject of absence of free acid in the stomach and what was the cause and what the effect thereof.

Dr. Eggleston has found that somewhere about one person out of every ten has no free acid in the stomach. Babies and young children generally have as much as the books call for. However, the proportion of people without free acid progressively increases from babyhood to old age. Not over one-half of the old people have any free acid. The great majority of those who have had no acid get along pretty well, digest their food, and have no symptoms. Plainly, free acid can be absent from the stomach and cause no trouble thereby.

On the other hand, such absence is noted so frequently in pernicious anemia, cancer, inflammation of the gall bladder, pellagra, some kinds of diarrhea, glossitis, and in rheumatism, as to have physicians anxious to discover whether these serious diseases may not follow or even be caused by prolonged absence of free acid. If so, the use of acid as a medicine may be of some service as a preventive of the secondary serious diseases. What is more important, we may prevent some of the serious secondary diseases by removing the cause of the preceding chronic gastritis and lack of free acid.

Among the preventive measures brought out were:

Not using alcoholic beverages or tobacco in excess.

Wrong eating habits, as well as wrong foods, are held responsible for some of the trouble.

Swallowing mucus and pus from the nose and lungs come in for some blame, and so do infections located in various parts of the body.

I doubt if any of the debaters thought their points were proved beyond doubt.

USE OF LUMINAL.

A. H. R. writes: In a newspaper article concerning the murder of her two roommates by Mrs. Judd it was intimated that the murderess was a drug addict, and named luminal as the drug which she was using. I have been told that luminal is not a habit forming drug and that it can be obtained in drug stores without a doctor's prescription. Would the use of 2½ grains a day be injurious?

REPLY.

Luminal is one of a group of sleep producing drugs that are known as the barbaturic group. All the members of this group are capable of causing the drug habit.

The addiction is more easily broken than is morphine or whisky addiction.

The deleterious effects of the drug are greater than those due to morphine but less than those of alcohol.

There are no legal restrictions on the use of the drugs of this group. However, the approaching congress will have appropriate legislation under consideration.

RAYNAUD'S DISEASE.

L. F. writes: What is Raynaud's disease? Is there a cure for it? Or any kind of treatment for relief?

REPLY.

A disease in which the infected finger or other part turns white and cold at times. A form of dry gangrene sometimes ensues. Some with Raynaud's spend the cold season in the far south. Some get benefit from alternate hot and cold bathing. An operation for Raynaud's is being tried.

CROSSING PROTECTION.

Chicago, Nov. 29.—[Friend of the People.]—I have a boy six years old going to school morning and afternoon. He has to cross a dangerous street every day. Last year they had a police officer directing the children. This year they haven't any police or appointed patrol boys. The crossing I have reference to is 75th street and Stony Island avenue. Please give this matter some consideration. S. J. B.

A patrolman was assigned to check up on the number of children that cross this intersection who attend the school named. He reports that there were twelve children crossed while he was stationed there and that there are stop and go lights so that if the children obey the signals they can cross in safety. Owing to the shortage of man power at the 10th district this intersection cannot be covered daily, as there are more dangerous crossings to be taken care of where there are no stop and go signals at all. We have issued instructions to the district commander to detail a police officer at this intersection, if consistent, so that the children may be able to cross in safety and eliminate further cause for complaint of this nature.

JAMES B. ALLMAN,
Commissioner of Police.

CONTESTING WILL.

Chicago, Nov. 28.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. In an action contesting a will in a probate court in Wisconsin, can the contestant be compelled to deposit costs of action? 2. Is there a law in Illinois limiting the time that an embezzler can be prosecuted? H. H. S.

1. Nonresidents can be compelled to furnish bond for costs.
2. Yes, three years.

LIGHTING ARRANGEMENTS.

Chicago, Nov. 29.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—On Nov. 1 I moved into a two story building, each flat with six rooms, signing a lease for a year. I took the first floor. 1. The hall lights and all the basement lights except one, also the lights in the two car garage, are on my meter. 2. The landlord offered to let me take $1.50 a month off my rent to compensate for this. He says it would cost too much to change the wiring so that each floor would pay their share of these lights. 3. Should I refuse to pay him the rent until he remedies this? W. P.

1. We surgest that you notify the landlord that if he does not correct the condition you will hire the work done and sue him for the cost.
2. We are not in a position to pass upon the fairness of this offer. It seems probable that you would save money in accepting the offer.
3. No.

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

DECEMBER 4, 1915.

MEXICO CITY. — Typhus fever, which has been an epidemic among the lower classes in Mexico City and vicinity for the last two months, has grown to such alarming proportions as to terrify the entire population. The deaths from this disease now exceed 130 a day, and the number of cases is constantly growing. It is estimated there are 11,000 cases in the federal district and neighboring towns. The authorities seem unable to cope with the situation and some of the large mining companies have asked for and received permission to take steps to clean up the towns in their vicinities, as the disease threatens to decimate the population and leave them without workmen.

WASHINGTON.—President Wilson has requested the German government to recall immediately Capt. Boy-Ed, naval attaché, and Capt. von Papen, military attaché of the German embassy to the United States. The President has informed Germany that its military and naval attachés are "no longer acceptable" to the United States, and he expects them to be recalled without delay and without question by the Berlin government. Although the administration declines to state the charges against Capt. Boy-Ed and Capt. von Papen, it is known they consist of allegations of pernicious activity on American soil to aid the armed forces of the central empires and to injure the allies, in defiance of the neutrality of the United States.

NEW YORK.—The Scandinavian-American line steamer Oskar II. is due to sail from its pier in Hoboken, N. J., at 2 p. m. tomorrow, carrying 140 persons who, as guests of Henry Ford, are going to Europe in an effort to induce neutral nations to take steps toward stopping the war. Mr. Ford's guests include sixty-three persons directly interested in the peace movement, fifty-four reporters and three moving picture men.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

DECEMBER 4, 1901.

CHICAGO. — Plymouth Congregational church was the scene of a large wedding when Miss Laura Griffiths, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Griffiths, became the bride of John Cree Everett. The ceremony was performed by Dr. F. W. Gunsaulus.

WASHINGTON.—It is no disparagement to previous Presidents to say that the message sent to congress by President Roosevelt today impressed that body more than any paper submitted to it for a generation. Both Republicans and Democrats were full of admiration for the technique of the message. Aside from the literary excellence of the document, Republican leaders were delighted with the message because, as they said, it developed a grasp of the situation and a breadth of view which they feared President Roosevelt did not possess. His eulogy of President McKinley is a masterpiece and he handled the subject of crushing out anarchy with boldness. The message recommends the enaction of laws to drive anarchists from the country, favors reciprocity treaties, a new department of commerce and industry, and an effective law governing trusts, and urges immediate action on building the Nicaraguan canal.

CHICAGO.—Weary of a business which pays $500,000 a year in profits, a firm of Chicago men will dissolve partnership on Jan. 1, the members content with the wealth they have acquired and determined to take a "vacation." This unusual action will be taken by Schwartz, Dupee & Co., probably the largest grain and stock commission house in the country. The firm's intention was made known by notice mailed to customers. The members of the firm are John Dupee, I. J. Bloom, and Walter C. Comstock.

50 YEARS AGO TODAY

DECEMBER 4, 1881.

WASHINGTON.—It was rather an uninteresting day in the Guiteau trial. Nothing of importance was elicited from the witnesses and the appearance from the witness stand of several eminent men was about the only feature. The most interesting testimony was given by Emery Storrs of Chicago, but it was noncommital, or, if anything, adverse to Guiteau. Storrs said he knew Guiteau by sight as a young lawyer in Chicago and saw him perhaps a dozen times at the national Republican committee room in New York during the Garfield campaign. He also saw the assassin later in Washington when the prisoner said he was going to have the Austrian mission as he was "solid with Blaine." Storrs said he never saw anything about Guiteau to indicate that he did not know the difference between guilt and innocence. Other witnesses were Senator David Davis of Illinois and Col. J. O. P. Burnside, disbursing officer of the postoffice department, who formerly lived in Freeport, Ill., and knew the Guiteau family.

THE NEW GAS RATES.

Chicago, Nov. 27.—I have noticed several letters to this department recently regarding the new gas rates, in which the writers seem greatly exercised and even fearful as to what is to come. My reaction is quite the opposite.

For four years now I have used gas to heat my seven room house; and as this was a relatively new fuel when I began, I naturally watched the bills closely, tabulating them month by month. It is here that I expect to save some real money by the new rate, and I waited for my November bill with some eagerness to see what the [to me] unknown "radiation" charge would be and what it would do. I will admit I felt a shock to see the total, $16.07 [of which the radiation charge was $7.38] for this mild month, though the corresponding month last year showed $23.32. I had expected the difference to be greater. But when I began to think, instead of simply to feel, I recovered. Figured under the old rates, the bill would have been $16.19. I had saved only 12 cents. But nearly half the bill [$7.38] was a fixed charge for six months, and would not vary, however much gas I should use. If the gas consumption doubled the bill would not be $32.14, but only $24.76. Furthermore, I saw that for October, when there was no radiation charge, my bill was $3.31 instead of $6.67, as it would have been under the old rate [a 50 per cent saving which will be repeated in May and June]. In other words, the saving under the new rate will come at the two ends of the heating season, when there is no radiation charge, and in the coldest months, when the charge for gas used overshadows the radiation charge. Again we must wait until the end of the heating season to see just what the net result will be.

With this in mind, I went over last year's bills, computing them according to the new rating. The result was reassuring. I paid last winter $313.93 to heat my house. Had the new rate been in effect I should have paid $160.06. This is a saving of 25 per cent, though by months it varied from nine per cent in April to 50 per cent in October and June. Of course, this is not the advertised 31 per cent, but last winter was a mild one [$313.93 as compared with a 3 year average of $244.16], and it is cold weather that brings the larger reduction. With an average winter I look forward confidently to an approximation of the 31 per cent reduction. But even if it figures out only 29 per cent I shall sleep at night; and as for the fear that this whole scheme is a device for raising gas rates I can only say, "Not a chance!"

In closing, my experience with the gas company has evidently been happier than that of others. When the engineers figured on my heating plant they estimated it would cost me from $235 to $250 a year. The range for three years was $241 to $247, and last year it dropped to $214, approximately. For four years the company has given free service promptly when anything went wrong and has [unsolicited] gone over the plant every fall to see that it was in order. I wish all the firms I deal with could show as clean a record.

G. W. TANNER.

EFFICIENT AND ATTRACTIVE.

Chicago, Nov. 21.—In the Nov. 19 issue of THE TRIBUNE there appeared an advertisement in the "Wanted—Female Help" column, from which the following paragraph is an extract:

2 secretaries, experienced and extraordinarily attractive Secretary efficient and attractive. 2 stenographers, efficient and handsome.

Wouldn't it be embarrassing to apply for any of the positions mentioned? It might signify that the applicant thought she was possessed of good looks, and surely no real woman, no matter how attractive, would care to place herself in line for such accusation. CURIOUS.

INDIANS AS LUMBERMEN.

Shawano, Wis., Nov. 30.—I read the article appearing in THE TRIBUNE for Saturday, Nov. 28, pertaining to the Menominee Indians' lumbering industry at Neopit, Wis.

The writer, a Chippewa Indian who calls Shawano his present home, has had considerable experience in the timber and lumber affairs with other reservation projects in the past, which was quite favorable and profitable to the Indians, as the system employed was entirely different.

In the first place, the managing heads at the Neopit plant are not practical lumbermen, nor have they the same interest as if they had investments in the enterprise. The Menominees all have more or less logging experience and if they could unite on a certain one of their number as logging superintendent they could handle that part of the industry.

From what I have seen and know of the workings at the mills I would say that if personal instructions were given to the engine and filing department for two years along with their 20 years' experience they could successfully operate the mills. Let them employ a general superintendent from some of the Wisconsin lumbering firms that have exhausted their own timber supplies.

There is surely a grave reason for the present failure. Every advantage is on their side. They can undersell the lumber selling associations.

JOHN DOMMER.

ADVICE TO BANKERS.

Brookline, Mass., Nov. 28.—A most important difference between the depression of 1921 and the present paralysis is that while the advent of the former found most of the money pretty well distributed in the hands of the people it is now largely in the coffers of the industrialists and bankers. The people spend their money for goods, hence the short duration of the 1921 slump. Our business fraternity now sits upon it awaiting a "demand" from a people who have no money to increase the demand. Shades of Simple Simon!

If our Croesuses of industry derive pleasure from sitting upon their money like the hens on the china eggs, it is certainly their privilege to do so. But they should, in the meantime, provide other means for the exchange of labor and goods, such as work or goods certificates, so that normal employment and consumption would not be halted for lack of exchange instruments. Had they the intelligence to know their interests they would do some such thing, if only for the purpose of securing their possessions and protecting them from the rascals of the confiscatory taxation which is the one thing that really is "just around the corner." But the intelligence and sagacity lately so proudly boasted lately cannot even recognize the possibilities in the suggestion.

Withholding money from active everyday hand to hand circulation paralyzes business just the same as pulling machines from production lines cripples production. No one denies any owner the privilege of doing with his property as he wishes, but the present custodians of the exchange instrument should put another machine on the line to "bat" for the one they have withdrawn. This could simply and easily enough be done, without inflating either currency or credit. And just think what it would mean! The imagination is staggered at the thought of the wealth which six or seven millions of people could produce did their leaders possess sufficient intelligence to put them to work. The poverty and want that is widespread in the land belies the claim that the wealth is not needed or desired.

RAIL OFFICIAL SAYS U. S. PERILS BUSINESS FUTURE

Interference Held Cause of Carriers' Troubles.

Government interference in business constitutes a threat to the future of American civilization and it holds forth the prospect of rule by bureaucrats—tyrants in the true meaning of the word—R. V. Fletcher, vice president and general counsel of the Illinois Central, yesterday told members of the American Railway Development association who are meeting at the Hotel Sherman.

Mr. Fletcher asserted that the receivership of the Wabash railway may be directly attributed to government interference. He said such action could have been avoided had rate increases been put into effect or had the interstate commerce commission permitted the absorption of the road by the Pennsylvania.

Holds Back Railroads.

"Let the American people awaken to the danger of drifting into a condition of bureaucracy which will stifle all our initiative, ending that force which has made our nation great," Mr. Fletcher warned. "The entry of the government into private business is the most important thing holding back the growth and progress of the railways."

He traced the growth of this interference in business, pointing out that it first started with the railroads and that it has gradually grown until it now affects some 160 industries, either through complete domination or partial control. It has been especially virulent, he said, during the last ten years.

Mr. Fletcher spoke of the rapid growth of the nation whereby within 150 years it had reached the foremost position in the world so that even in the depression its citizens are in far better condition than those of other countries even in their most "boisterous periods of prosperity."

Two Purposes of Government.

"Our greatness is due neither to our ancestry nor to our resources," Mr. Fletcher asserted. "Other nations are equally rich in these respects. It is due rather to our form of government, which permits the development of individual character, initiative and enterprise. The government has two main functions—the giving of protection against criminals and the maintenance of contracts inviolate. It should not lose sight of these major duties."

Mr. Fletcher said that when the railroads constituted a practical monopoly with respect to the transportation business there was some excuse for their regulation. Now, with the motor truck and bus, the railroads have an active competing agency at every man's door in every town in the nation, he said.

26,000 CANADA RAILMEN HAVE WAGES CUT 10%

Unions Vote to Map Course to Take.

"The board's decision in the proposed wage cut has been issued and the majority report sustains the railways' claim to reduce wages by 10 per cent, while the minimum report sustains our postion that wages should not be reduced. Twenty-one general chairmen here desire advice from division lodges or local chairmen as to further action. Call a meeting at once and write us promptly, advising if it is your judgment that your local chairman be authorized to approve a ballot for the signatures of membership to undertake to prevent the wage cut. Questions still in dispute will be dealt with again, as soon as we can receive instructions from the men directly concerned."

Probe Transportation Situation.

OTTAWA, Ont., Dec. 3.—(AP)—Faced with one of the most difficult problems of Canada, the seven members of the royal commission on railways and transportation will meet here for the first time tomorrow to consider the dominion's transportation situation.

Presidents of the two great railway systems—Sir Henry Thornton of the Canadian National and E. W. Beatty of the Canadian Pacific—have been asked to attend. With them will appear a number of officials of both companies prepared to submit evidence and statistics indicating the position of the two railways.

Predicts Voluntary Pay Cut.

New York, Dec. 3.—(AP)—J. M. Kurn, president of the St. Louis and San Francisco railroad, today expressed the belief that "the labor men at their convention in Chicago will find it advisable to take a wage cut of 10 per cent for one year from Dec. 1."

About 1,500 representatives of the Railway Brotherhoods are to meet in Chicago Dec. 8, at which time a vote on voluntary wage reductions is expected to be taken. Presidents of the important eastern lines have already announced that if the unions do not agree to reductions steps will be taken to abrogate the labor contracts now in force.

Refers to Cut in Canada.

Mr. Kurn attended a meeting of the board of directors of his railroad here yesterday. He said, in regard to his belief in voluntary wage cutting:

"I have this opinion because in the case of a reduction under the transportation act the roads would ask for a greater cut and the result under such proceedings would not be for a year, but for an indefinite open-end period, with the possibility that the men would never get the old wage scale back. Also I believe the reduction ordered by the Canadian board of mediation in the case of railway workers there will have some effect on the action to be taken at the meeting in Chicago."

GREEN CALLS FOR A 5 DAY WEEK TO GIVE JOBS TO ALL

Tells Senate Committee How to End Slump.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 3.—[Special.]—The establishment of an industrial week of five days of seven hours each would take up the slack in unemployment and give every man and woman a job. William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, told the senate sub-committee headed by Senator Robert M. La Follette [Rep., Wis.].

WILLIAM GREEN.

Green deplored the fact that President Hoover did not call the national unemployment conference, which Mr. Green suggested last June. He said the council should have met and arranged a shorter working week on a national basis. Industry, he stated, must accept changed conditions or "accept something in the way of legislation which they will find burdensome all their life."

Lists Some Causes for Slump.

Causes of the economic depression included, he said, emphasizing production out of all proportion to consumption, failure to develop purchasing power commensurate with production, inequitable distribution of the earnings of industry, failure to adjust working time in comparison with production, the world wide disturbance, and perhaps the monetary system.

Clarence M. Wooley, chairman of the board of the American Radiator Standard Manufacturing corporation, indicated that he thought it too early to create a national economic council as Senator La Follette urges. Mr. Wooley suggested that the President's conference on recent economic changes be given another year to gather statistics and show what it could do toward cures.

"I still think the national economic conference should have been held," Mr. Green said after reading along this line a letter he wrote to President Hoover on July 24.

Demands Work for Idle.

"Held," he continued, "for the primary purpose of getting, not charity, but work for the unemployed.

"We have only to cut the working week to five days of seven hours to cope with the situation," he added, saying that statistics proved that production could be accomplished in this way.

"Wouldn't that be better than to have 6,000,000 or 7,000,000 running up and down all the time unemployed?" he asked.

VOTE TO INDICT THREE MORE IN SANITARY CASE

Son-in-Law of T. J. Crowe Reported Named.

Two men and a woman, employes of the sanitary district of Chicago during the so-called "whoopee years" of 1927-'28, were reported named in true bills voted yesterday by the grand jury.

DONALD R. JOYCE [Tribune Photo.]

Simultaneously it was announced by John E. Northup, first assistant state's attorney, who has been fighting for three years to convict nine sanitary district officials and former officials for graft conspiracy, that he would not hesitate to seek additional indictments for any witnesses who fail or refuse to coöperate with him in the prosecution.

The three persons reported named in the true bills, it was learned, had disappointed Mr. Northup by their failure to give facts and offer testimony in the case as he thought they should.

Trial to Start on Monday.

The case against Timothy Crowe, former president of the sanitary district, and the eight other officials and former officials indicted with Crowe is set for trial on Monday before three judges of the Criminal court, Harry M. Fisher, John Prystalski and James J. Kelly, who will sit en banc, although the actual burden of deciding the case will be upon the shoulders of Chief Justice Fisher.

The witnesses reported to have been named by the grand jury in the true bills are Miss Agnes Ellen Callahan, former personal secretary to former Sanitary Trustee Frank J. Link, a defendant in the main case; Eugene Byrne, former assistant superintendent of the permanent plants and structures department of the district, under John T. Miller, also a defendant in the main case; and Donald R. Joyce, son-in-law of Crowe and superintendent of the department of transportation maintenance while Crowe was president of the district.

Woman Accused of Forgery.

Miss Callahan, who is now chief stenographer of the district, is charged in the true bill, according to reports, with forgery. It is charged that in October, 1927, Miss Callahan desired a raise in her salary and caused a dummy to be placed on the pay roll. According to the charge, Miss Callahan collected and cashed the pay checks for the dummy, in this manner obtaining $1,400 for her personal use.

Byrne, it was reported, had been called before the October grand jury and asked to reveal evidence sought by Prosecutor Northup concerning irregularities in his department during the regime of Miller. Byrne, it is said, took refuge in a loss of memory and Prosecutor Northup is said to have convinced the grand jury yesterday that this constituted perjury, the charge reported to have been made in the true bill.

Joyce Charged with Fraud.

Joyce, Crowe's son-in-law, is charged with forgery. According to the evidence given by Northup to the grand jury, Joyce defrauded the district out of approximately $12,000. It is charged that Joyce caused the printing of fake billheads of an auto accessories company with which the district had dealt and put in bills to the sanitary district for auto accessories which had never been delivered.

Joyce is charged with obtaining the checks issued to the company by forging vouchers and then taking the inflated checks to the company. He told officials of the company, it is alleged, that by mistake the check had been made out in a larger amount than the company was entitled to and he induced the officials to give him a personal check for the difference, promising to see that it was restored to the sanitary district treasury.

Although the offenses charged against Miss Callahan and Joyce are more than four years old, it was pointed out that the statute of limitations does not apply at all to the crime of forgery.

MOTHER BRANDS HER CHILD, 6, FOR BEING LATE AFTER SCHOOL

Tiffin, O., Dec. 2.—[Special.]—Her hands and forearms seared by a hot poker, Helen Bland, 6, was under the care of a doctor today while authorities questioned her mother.

According to Sheriff George A. Burkett of Seneca, Mrs. Eliza Bland, the mother, admitted she tortured the child as a disciplinary measure because the girl did not return home from school promptly.

The child's plight was discovered by Miss Margaret Miller, the child's teacher, who drew out the story of the torture after Helen was unable to go to the blackboard in a drawing class. The sheriff has ordered juvenile authorities to investigate the case.

COUNTY DIVIDED AGAINST ITSELF IN MINE SLAYING

Defense Witnesses Belie Story of Neighbors.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Mt. Sterling, Ky., Dec. 2.—[Special.]—A procession of sad-eyed, bristle jawed miners from Harlan county, innocent of collar or necktie, clad in overalls, many of them crippled from mine accidents, chewing tobacco or munching toothpicks, went in and out of the witness box in Judge Henry R. Prewitt's court today in defense of W. B. Jones, United Mine Worker secretary on trial for conspiracy to murder.

They were slow of comprehension, suspicious of legal traps, but men of dignity and self possession, uncowed and unabashed even when their own records were brought against them in cross examination. They are the men accused of joining the "radicals" since the operators of Harlan county and unionism have come to gripe in that field. They denied it on the witness stand, though the names of many are on the rolls of the I. W. W. and the Communist mine workers organization.

Neighbor Against Neighbor.

Neighbor was put against neighbor, as the defense sought to overwhelm the prosecution testimony as to Jones, that he made inflammatory speeches to the miners the night before, to range along the roadside and kill the Black Mountain mine guards, that he was seen with a long rifle on the streets of Evarts the morning of the shooting, last May 5.

The Engles were pitted against the Tedfords, the Ruths against the Lesters, each swearing to an opposite of facts, with one side and then the other gaining a point in a sort of chess game with human life at stake.

The prosecution considered it had won a big point when a defense witness admitted that a collection had been taken at the union miners' meeting the night before the killing. They have offered evidence to show that this was for the expenses of a committee to bring in guns.

First Shots from Machine Gun.

The defense says this money was for the hungry children of the miners. Similarly, the defense scored a point when several witnesses testified that the first shooting came from a Browning machine gun, indicating that the heavily armed guards started the roadside slaughter.

The grievances of the miners against the coal companies crept into the testimony of both sides.

"I didn't get what I earned," said H. L. Dean, simply. "I had to lay my own tracks and handle my own slate. I had to live in a company house and trade at a company store, where prices are twice as high."

"Well," said the prosecutor, who has asked the miners if they were not at liberty to leave jobs they did not like, "why did you go in there? Was there any one that forced you to stay?"

"Poverty drove me in," said the miner.

"Just what was the trouble?"

"Well, I worked there before and got 24 to 40 hundred weight on a car. This time it was from 14 to 24 hundred. The company wouldn't allow no check weighman. I just wasn't gettin' no wage."

The defense centered much of its testimony on an attack on the character and reputation of the three Lesters, Jim Cawood, and Josh Montgomery, chief prosecution witnesses. Several who swore that these men had bad reputations were found to have records of one kind and another against themselves. One man of 87 was tripped over a liquor selling charge against him. Another had been tried for having had improper relations with his stepdaughter.

Jim Shields, a transfer man and former miner, was asked:

"Did you hear the Lesters had taken out insurance on the life of a son-in-law, and had then been indicted for poisoning him?"

"That's the talk."

"Didn't you know they had been acquitted?" asked the opposing attorney.

"I didn't hear."

Claim Bargain for Frame Up.

It is the defense claim that the Lester brothers were freed of this charge in order to testify here, where they were also purged from a charge of complicity in this killing. The commonwealth attorneys deny all this, asserting that no bargain was made with the Lesters except that the poisoning case would be brought to trial next term and they would get out on bonds in this case.

The excitement over the "hunger strike" of the defense witnesses died down today but many of the discharged witnesses, including "White Preacher Green" were wandering around town without money to buy food or get back to Harlan. The old preacher had but 7 cents in his pockets and wanted to get home to his nine children and four grandchildren in Punkin Hollow.

Defense Witnesses Cared For.

The agreement of the state last night to pay the expenses of 75 of the defense witnesses quieted the budding rebellion and kept the witnesses out of jail, but there are more than a hundred to be taken care of and many are still milling around town.

The trial was delayed this afternoon by the temporary illness of Senator John M. Robison, chief defense counsel. He said the natural gas being burned in the courtroom made him ill. The court instructed the sheriff in the future to "open the windows when you feel you can't catch your breath."

$2,000,000 TO BE PAID AS DIVIDEND BY CLOSED BANK

Bain Inquiry Turned Over to New Prosecutor.

A $2,000,000 Christmas present in the form of a 20 per cent dividend to depositors of the closed Northwestern Trust and Savings bank was ordered yesterday by State Auditor Oscar Nelson and David E. Shanahan, receiver for the bank. About 30,000 checks will be mailed out to depositors within the next two weeks.

EDWIN RABER.

The bank, one of the largest outlying banks in Chicago, closed its doors on June 10. Deposits at that time totaled more than $10,000,000, of which $8,869,000 was in savings accounts. Nearly 20,000 of the accounts were below $100; 7,700 were from $100 to $1,000; 2,300 were from $1,000 to $5,000, and 240 were from $5,000 to $10,000. Only 46 depositors had more than $10,000 in the bank.

Of the 20,000 smaller deposits several thousand were less than three dollars, being the odd amounts left by depositors who withdrew virtually all their funds during the run on the bank before its closing.

Most of the depositors lived in the neighborhood of the intersection of Milwaukee and Ashland avenues and Division street, where the bank was situated.

New Prosecutor in Bain Quiz.

The appointment of Attorney Edwin J. Raber as a special prosecutor to handle the investigation of the Bain banks was followed yesterday by a delay in the returning of indictments against John Bain and his sons on charges of misuse of bank funds.

The grand jury was prepared to return the indictments, it was reported, but the taking of the investigation from the hands of Assistant State's Attorney Henry Ayers caused a halt in the jurors' work. As a result, the grand jury will adjourn today and may not return the indictments, for which true bills were voted last week.

Raber was said to have taken the attitude that no indictments should be returned until all the banks have been investigated. The true bills were voted after the grand jurors had investigated the operation of the West Englewood Trust and Savings bank, one of the Bain chain.

The appointment of Raber was made because Assistant State's Attorney Ayers had "too much on his shoulders" in the view of State's Attorney Swanson. Ayers will remain in charge of all bank investigations other than that of the Bain banks.

Raber was a prosecutor under State's Attorney Maclay Hoyne. In the last ten years he has been engaged in private practice, but he was an assistant prosecutor under Frank J. Loesch, when the latter, as special prosecutor, prosecuted Morris Eller, former city collector, his son, Emanuel Eller, and seventeen others in connection with violence at the 1928 primary elections.

Bains Still in Jail.

John H. Bain and Robert A. Bain, sons of the banker, and W. Merle Fisher, his son-in-law, spent another day in the county jail yesterday. They were held to the grand jury by Circuit Judge Michael Feinberg on bonds of $10,000 on each of four charges of embezzlement, obtaining money under false pretenses, operation of a confidence game, and accessory before the fact. They have been unable to raise the $40,000 bonds required for each.

The chancellors of the Circuit court yesterday decided to transfer all bank cases in the Circuit court to Judge Feinberg, because of the experience he has acquired in the Bain case.

BROTHER-IN-LAW OF HOOVER GETS DELAY IN TRIAL TILL TODAY

Santa Monica, Cal., Dec. 3.—[Special.]—A third postponement was granted today in the liquor trial of Cornelius Van Ness Leavitt, brother-in-law of President Hoover. The case was postponed on motion of Deputy City Prosecutor Cornelius McInerny, who asked a recess until tomorrow in order that Verne Woolman and Robert Sheets, federal dry officers, could be present. The federal pair arrested Leavitt last Nov. 9, although the formal complaint against the defendant was entered in the name of Policeman Thomas Carr of Santa Monica.

Leavitt's attorney, Moe Fogel, informed Police Judge C. A. M. Spencer that the defendant would agree to today's postponement, but would insist on the case being heard tomorrow, and Judge Spencer told Court Clerk Perry Webb to issue subpoenas for Woolman and Sheets if formal summonses seemed necessary to bring the federal men to court. Judge Spencer expressed annoyance that the case was not ready to be heard today. By Leavitt's request the judge will decide on the guilt or innocence of the President's brother-in-law without a jury.

FLORIDA MAKES MOTORISTS PAY STATE EXPENSE

Collect 70 Per Cent from Auto Owners.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Jacksonville, Fla., Dec. 3.—[Special.]—Tourists pouring into Florida for the winter season are being socked with a 7 cent gasoline tax, 1 cent higher than last year and they are paying for more than their use of the highway. Part of the revenue is being diverted for other than road purposes.

The vehicle license tax has also been boosted thirty per cent, and of this revenue, estimated at $6,324,926, not one penny will reach the highways, all going to the school fund.

With these tax increases authorized by the 1931 Florida legislature, it is estimated by the American Automobile association that motorists will contribute over 71 per cent of the state's total income.

The controller's report for the fiscal year ending June 30 gave the state's receipts from all sources at $20,954,807 of which $13,842,044, or sixty per cent, was from gasoline taxes and motor license fees.

Other Property Escapes.

It's a national disgrace upon the state of Florida, said R. L. Shelton, state manager of A. A. A. with headquarters here. Automobile owners are being sandbagged by tax collectors while surveys indicate that only ten per cent of the other property in the state is on the assessors' books. Fire insurance premiums alone are ten times higher than assessed valuations.

The 7 cent gas tax is calculated to collect $22,091,559 this fiscal year. Of this the state highway department will receive $9,467,801 and the same amount will be distributed to counties supposedly for road purposes, to retire road bonds but there is no check on what the counties do with their portion. The remaining $3,155,927 will go into the state's general fund for general expenses.

Distribution Unfair.

Of the 3 cents that is distributed among the counties, 1 cent is apportioned by population, 1 cent by area, and 1 cent by miles of state highway in the respective counties. This system works a disadvantage upon the populous counties and was enacted by representatives of thinly settled sections of the state who control the legislature. Duval county, in which Jacksonville is located, will get back only a third of what it would receive under an apportionment of the revenue on a basis of where the tax is collected.

FOUND ASPHYXIATED IN GARAGE.

Lee Gordon, 23 years old, a fireman, was found dead yesterday seated in his automobile in the garage behind his home in Aurora. He apparently had neglected to turn off the motor and was asphyxiated by its fumes, police said.

Slow-heater tubes are NOBODY'S bargain!

When buying tubes, ask your dealer these 3 questions:

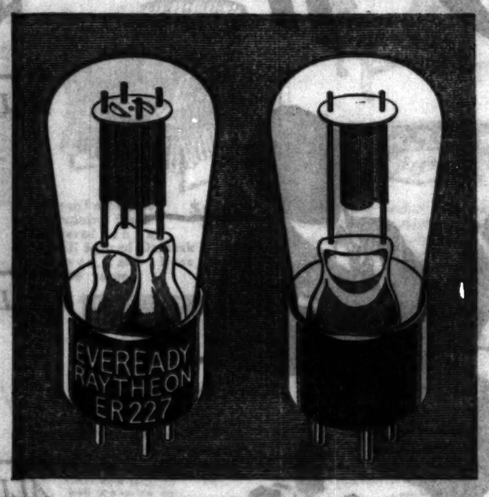
1—Is this a new-type tube?
2—Is it a quick-heater?
3—How quick?

IF A TUBE doesn't heat up in 10 seconds or less, it isn't an up-to-date tube. Radio tubes of the old, slow-heater type are being dumped on the market in vast quantities. They are sold under supposedly reputable brands, but they take a long time to get into action.

There's no place in modern radio for these old-fashioned tubes. Insist on quick-heater tubes such as Eveready Raytheons. A quick start is your guarantee that you are getting an up-to-date tube.

Don't worry about price. Today Eveready Raytheons cost no more than the obsolete tubes of other makes. Don't buy any tube until your dealer has proved to you that it will heat up in 10 seconds or less. See that he takes an up-to-date tube out of the carton to make this test. And time it yourself.

All Eveready Raytheon Tubes have the famous 4-pillar construction that makes them twice as strong, twice as durable, safe from jolts and jars. They give you reception that is marvelously clear and natural. And they go into action fast—take a bare seven seconds to get started.



Notice the four strong pillars. With this solid foundation the fragile parts cannot move a hair's breadth from their fixed position. Ordinary tubes have only a two-pillar foundation. Two supports instead of four! Jolts, bumps and vibration often impair their vital accuracy.

Here are the new Eveready Raytheon prices:

REVEALS HOOVER SECRECY ORDER ON FARM LOANS

Schilling, Board Member, Defends Deals.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Madison, Wis., Dec. 3.—[Special.]—Details of federal farm board loans are not the public's concern, according to William F. Schilling, St. Paul, member of the board, who addressed members of the Wisconsin legislature here tonight.

Mr. Schilling declared that President Hoover gets hundreds of letters asking about details of loans made to various farm organizations. Some of them were turned over to his department, Mr. Schilling said, and he went to see the President about them.

Ordered to "Tell Nothing."

"Mr. President, how much are we supposed to tell them?" Schilling said he asked Hoover.

"Tell them nothing," he quoted the President as replying. "They couldn't find out if the loans were made at a bank."

Schilling declared that, according to newspaper accounts, the government was in 89 businesses before the creation of the farm board, but that nothing was heard until one more was added to help the farmer.

Mr. Schilling told of another conversation he had with Hoover and he quoted himself as telling the President: "When dairy products get down to 21 cents it is time to step in." He quoted Hoover as saying: "Mr. Schilling, I admire your courage."

Cites Board's Successes.

"Whenever the farm board is mentioned it is in connection with losses in wheat and cotton and nothing is ever heard of the other services of the board," Mr. Schilling said. He declared that aid was extended to the Land O' Lakes Creamery and that nearly 1,000,000 pounds of butter was put into other than the regular channels. He said that nothing had been said about 210 carloads of turkeys sold through the farm board's efforts at prices of 6 cents higher than the producers normally received.

He said that the farm board has spent $14,000,000 to help the dairy and poultry business and that out of more than 900 organizations, only one has failed to meet its obligations.

Hails New Granddaddy.

"Banks, the airplane fellows and the railroads have had a granddaddy at Washington and now you have got one too," Mr. Schilling commented.

"As far as the charge of government in business goes, government has been in the newspapers as well as other businesses," he said. He declared that the government has lost $40,000,000 on its second class mailing service.

GIRL DROPS SUIT WHEN PANTAGES PAYS HER $3,000

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 3.—[Special.]—Eunice Pringle, complaining witness against Alexander Pantages in the extended criminal suit in which a jury last week acquitted him of rape, today settled a civil suit for $1,000,000 which she had filed against Pantages. She accepted a payment of $5,000 to dismiss the suit. Of this sum Miss Pringle paid $900 to her attorneys. She appeared with her father and mother in Superior Judge Marshall McComb's court and formally accepted the settlement tendered by Pantages' counsel.

FARMER-LABOR PARTY DEMANDS RADICAL CHANGES

Ask Gold Standard Be Suspended.

Omaha, Neb., Dec. 3.—(AP)—Unemployment relief drew the number one position in the proposed 1932 presidential campaign platform of the Farmer-Labor Party of America as outlined here late today by its 12 leaders.

The platform will be submitted to the Farmer-Labor national convention here March 2.

The proposed platform provides for immediate federal and state aid for the unemployed; for unemployment insurance; for the issuance of $2,500,000,000 in full legal tender treasury notes to pay war veterans their unpaid compensation already voted them; for a federal and state system of indigent and old age pensions, and for the government to feed, clothe and drill at least 1,000,000 unemployed single men at army camps.

Plank No. 2 in the proposed platform calls for a five year moratorium on the foreclosure of real estate mortgages.

Immediate suspension of the gold standard with the federal government acquiring and assuming immediate control of the entire capital stock of the federal reserve bank system and repeal of all national bank acts and the federal reserve bank acts is advocated in plank three. This plank also calls for silver to be remonetized on a free coinage basis.

Other planks call for gradual reduction of the majority of the tariff rates, increased taxation of all incomes over $7,500, imposition of an excess profits tax to take all business profits over 6 per cent on invested capital, increased inheritance taxes, a centralized national defense bureau, a larger navy, a six hour day, abolishment of injunction against labor, total exclusion of all immigration until the unemployment period has passed and repeal of the federal employers liability act.

WIFE OF WRITER ASKS DIVORCE ON CRUELTY CHARGE

Will M. Hough, who became a successful playwright in 1905 when he was an undergraduate at the University of Chicago, yesterday was sued for divorce in the Superior court by his second wife, Mrs. Isabel Lamon Hough. She charged cruelty and asked an injunction to prevent her husband from disposing of a $100,000 trust fund he has established for himself, according to her bill.

Sensible Way to Lose Fat

This is what they do—they clean out impurities in your blood by keeping the bowels, kidneys and liver in splendid working order—a vigor and tireless energy you'd long forgotten had existed returns.

As a result instead of planting yourself in an easy chair every free moment all the flabby fat accumulates you get an urge for activity that keeps you going around doing the things you've always wanted to do and needed to do for you in good condition.

Be careful of the foods you eat—then take the pounds slide off! Take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot or cold water tomorrow morning, and every morning—and if you don't change your whole idea of reducing, go back and get the money you paid for them. Get a 25 cent bottle of Kruschen Salts—it lasts a month—at any progressive druggist anywhere in the world.

DRAFT HORSES HAVE THEIR DAY AT STOCK SHOW

BY PAUL POTTER.

Sleek coated draft horses with their braided manes were the center of attraction yesterday at the International Live Stock exposition.

Officially it was Governor's day and during the afternoon the chief executives of five states were escorted through the twenty acres of exhibits by Arthur Meeker, Chicago capitalist, and Manager B. H. Heide of the exposition. They were Govs. Wilbur M. Brucker of Michigan, Warren Green of South Dakota, George White of Ohio, J. E. Erickson of Montana, and Floyd B. Olson of Minnesota, in Chicago to attend the deep waterways conference.

A silver trophy known as the "King Albert cup" was presented by J. D. Conner Jr., secretary of the American Association of Belgian Horse Breeders to Earle Brown of Minneapolis for his dark sorrel mare, Temptation. The trophy can be presented only by an official government representative, Mr. Conner being a "sir knight."

Lochinvar Champion Stallion.

Among the hundreds of pure bred Belgian draft horses exhibited, judges selected Genese de Ergot as grand champion mare. Her owner is Earle Brown of Minneapolis.

The reserve Belgian mare was Roachdale Hasel, shown by H. C. Horneman of Danville, Ill. Michigan State college also placed several horses in the Belgian and Clydesdale winnings.

Champion Sells for $1.27 a Lb.

Auctioning of the royalty in fat cattle yesterday resulted in premiums being paid above market values for nearly two thousand head. The grand champion angus steer, Briar Cliff Thickset owned by Oakleigh Thorne, retired New York capitalist of Pine Plaines, N. Y., was sold for $1.27 per pound. This is the lowest price paid for champion steers since 1923, the purchaser being Arbogast & Bastian, meat packers of Allentown, Pa.

Even at this figure, comparing with the present market value of 12 cents per pound for prime cattle, Thickset by weighing 1,070 pounds brought his owner $1,358.90. Such an animal costs less than $250 to raise under average farm conditions.

Thickset, in his special pen alongside the University of Illinois Shorthorn steer, the reserve champion, will be on view during the remaining two days of the show.

Auctions Set Record.

While all time attendance and entry records were being broken again yesterday, another was rung up when 45 carloads of feeder cattle were auctioned, compared with 13 the year before. All brought extra prices, an example being the sale of J. Turin's 2 year old Herefords from Kiron, Ia., to Swift & Co., bringing 14¼ cents a pound.

Of unusual interest today is the annual auction of the beef cattle grown and exhibited by the farm boys. This sale, starting on the show grounds at 2 o'clock, is expected to bring buyers from leading Chicago eating places, with 213 champion baby beeves being offered. Among the calves in the Angus, Coalis, junior feeding champion shown by 16-year old Wendell Morgan of Aledo, Ill.

Horse Show Results.

A capacity crowd witnessed the horse show last night. Matinees will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon and tomorrow afternoon in addition to the regular nightly horse shows tonight and tomorrow night.

Olympia Fields won the indoor polo game against the 124th Field Artillery Remount association by a score of 10 to 8. Capt. William S. Everett, Lieut. Col. R. G. Hunter, and Lieut. C. M. Schuh represented Olympia Fields, and O. T. Henkle Jr., P. G. Dolphin, and Capt. J. Tully represented the 124th Artillery association.

BRONZE TOM TURKEY WINS CHAMPIONSHIP AT POULTRY SHOW

Mrs. M. N. Reimer of Planada, Cal., yesterday was awarded the grand championship in all turkey classes at the Coliseum poultry exposition. Her entry was an adult Tom turkey of the bronze variety which won the Lightner trophy. This was the first grand championship announced by the judges of the show.

Poultrymen of nearby states continued to win many of the blue ribbons in the chicken classes. One of the largest string of ribbons yesterday was given Oakdale farms of Ainsworth, Ind., on white leghorn entries.

Two Wisconsin showmen yesterday won in Plymouth rock entries. Adam Polto of Hartford took ribbons on first cock and first cockerel for white Plymouth rocks; and Kriner brothers of Waukesha took first and second cock prizes, first hen, first cockerel, and first and second pullet on buff Plymouth rocks.

FARM WOMEN TO OPEN OWN PARLEY TODAY

Women's problems on the farm will be discussed at the two day second annual farm women's conference to open today in the Hotel Sherman. Five hundred women, farm bureau home and community department leaders who classify as real farm women, are expected to attend.

Most of them will arrive accompanied by husbands, who with their wives will attend the three day thirteenth annual convention of the American Farm Bureau federation, opening Monday.

Woman's place on the farm is no longer confined to the kitchen, or to the kitchen and the barnyard and the garden, leaders said yesterday.

"It used to be that women had no interests outside the farm and church," said Mrs. Charles W. Sewell, director of home and community work of the American Farm Bureau federation, who left her husband to care for their farm near Otterbein, Ind., while she came to the convention. "Now even the men recognize that there will be no great advancement on farms unless women have a hand in it.

"You will find no difference in the appearance of the women who come to the convention from that of women in Chicago," she said. "They will not be dressed in 'best black silks' and their husbands won't have chin whiskers."

"A Revival of Rural Education," by Miss Ella Gardner, Washington, of the children's bureau, this afternoon will set forth the prediction that hard times will bring back old fashioned farm community entertainments, such as quilting bees, corn huskings and the like.

REPORTS LOW PRICES HAVE INCREASED USE OF DAIRY PRODUCTS

Neither an over production nor an under production of dairy products is evident at present in the United States, in the opinion of Nils A. Olsen, chief of the bureau of agricultural economics of the United States department of agriculture, in an address yesterday before the American Dairy association at the Palmer house.

Low prices have brought an increased consumption of dairy products, a condition which for some dairymen has meant over production, because it has affected returns, while for others it has meant increased production at a profit, Dr. Olsen told representatives of 18 national dairy organizations.

"Some dairymen are taking advantage of the low prices of feeds, and although they may be getting less for their products they are making money," said Dr. Olsen.

Howard Greene of Genessee, Wis., suggested that the federation help establish a research organization to be known as the Babcock Foundation in honor of the late Dr. Stephen M. Babcock, inventor of the standard milk fat testing machine.

SHOPPING TRIPS CLOSE VISIT OF FOUR-H CLUBS

Twelve hundred boys and girls from the farms of America will start back home today after five intensive days at the tenth annual congress of 4-H clubs, held in connection with the International Live Stock exposition.

Yesterday afternoon they wound up a sight seeing tour with individual shopping expeditions, returning to the headquarters at Hotel La Salle laden with bundles of new clothes and Christmas presents. Last night they gathered in the main ballroom of the La Salle for the final distribution of awards and a cotton style revue, in which girl delegates modeled dresses supplied by the Cotton Textile institute.

The five day visit to Chicago was their first trip to a metropolitan center for a majority of the boys and girls. According to their leaders, they have enjoyed the congress immensely and intend to return again as soon as possible.

The girl delegates visited the plant of Montgomery Ward & Co. and studios of the National Broadcasting company yesterday morning. They had luncheon at the Hotel Sherman as guests of the Kiwanis club of Chicago and then visited Lincoln park.

The boy delegates visited the Chicago Lighting institute in the Civic Opera building, the National Broadcasting studios, and the Century of Progress grounds yesterday morning. They had luncheon in the Field museum and then attended a special demonstration in the Adler planetarium.

Following the presentation of awards last night the delegates had a farewell party until midnight in the La Salle ballroom.

GOV. ROLPH WON'T GIVE DECISION ON MOONEY PLEA FOR 3 MONTHS

Sacramento, Cal., Dec. 3.—(AP)—Gov. Rolph reiterated today it will probably be three months before he is ready to announce his decision on Thomas J. Mooney's pardon plea presented by Mayor Walker of New York. He said he expected to give the decision from his Sacramento office.

"It will take at least three months for Matt L. Sullivan and Lewis F. Byington, my counsel, to study the legal points in the case," Gov. Rolph said.

When asked if he planned holding a hearing for the prosecution side of the Mooney case, the governor referred questioners to Sullivan.

No More Piles

Thousands Praise This Great Internal Remedy That Freed Them from Awful Pile Misery

If you think that the surgeon's knife is the only method of escape from the misery of piles, it's because you haven't heard of the new remedy known as Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID.

It was Dr. J. S. Leonhardt who discovered that piles are internal, caused by blood congestion in the lower bowels. It was he who discovered the internal medicine—HEM-ROID—that quickly ends Piles by stimulating the circulation, healing and restoring the weak flabby, almost dead parts.

Now Dr. Leonhardt wants every sufferer from itching, bleeding or protruding piles to benefit by his discovery. So Walgreen and good druggists everywhere are authorized to sell HEM-ROID with guarantee that it will positively end piles in any form or money back.

On that honorable basis, get HEM-ROID Tablets today and say to your Piles, GOODBYE FOREVER.

GOVERNOR TALKS ON TAX REFORM AT CHURCH MEETING

Gov. Emmerson last night discussed the financial situation in the state and municipal governments before the Presbyterian Union of Chicago, meeting at the Hotel La Salle.

"Illinois too long has closed its eyes to a need for reforming its taxation system," the governor said. "It has heaped burden after burden upon one class of property, real estate, allowing other classes to escape.

"As I see our problem now, we must first reduce government expenditures, and, second, we must create new forms of taxation on intangible property, so as to relieve the unreasonable burden on real estate.

"I do not favor any additional taxes, and any moneys received from new taxes must be applied to reduce proportionately the tax load on real estate. I promise you that I shall approve no legislation not coming within these limitations."

The governor urged the church men and women present to take a deeper interest in public affairs, calling upon their legislators to adopt the proper relief laws at the present special session.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

COAL . . . is still the least expensive fuel

Coal beats this dwelling for $80.00 a year. Carefully figured estimates place the cost of fuel B at $202.46; of fuel C at $302.89.

You could afford to pay more than $24 a ton for coal and still heat your home for less than the new fuel would cost . . .

"HOW much would it cost me to heat with the new fuel that has been piped into Chicago?" If you are a home or building owner, and the question is on your lips . . . the answer is on this page.

In every fuel, heat is measured in British Thermal Units, (B. T. U.'s). In coal you get literally hundreds of thousands more B. T. U.'s per dollar than you get in the new fuel.

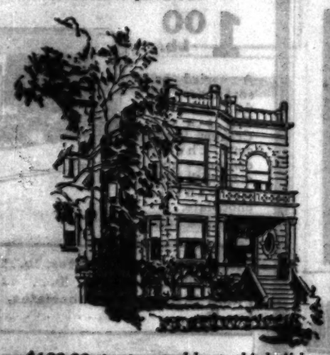
Moreover, the bare cost of the fuel itself is all the necessary expense you are put to in burning coal. But this first cost is only one of the expenses you incur in burning the new fuel.

It necessitates the addition of a converter or the substitution of a far more expensive plant. Then, too, you must add to the cost of fuel, a radiator tax of approximately $10.80 annually for every room in your house whether your heating plant is in operation or not.

If you don't believe this is a major item of expense, just consider that in many coal burning homes the entire cost of a winter's heating is only a very few dollars more than the radiator tax alone would be if the new fuel were burned.

However, you may be considering the other fuel which can be substituted for coal. This fuel too adds expenses over and above first cost. It demands expensive burners and tanks which require frequent servicing and need quantities of gas and electricity to operate them. It increases your insurance costs because special policies are needed to cover the special risks it involves. And—most important of all—it too yields hundreds of thousands less B. T. U.'s per dollar than coal.

This five room home uses 10 tons of $11.25 coke, or $112.50 worth of coke a winter. In burning fuel B it is estimated that its heating costs would rise to $182.68 annually; fuel C would increase them to $285.53.



$192.00 spent on coal heats this building. It is estimated that to heat it with fuel B would cost approximately $416.23; with fuel C, $614.02.

The buildings illustrated on this page give you a fair idea of the comperative costs of heating with the three available fuels. In them coal has been designated by name; the new fuel has been called fuel C and the alternate fuel, B.*

To learn what the costs would be in your home, call on your coal merchant.

If he is a member of the Chicago Coal Merchants Association he will gladly help you estimate all costs fairly, fully, and accurately. For he is informed. Moreover, he is also pledged to help you realize true economy in house heating . . . to help you with your fuel problems as well as to unfailingly provide you with honest weight and honest grading in every delivery.

RECORD SET IN COLLECTIONS FOR JOBLESS RELIEF

$8,214,623 in Fund Press On Toward Goal.

With a grand total of $8,214,623 in contributions reported, the Joint Emergency Relief fund last night reached the all time record for charity drives in Chicago and Cook county. Officials of the fund are confident that the new goal of $10,000,000 will be reached before the holidays.

Yesterday's contributions totaled $98,306. Samuel Insull Jr., chairman of the campaign, announced last night. Most of the subscriptions reported during the day were secured by the public utilities and professions divisions under the leadership of Charles S. Dewey.

"The large amount of subscriptions received during the day, Mr. Dewey said, "is the result of the intensive closing campaign being conducted. We want to raise the quota before the holidays."

Asst. Real Foundries and employés	$12,850
[illegible] company	12,500
[illegible] company	10,000
Asst. S. Clow & Sons company	7,675

[illegible] company and employés	1,900
Asst. of Moulding Brownell Corp.	1,500
Asst. of National Builders bank	1,050
Asst. of Aetna Life Ins. Co.	1,000
[illegible] Life Ins. Co. and em-
[illegible]	4,625
[illegible] company	1,000
Asst. of Universal Oil Prod. Co.	12,850
Asst. of A. O. McClurg & Co.	1,025
[illegible] company	1,000
Asst. of Sloss Envelope Co.	1,400

Answer to the complaints of home owners that they could receive no relief from the joint emergency fund was made yesterday by Edward L. Ryerson Jr., the president.

"We are giving the same relief to home owners that we are giving to others," he said. "Where they are in need of food or clothing we give such relief. But we cannot undertake to provide funds for the payment of mortgages, rent or other similar expenses."

Plans were completed last night for the presentation of a midnight charity frolic tomorrow night at the Regal theater. Proceeds of the show, sponsored by Judge John H. Lupe and Judge Robert R. Jackson, will go to the Christmas basket fund for the 1st, 2d, 3d, 5th, and 6th wards. Entertainment will be provided by practically all of the stage stars now in Chicago.

Son Charged with Beating and Robbing His Mother

Albert Bass, 22 years old, 3328 Potomac avenue, was held to the grand jury by Judge Alfar M. Eberhardt in the Felony court yesterday on a charge of beating his mother, Mrs. Molly Bass, and robbing her of $190. His bond was set at $3,000.

DOCTOR URGES MENTAL TESTS FOR CRIMINALS

A thorough mental examination of all chronic violators of criminal laws was urged last night by Dr. Harry R. Hoffman, director of the behavior clinic of the Criminal court, in a talk before the north side branch of the Chicago Medical society at the Knickerbocker hotel.

Dr. Hoffman pointed out that, next to education, crime costs the government more than any other thing. Millions of dollars are spent annually, he said, to incarcerate offenders, but little money is spent to discover the causes of their crimes. Punishment is not a final deterrent, he asserted, for crime is, after all, a certain type of behaviorism which needs mental as well as physical correction.

"Judges and lawyers should be trained in psychiatry and sociology and the so-called 'battles of insanity experts' should be eliminated," said Dr. Hoffman. "There should be research work concerning causes of crime and ways of prevention."

FORECLOSURE SUIT IS FILED AGAINST HOTEL

A foreclosure suit against the Lake Shore Drive hotel, 181 Lake Shore drive, was instituted in the Circuit court yesterday by Melvin L. Straus of S. W. Straus and company, as trustee. The bill charged that the hotel company had defaulted on Dec. 1, 1930, and on June 1, 1931, in the payments of interest and principal upon a series of bonds aggregating $1,650,000. The payments defaulted aggregated $105,445, the bill charged. In addition it declared that the hotel had failed to pay 1928 and 1929 taxes totaling $61,000. The bond issues, drawing 6½ per cent interest, were made on Dec. 1, 1923. The foreclosure suit was filed by the law firm of Gottlieb and Schwartz.

GOOD FELLOWS RALLY TO CALL OF HOLIDAY SPIRIT

Plan Happy Yuletide for Needy Children.

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

Good Fellows are rallying to the call of the Christmas spirit and are determined that needy children will not be disappointed on the greatest day of childhood.

An encouraging lot of Good Fellow letters yesterday reached the Good Fellow headquarters at THE TRIBUNE Public Service office, 1 South Dearborn street. From here and there about the city and the suburbs came Good Fellow requests for families with so many children of such and such ages.

The largest single order was for 25 families. This came from the Good Fellow club of the Insurance Company of North America, which always has rallied to the Good Fellow call with generous giving.

How Club Functions.

"We have two of our members for each of our 25 families," explained W. J. Baker, president of the club. "These members visit their family to determine its needs, and then on Christmas eve each two members deliver the basket in person. Our members wouldn't miss that chance to play Good Fellow for anything."

And that is the spirit, readers, that will enable the Good Fellows to carry on for the original Good Fellow.

To be a Good Fellow, reader, will take very little time from your own Christmas plans. The first thing to do is to fill out the accompanying coupon and send it to THE TRIBUNE Public Service office. In doing that you reserve the name of the family you are to help.

Help With Suggestions.

Then when you have a few minutes, plan the Christmas dinner you want to put in the basket. The bulletin from the Good Fellow department, which will be sent you on receipt of your request for a family, will offer you suggestions on this. Then you can use your own ingenuity on providing the toys and perhaps some sweaters, stockings, or warm underthings. And of course you will want to add some candy, nuts, and fruit.

If you are in the loop, reader, step into the Public Service office and enroll as a Good Fellow. The Good Fellow staff will be glad to help you.

HEAD OF FAKE JOB BUREAU IS FOUND GUILTY BY JURY

Max Blumenthal, operator of the Chicago Welding works, 162 West Kinzie street, was found guilty of operating a fake school and employment bureau by a jury in Municipal Judge James Fardy's court yesterday. The judge will sentence him on Dec. 9. The maximum penalty on the charge is one year in jail and a fine of $150.

Blumenthal, who was described by the state as having run shady trade schools and employment agencies here for ten years, was charged with obtaining $50 from James Kane, 51 years old, a Wisconsin farmer, who was hunting a job. Kane said he drove to Chicago a month ago with $57 and read an advertisement for the Blumenthal school. Blumenthal took $50 from him, Kane said, promising to get a job, but failed to do so.

Assistant State's Attorney Edward C. Duffey of the racket bureau said his office had been trying to bring Blumenthal into court for years. He said Blumenthal had victimized 1,200 unemployed during the last year. Blumenthal in his defense said that Kane had given him the money voluntarily and that he had not promised the farmer work. During the proceedings five warrants were served on Blumenthal in similar actions.

Herd 18 in Dry Law Raid Made on Indiana Town

Bedford, Ind., Dec. 3.—(AP)—Eighteen persons were arrested on various prohibition law charges in a series of raids made here today by dry agents under Charles Britt, deputy prohibition administrator for Indiana. The prisoners were taken to the Lawrence county jail where the prosecutor prepared affidavits against them. They will be arraigned before Mayor Henry Murray in City court.

MANY NEW USES FOR HONEY FOUND BY HOUSEWIVES

It's Pure and Healthful, Doctors Say.

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

"Honey for sale."

Count the number of times you encounter this sign on your next five mile trip into the country. I did the other day and found it a formidable competitor of "hot dogs" and "cider by the gallon" for roadside honors.

Predecessor of sugar by centuries as a satisfier of man's sweet tooth, this potted nectar of the flowers has, however, come into its own only in recent years. Housewives are rediscovering its uses in the baking of cakes, cookies, and breads, and in making preserves, jellies and candy. No longer is it simply the decoration on a buckwheat cake or a fluffy waffle.

Indeed it is as if we had reverted back to the days when "a land flowing with milk and honey" spelled plenty in the eastern mind, and the people of Palestine used honey in the preservation of fruit and in the making of cakes, sweetmeats, and other articles of food. From early records we also glean that our Anglo-Saxon ancestors found the sweet necessary as the base of their beverage called "mead." Again the "musium" of the ancient Romans consisted of honey, wine, and water boiled together, and the "clarre" or "piment" of Chaucer's time was wine mixed with honey and spices and strained till clear.

It's Healthful, Too.

From the health standpoint we should eat honey, say doctors and dietitians, since it is nondiabetic. In a child's diet it is indispensible, they explain, for it so completely satisfies his craving for sugars that he is not continually hankering for sweets.

Honey like milk reaches the consumer's table untouched by human hands. As prepared by the bee, it is ready for use without any form of cooking, sterilizing, or cold storaging, and unlike the pearl, neither the comb nor the honey has ever been successfully manufactured or imitated by man. Then, too, practically all honey offered for sale these days is pure, federal and state enforcements of pure food laws having stamped out adulteration and substitution of cheaper liquids for honey.

Something like 35,000 bees inhabit a prosperous hive and work hard for the six weeks that constitute the average life of a busy insect. Besides producing honey, these same little bees perform the inestimable service of fertilizing the blossoms of trees and plants. Savings banks use the old fashioned conical hive of twisted straw as a trade mark and the Mormons of Utah call their country "Deseret" meaning "The Land of the Bee." The banks adopted the bee as a symbol of saving, the Mormons as one of industry and thrift.

Extracted Form Most Popular.

The most widely consumed form is extracted honey with the comb variety, second in popularity. The third form is a combination of these two. The popularity of extracted honey has grown until more than 80 per cent is marketed in that form today.

There are many different flavors of honey depending on the plant from which it is derived. In the central states and New York white and sweet clover, alsike, and basswood produce the most nectar. In parts of Michigan and Wisconsin, the raspberry gives most of the crop while sage and orange blossoms are the principal sources of supply in the far west. New York state is the largest producer of buskwheat honey.

As the abundance and kind of flowers vary in different seasons, so does the flavor of honey. For this reason many wholesalers and packers mix several different flavors to produce a blend similar to that of teas.

About the Care of Honey.

A warning about the care of honey—never place either the comb or extracted variety in the refrigerator for it hastens granulation. If extracted honey does granulate, however, it is not injured and may be returned to its original liquid condition by carefully heating the bottle or can in a pan of water. The honey container should be supported so that it will not touch the bottom of the pan. This prevents scorching. The temperature of the honey should never rise above 140 degrees for anything higher will darken it and drive off its delicate flavor.

The department of home economics at New York state college suggests a couple of recipes for the use of honey. One is for a fine cranberry preserve made with equal weights of cranberries, honey, and water. Cook the berries in the honey and water until they are soft. Then remove the berries and continue boiling the sirup until it is thick enough to just cover the cranberries. Then pour the preserves into glasses and seal. The appearance of the cranberries may be improved by pricking each one several times before cooking and cooking them very slowly at first.

ESSENTIAL IRON EXISTS IN WIDE RANGE OF FOODS

Federal Bureau Compiles List for Your Benefit.

Iron, which is essential to the formation of sufficient red corpuscles in the blood, is obtainable from a wider range of foods than most persons realize. Liver has been greatly emphasized as a source of this important mineral, and many children have been told to eat spinach because of the iron it contained. Raisins, too, are frequently advertised as an especially palatable and easily obtained iron-rich food.

In response to many requests the bureau of home economics, United States department of agriculture, has compiled a list of common animal and vegetable foods which are rich in iron. The amount obtained from any one food is small, says the bureau, and it is well to include liberal quantities of iron-rich foods in the diet.

Egg yolk heads the list. It is not only one of the best means of supplying the body with iron, but it also contains phosphorus and calcium, minerals needed to build bones, teeth, and other tissues. Next on the list come meats, particularly liver, kidney, brain, and heart; also lean muscle of beef, veal, pork, and lamb. Oysters and shrimps are mentioned among sea foods.

Several green-leaf vegetables share with spinach the distinction of being rich in iron. The list includes turnip and beet tops, chard, dandelion and mustard greens, watercress, kale, New Zealand spinach, and broccoli leaves.

The dried fruits are a good source of iron. Apricots, peaches, currants, dates, figs, and prunes all vie with raisins in this respect. The whole-grain flours or cereals are important, particularly wheat, barley, rye, and oats. Molasses ranks high. Sorghum and cane sirups are also mentioned. Many legumes are listed, both fresh and in the form of dried seed, such as limas, lentils, common or kidney beans, cowpeas, and common peas. Almonds, hazelnuts, walnuts, pecans, and hickory nuts also supply some iron.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Try using leftover mashed potatoes as crust for shepherd's pie.

Use overshoes in stormy weather to save leather as well as to conserve health.

A mirror placed in a dark corner brightens the corner by reflecting some of the light that comes its way.

Help to prevent winter colds by eating plenty of foods rich in vitamin A. Among these are milk, butter, eggs, and leafy vegetables. Cod liver oil once a day is also a help.

It is more economical to alternate two pairs of shoes than to wear one pair continuously.

TASTES BETTER THAN OTHERS

The magnifying glass tells the story! See how the compact wheat kernel has been "popped" into a plump, crunchy tid-bit with the full food value and the glorious flavor of the whole grain.

HOW well does your breakfast food stand the "taste test"? Try it and see! Munch a handful right from the package without milk, cream or sugar. Has it the sun-ripened flavor of WHOLE GRAINS? Or is it simply a breakfast "filler"? Most breakfast foods are devitalized—stripped of vital elements and the rich flavor Mother Nature stores away in the WHOLE kernel. There's a reason for that. Until recently, food chemists were unable to "pop" whole grains into plump, crispy breakfast tid-bits.

NOW science has the secret! Have you tasted WHEAT POPS or RICE POPS—the first breakfast cereals ever "popped" from WHOLE GRAINS? Try a handful of POPS right from the package for the rarest of delightful flavors! POPS is crispy, crackly, crunchy with the supreme deliciousness of sun-ripened grains. Here, too, is the rich food value of the entire kernel—minerals, proteins, carbohydrates and Nature's gentle laxative—bran—to promote regular elimination. Serve POPS to all the family for Nature's flavor—for balanced nourishment. Ask for WHEAT POPS or RICE POPS—avoid devitalized cereals.

Try WHEAT POPS HOT, Too

To one cup of Wheat POPS add one cup of water already boiling and a pinch of salt. Boil gently 10 minutes, keeping lid on pan. Drain off water and serve with sugar and cream or milk.

CHILL MORNINGS AND BUCKWHEAT CAKES—O, BOY!

Interested? Then Read How Easy It Is.

With these snappy and chilly early December mornings heralding the approach of cold, wintry days and whetting every one's appetite, few have to be stacked to eat a hearty breakfast. Even those who usually make a breakfast out of a cup of coffee and maybe a slice of toast or two think in terms more substantial meals when they wake up these mornings and take their first breath of the invigorating air.

The thought of getting up in the morning and facing another day of work does not seem like such a nightmare when you wake up and smell the aroma of brewing coffee and the appetizing odors of other breakfast foods. That is, providing you do not have to cook your own morning meal. But even though you have to play chief cook, preparing breakfast is far from a hardship on crisp mornings when you start the day with a full grown appetite.

Why Not Buckwheat Cakes?

What's it going to be for breakfast is the first question. Of course, there are always the old standbys of plain bacon and eggs, toast and coffee, which can fill the bill, but few people want this same assortment of food every morning. One could follow in the footsteps of country cooks and serve up a full fledged breakfast of fried chicken and fried potatoes, but such a meal does not appeal to most city folk early in the morning.

Why not make buckwheat cakes? The cakes served hot from the griddle, covered with sirup or butter and flanked by slices of crisp bacon and accompanied by a cup of steaming hot coffee will make excellent fare for a cold weather breakfast.

Ingredients Are Ready Mixed.

The flour and all of the ingredients can be purchased in packages already mixed. Making the cakes is just a question of adding the milk or water to the mixture and pouring the batter on the hot, greased griddle. It's all done in a jiffy and by the time the coffee has boiled you'll have a platter full of the buckwheat cakes ready to serve.

Or, better still, why not prepare the regular old fashioned buckwheat cakes like mother used to make. Of course, making the home made brand requires more work, but if you feel up to the task you can use this recipe contributed by a southern mammy:

2 cups lukewarm water.
1 tablespoon molasses.
½ yeast cake.
1 teaspoon salt.
2 eggs.

Dissolve the yeast in the lukewarm water and stir in buckwheat. Mix well and set in a warm place to raise overnight. In the morning add the salt, molasses and well beaten eggs and bake on well greased griddle. In case having the molasses and eggs in your cakes does not appeal to you, you might follow the suggestion of a northern cook and substitute 1-3 cup of sour milk or buttermilk for these ingredients.

DEUTSCHLAND'S CHEF WINS FIRST CULINARY PRIZE

New York, Dec. 3.—[Special.]—An elaborate display of tasty dishes, three courses of a "Winky" dinner, as served in the grill rooms aboard Hamburg-American line ships, and prepared by Chef Albert Krueger of the S. S. Deutschland, won first prize in the steamship class competition at the Culinary Art exhibit, 16th national hotel exposition, held in the Grand Central palace.

A table arranged in a setting of evergreens from forests of Germany, and decorated with motifs typical of forest life, was spread with huge platters containing the food displays:

Entree—Saddle of boar, hunter style, served with a delicious combination of fruits of the season (Romeo's contribution to the feast).

Apple Flour Is Now Being Made in British Columbia

Apple flour is a new product being manufactured in British Columbia, Canada. It is made from apples dried last season. This type of flour is said to be especially adapted to use in cakes and mince meat, according to reports issued by Massachusetts State college.

RECIPES DEMONSTRATED AT FOOD SHOW

For the benefit of the women of Chicago and the members of the radio audience as well who were unable to be present at THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE School of Cookery held at the Trianon ballroom Nov. 3, 4, 5, and 6 the following recipes are printed. These recipes were demonstrated at that time by Mrs. Ida Chitwood:

1. FRENCH PIE CRUST.
2¼ cups flour
1 teaspoon salt
⅔ cup shortening
Cold water

Sift flour, then measure and sift once with salt. Cut shortening into flour with a knife. Crumble with tips of fingers until the mixture is of the consistency of large grains of corn, cutting the liquid in with the edge of a spoon. Toss onto floured dough board and knead for 2 or 3 minutes. Place in refrigerator to chill for thirty minutes. Roll out in a thin sheet and bake in pie tin at 400 degrees F. for about ten minutes.

2. COFFEE SOUFFLE PIE.
1 cup hot coffee infusion
1 tablespoon gelatine
¾ cup sugar
2 eggs
1 cup cream
2 tablespoons cold water
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla

Soak gelatine in cold water, and hot coffee infusion. Pour this over slightly beaten egg yolks with sugar added. Cook in double boiler until thickened, add salt and vanilla. Let cool and when this begins to set beat hard and fold in egg whites stiffly beaten, then add cream that has been whipped. When mixture is set enough to pile on spoon, pour into cooked pastry shell and set in refrigerator until ready to serve.

3. ESCALLOPED CORN AND CHICKEN.
2 cups cracker crumbs
2 cups bread crumbs
1 can whole kernel cut corn
2 cups chicken
2 cups milk
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
Green pepper or pimento if desired

Soak bread and cracker crumbs in the milk for an hour, stirring occasionally. Mix the corn, chicken, salt and pepper with the crumbs. Butter a large casserole and fill with the mixture. Dot the top with butter and bake at 350 degrees until firm. Serve at once.

4. TOMATO JELLY.
1 level tablespoonful lemon gelatine
½ cup hot water
3½ cups canned tomatoes
2 tablespoons onion juice
1 bay leaf
Few grains salt
Stalk celery
Few grains cayenne
2 tablespoons mild vinegar

Dissolve gelatine in boiling water. Mix remaining ingredients, except vinegar, bring to boiling point and let boil 10 minutes. Add vinegar and soaked gelatine, and when gelatine is dissolved, strain. Turn into wet molds and chill. Remove from molds to bed of crisp lettuce leaves and garnish with salad dressing; or the jelly may be cut in any desired shapes and used as a garnish for salads or cold meats. Dressing may be forced through a pastry bag and tube.

5. GREEN BAKED BEANS AU GRATIN.
Cover bottom of baking dish with layer of canned green beans. Cover with rolled and sifted bread crumbs, grated cheese, and white sauce. Another layer of beans, bread crumbs, cheese and white sauce. Bake in oven 350 degrees F. for 30 minutes and serve hot.

6. SPANISH MACARONI.
1 box macaroni
1 cup grated cheese
1 cup chopped celery
1 can tomatoes
1 green sweet pepper
1 large onion
1 teaspoon chili powder
2 teaspoons salt
4 tablespoons fat

7. FLAPPER FROZEN CAKE.
Line the bottom of freezing tray with vanilla wafers. Cover with slices of sliced peaches and dot with lime gelatine. Then cover with whipped cream to which sugar has been added to taste. Add another layer of vanilla wafers and sliced peaches and dot with gelatine and whipped cream. Place in freezing compartment and freeze. When ready to serve, slice in diced servings and place on dessert plates.

8. STEAMED CRANBERRY PUDDING.
1 cup flour
2½ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon of salt
½ cup bread crumbs
½ cup brown sugar
2-2 cup finely chopped suet
1 cup chopped cranberries
1 egg
½ cup milk or water

Mix ingredients in order given. Turn into a well greased mold. Cover with wax paper and steam for two hours. Never allow the water to come more than 2-3 of the way up the side of the mold. Turn out and serve with hard or foamy sauce.

9. JELLIED AVOCADO SALAD.
1 tablespoon granulated gelatine
1 cup boiling water
2 cups mashed avocado pulp
¾ teaspoon salt
Juice of half a lemon
¼ cup cold water

Soak the gelatine in cold water and dissolve in the boiling water. Add the fruit pulp, salt and lemon juice. Mold and chill until firm. When ready to serve unmold on bed of lettuce, garnish with mayonnaise and strips of pimento.

10. RICE BIJOU.
1 cup cooked rice
¼ cup sugar
1 cup whipped cream
1 cup cubed pineapple
1 cup cubed marshmallows
2 teaspoons lemon juice

11. PINEAPPLE DELIGHT.
1 cup canned crushed pineapple
1 cup marshmallows
1 cup macaroons
1 cup dates
1 cup cream whipped

Mix pineapple with marshmallows, macaroons, crumbled, and dates pitted and cut in small pieces. Let stand for several hours. Then fold into the whipped cream and chill. Serve in sherbet or parfait glasses and garnish with Maraschino cherries.

12. CHEESE RING WITH GRAPEFRUIT SALAD.
Use one cup of scalded milk to dissolve two tablespoons of gelatine that has been soaked in one-half cup of cold water. Melt one cup of cheese. Add one-half teaspoon paprika, one teaspoon of salt, a dash of white pepper and another of cayenne. Pour into this the gelatine and milk mixture, stirring until smooth, then add one cup of whipped cream. Turn into a ring mold and leave in the refrigerator four or five hours to congeal. Unmold on lettuce leaves and garnish with ripe olives and strips of pimento. Fill center of ring with skinless sections of grapefruit. Serve with Maraschino fruit dressing.

MARASCHINO FRUIT DRESSING.
Mix four tablespoons of salad oil, two tablespoons of lemon juice, 1 tablespoon of orange juice, a half teaspoon of salt, three-fourths of a teaspoon of sugar and a half teaspoon of paprika. Beat until the oil and the fruit juices are thoroughly combined. Then add twelve Maraschino cherries finely chopped and two tablespoons of the Maraschino juice. Mix thoroughly.

13. BEEF STEAK POCKETS.
2 lbs. round steak [cut 1¼ inches thick].
1 lb. pork sausage meat.
1 cup soft bread crumbs.
¼ cup water.
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion.
2 cups cooked tomatoes.
1½ tablespoon salt.
1 small onion.

Cut the steak into three inch squares and slit a pocket in each with a sharp knife. Blend the sausage, bread crumbs and chopped onion together with the water. Sprinkle each slit lightly with salt, and stuff with the sausage mixture. Secure the edges with toothpicks. Sear the outer surfaces of the meat in hot fat, slicing the whole onion into the pan to brown at the same time. Then add the salt and tomatoes to the pan and cover closely. Bake in a moderate oven [350 degrees F.] for 2½ hours. Yield, six servings.

14. SOUTHERN BISCUITS.
1-3 cup shortening.
1¼ cups sweet milk.
3 teaspoons baking powder.
1 teaspoon salt.

Sift flour, baking powder and salt three times together. Cut shortening into flour with the edge of the knife, then crumble with tips of fingers until the consistency of corn meal. Cut milk into flour with blade of knife. Toss onto dough board and knead for one minute. Roll one-half inch thick and cut with biscuit cutter. Place on greased baking sheet, brush top with shortening, and bake 10 minutes at 450 degrees F.

15. DAISY CAKE.
1½ cups sugar.
2-3 cup of milk.
2 cups of flour.
2 teaspoons of baking powder.
½ teaspoon salt.
1 teaspoon vanilla.
4 egg whites, beaten stiff.
1-3 cup blanched almonds.
Grated rind of 1 orange.

Cream butter and sugar. Blend sifted dry ingredients alternately. Then add the flavoring. Fold in the egg white last. Pour in muffin pans and bake in a moderate oven. Cover with vanilla trim and almonds or grated orange rind.

16. SPINACH SUPREME.
¼ pound of bacon.
2 medium onions, sliced.
1 can of spinach.
1 cup of cheese.
Bread crumbs

Cut bacon in small pieces. Fry until crisp. Remove bacon and fry sliced onions in bacon grease. Heat spinach and add half of bacon grease. Remove from range and add the cheese. Stir until entirely melted, adding bacon and onions. Place in casserole, sprinkle with bread crumbs. Dot with cheese. Bake in hot oven 30 minutes.

17. CRANBERRY JUICE COCKTAIL.
2 cups cranberries.
4 cups water.
2-3 cup granulated sugar.

Cook cranberries in water until they all pop open [about 5 minutes]. Strain in cheesecloth. Bring to boiling point. Add sugar and boil 2 minutes longer. Serve cold. For future use, bottle in sterilized bottles. Will make one quart or more at the rate of 50c.

18. SWEETHEART PIE.
1 cup sugar.
1 package gelatin.
1 cup cherry juice.
1 cup milk.
2 bananas cut in small pieces.
1 cup cherries.
3 bright red apples.

Wash and polish the apples, cut in thin slices, and line bottom of pie plate with apples, then arrange around sides of plate. Dissolve gelatin in cherry juice, mix sugar, eggs and milk, then add gelatin mixture. Dissolve, remove from fire, and fold in bananas and cherries. Let set and pour into apple lined plate.

19. ORANGE ICE BOX PUDDING.
1 teaspoon flour.
3 eggs.
1 cup milk.
1 tablespoon butter.
1-3 cup orange juice.
Grated rind of half an orange.
24 ladyfingers or pieces of sponge cake.
1 cup cream.

Mix the sugar and flour. Add to the beaten egg yolks. Add the milk and butter, and cook all these ingredients together in a double boiler until thick. Add the orange juice and rind. Take from the fire; cool slightly and then fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Line the bottom and sides of a spring form pan with ladyfingers; pour in part of the mixture and continue alternating in layers, ending with a layer of ladyfingers on the top. Place in a refrigerator for at least 12 hours. When ready to serve, remove the platter and cover with whipped cream.

20. CHOCOLATE MOCHA SUNDAE.
1 tablespoon butter.
1-3 cup strong coffee.
1 cup sugar.
2 tablespoons sirup.
1 teaspoon vanilla.
1 quart vanilla ice cream.

Melt chocolate in a saucepan over hot water, add butter and very slowly the coffee. Bring to the boiling point, add sugar and corn sirup. Boil five minutes, cool, add vanilla extract. Can be served either hot or cold on the ice cream.

21. YELLOW AND WHITE CUSTARD.
[White part.]
2 cups milk.
2 tablespoons cornstarch.
¼ cup sugar.
3 egg whites.
1 teaspoon vanilla.

Scald milk. Blend cornstarch and sugar. Add quickly to milk and beat with dover beater. Cook slowly 5 minutes. Cut and fold in egg whites. Pour into mold. Chill.

[Yellow part.]
2 cups milk.
½ cup sugar.
3 egg yolks.
2 teaspoon cornstarch.
1 teaspoon vanilla.

Scald milk. Beat egg yolks, sugar and cornstarch. Add to scalded milk. Cook in double boiler until a velvety coating forms on the spoon. Pour into mold and chill.

To Serve:
Pile the white part loosely in sherbet glasses. Pour the yellow part on the white. Cocoanut or a candied cherry on top may be added. Very inexpensive.

22. DATE JUMBLES.
½ cup shortening.
1½ cups sugar.
3 eggs.
1 cup dates.
1 cup nuts.
1 teaspoon vanilla.
7 tablespoons water.
3½ cups sifted flour.
1 teaspoon baking powder.
¼ teaspoon soda.

Sift flour three times with all dry ingredients. Cream shortening and sugar. Add beaten eggs, dates, nuts, and vanilla. Add dry ingredients alternately with water. Mix well and bake in greased pan one inch apart at 375 degrees F.

23. MACARONI MEAT LOAF.
1½ lbs. round steak.
1 tablespoon chopped onion.
2 teaspoons celery seed.
Paprika.
1 teaspoon salt.
1 cup grated cheese.
1 cup oysters.
¼ cup water.

Have the meat cut in one large slice. Trim and salt. Carefully pound in dry flour until the meat is thin and pliable. Put one and one-half tablespoons of fat in the frying pan; add the celery seed and onion to it. Cook two to five minutes. Add the trimmings from the meat which have been cut very fine; stir until the meat trimmings brown slightly, and then add the previously cooked macaroni, paprika and salt. Stir in the cheese and cook until the cheese melts. Add the chopped oysters. Spread this dressing on the steak and roll securely. Skewer and tie. Place on a rack in an open pan. Bake in a hot oven 30 minutes to sear the meat. Add the water, reduce the heat, and cook until tender. Remove to the platter and garnish with Greek crosses of lemon, with a dot of cranberry jelly on each lemon cross and tiny hearts.

24. DAINTY PUDDING.
¾ cup of water
3 cups grated bread crumbs
3 eggs
1 cup seeded raisins
1 orange
½ teaspoon of salt
½ cup sugar
2 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon baking powder.

Add water to crumbs and let stand 5 minutes. Separate eggs. Add beaten yolks to bread crumbs. Add raisins and grated rind of orange, salt, sugar and butter, and mix thoroughly. Beat egg whites until frothy. Add baking powder and beat until stiff. Then fold into first mixture and turn into large or individual greased molds. Bake in moderate oven 350 degrees for 35 minutes. Serve with cream.

25. STUFFED CELERY.
¼ package cheese
2 tablespoons of peanut butter
2 tablespoons butter
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Paprika to order

Cream cheese and butter until smooth and creamy. Cream peanut butter separately and when quite creamy blend with cheese and butter. Add paprika and sauce, mixing thoroughly.

26. STUFFED HAM.
Cut a thick slice of ham. Cut deep pocket in ham and stuff with filling made of 1 heaping cup of spaghetti, 2 tablespoonsful of cheese, 1 tablespoonful of chili sauce, and 1 egg.

Drop spaghetti in boiling water. Drain and blanch. Spaghetti will be hot enough to melt cheese. Add to it the egg and chili sauce. Brush the boiled ham with butter or oil on griddle.

27. COLD PLATTER.
Sliced chicken
Green pepper and pimento rings
Sliced beets on shredded lettuce.

To arrange the platter—Remove skin from cold chicken. Open and slice. Arrange with slices overlapping on small platter, and place alternating pimento and green pepper rings over the chicken. Garnish with shredded lettuce and arrange the beet slices over the lapping on either side of center.

28. CRANBERRY FRUIT SALAD
1 cup boiling water
½ cup juice of 10 minute cranberry sauce
½ cup cranberries
1 package lemon gelatine.
1 orange, peeled and cut in sections
½ cup shredded pineapple
½ cup pineapple juice

Dissolve gelatine in boiling water, adding cranberry and pineapple juice. Pour a little into individual molds. Chill until firm, adding alternate layers of fruit and slightly thickened gelatine, until all is used. Chill until firm. Unmold on lettuce and serve with salad dressing.

*TEN MINUTE CRANBERRY SAUCE
4 cups cranberries
2 cups water
2 cups sugar

Boil sugar and water together five minutes. Add cranberries and boil without stirring 5 minutes until all of the skins are opened. Remove all of the skins and allow the sauce to remain in vessel until cold.

29. ALL BRAN MUFFINS
2 tablespoons shortening
¼ cup sugar
1 egg
1 cup sour milk
1 cup flour
1 cup all bran
½ teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder

Mix in order named; beat well and cook in muffin tins, well greased and floured. Raisins or dates may be added to muffins if desired.

30. FRENCH PAN CAKES
¾ cup flour [sifted]
1 teaspoon sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 cup whole milk
1 tablespoon melted butter
3 eggs

Sift sugar, salt and flour and baking powder together. Add yolks to the milk. Beat this into the flour mixture slowly. Add melted shortening. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake on hot ungreased griddle, making larger than usual. Spread each cake with butter and sugar. Roll carefully. Sprinkle with sugar. Serve at once.

31. CORNED BEEF HASH
2 cups corned beef ground
1 cup boiled potato
1 onion, medium sized chopped fine

Mix all together in frying pan. Add one cup water and one-half cup milk and allow to come to boil. Add one-half cup bread crumbs and boil slowly for about one-half hour. Serve hot.

FINDING OF EGG CANDLERS GETS SCIENTIFIC TEST

Feature of Poultry Show Now at Coliseum.

BY EVERETT SWINGLE.

How closely can a group of expert candlers from Chicago commission houses approximate the age, size, and quality in their examinations of eggs that later are given to a group of scientists for actual measurements, weights, and determinations of age and quality chemically?

Housewives in particular, and all spectators in general, are obtaining facts on this question this week in a special exhibit sponsored by the Institute of American Poultry Industries at the annual poultry exposition in the Coliseum, where the show will remain open until Sunday night.

Fix Quality of Eggs.

First the egg candlers are permitted to fix quality determinations on various eggs. Then the eggs are put through approximately fifty determinations by a group of workers under the direction of Dr. Paul Sharp of Cornell, N. Y., State college. The individual eggs are weighed, measured for length and diameter, for shell strength, and also whether the shells have been washed.

The color of the yolk is determined, also how much the yolk flattens and whether it and the white portion is comparatively thick or thin. Dr. Sharp has announced that results of all the determinations will not be announced this week, but that when the work has been completed the project will show how closely the egg candler or commercial egg handler fixes a standard and whether the individual eggs which he selects for his tests are close in quality to that of entire lots.

Many Eggs on Display.

Eggs from all sections of the United States are displayed. In each of these selections there are three eggs broken into a dish and shown with a dozen of the whole eggs in a carton.

In another part of this same group of displays samples of storage and fresh eggs, hard boiled, are being tasted by visitors to the show to indicate how close are the qualities of properly produced and stored eggs and properly handled fresh eggs.

One of the quality determinations made yesterday by Paul Mandeville, secretary of the poultry industry institute, was to pick up the yolk of a fresh egg from a dish and illustrate how the white clung to the yolk. The yolk also remained whole, which indicated, according to Mandeville, the freshness and food quality.

Prices of Pork Cuts Third Lower than Last Month

In its regular weekly report issued for the guidance of consumers, the committee on marketing information of the meat council of Chicago states: "Fresh shoulder of pork and smoked hams are the most economical meat buys for the Chicago housewife over the coming week-end. Latest available reports show that fresh pork cuts such as the shoulder are selling in Chicago at prices nearly one-third lower than at the same time last month, while smoked meats have declined nearly 10 per cent."

RAISE SORGHUM PLANT TO FIT COMBINE REAPER

Developing a plant to fit a harvesting machine because it was easier than building a harvesting machine to fit the plant is an accomplishment of plant breeders of the United States department of agriculture.

The plant is the grain sorghum, milo, which has been transformed by cross breeding from a tall, unwieldy plant having pendant or "goose-necked" heads into a short plant with erect heads which lodge much less frequently. The transformation has made grain sorghum harvesting with combines more feasible and more widely practiced.

Milo usually is headed by hand and the heads thrown into a wagon. A man with a team will harvest about an acre and a half to two acres a day by hand. A 15 foot combine, requiring two men, will harvest and thresh 20 to 25 acres a day.

The effort to get a grain sorghum that was not so tall and rank growing has been going on for a decade or more. Much of the breeding work was done at Woodward, Okla., by J. B. Sieglinger, department agronomist.

Two new varieties have been distributed for planting. Crosses of blackhull kafir and the dwarf yellow milo gave wheatland milo and several similar types. One of these was crossed back to the dwarf milo and produced the beaver milo. The beaver milo is increasing in favor in western Oklahoma, northwestern Texas, and southwestern Kansas. Experiments at Hays, Kas., resulted in the distribution of the wheatland variety in Kansas.

Despite the development of the new varieties, combine harvesting of grain sorghum still has some difficulties, chiefly those caused by lodging and by moisture in the sorghum at the time of harvesting.

The Bride's Boat

By Coralie Stanton and Heath Hosken

SYNOPSIS.

It was Kit Lenoure's twenty-sixth birthday. She'd worked four years as receptionist in a London family hotel and she felt herself in a groove. When an East African guest offers her a post in the Grand Africa hotel, Sordoret, Kenya, she gladly accepts. Theo Sable was there and Kit wanted him more than anything in the world. They'd been in love, but their engagement was broken because of his mother. Kit sails on the "Bride's Boat." Jess North is her cabin mate. Jess is going out to be married. Kit meets Lal Crowhurst, the biggest land owner about Sordoret and a most attractive bachelor. He is attentive to Kit. Jess delights in telling Kit the scandal she hears about Lal Crowhurst and about "the widow who owns him." Kit hears that Theo Sable has taken up big game hunting in Africa. Jess is married the day after their arrival to Noel Graham, who manages Lal Crowhurst's coffee plantations. Kit readily adapts herself to her new life and surroundings. She calls one day on the widow, Ariel Grieve, to arrange a dinner party to be given in the hotel.

INSTALLMENT XVII.

FEMININE TACTICS.

Kit would have been astonished had she known what an impression she made on Ariel Grieve. Such an impression that that lady drove up to Ullmosi and called on Jess Graham the very next day, making herself extremely fascinating, which no one could do better, and learning all she wanted to know about the voyage and the wedding at Mombasa.

Coming away, she was satisfied in her mind. It certainly couldn't be that little badly made up but pretty and vulgarly clever piece of goods that Crowhurst was interested in. That was not the latest prey the Man in the Moon was pursuing. Therefore it must be the other one. The other one had beautiful eyes and the kind smile that gets in a man's eyes, like the sun. And she did not look like a minx. Therefore much the more dangerous. She must be watched. Ariel Grieve had never attempted to keep Crowhurst on a string, in spite of what gossips said to the contrary. But she liked to know where she was.

Every now and then Kit took out Theo Sable's photograph and the few letters that he had written her before she inaugurated the silence that had separated them.

Evidently he had not been back to Mombasa, or else the nice hotel clerk had forgotten her message. Theo had disappeared the moment their footsteps had crossed. She had no means of getting into touch with him.

"I shall never forget you, I cannot live my life without you. Kit—my beloved, my London angel, my dream, my heart of hearts—wait for me——"

She read and glowed with memories. If only she could find him! It would make this country perfect. She loved it already. Crowhurst had been right. There was so much to do. With Theo she could build a home here. The wilds and the civilized were so near to each other. One's heart beat so much faster, one's mind worked so much quicker. One felt so much more alive, able to do anything—anything. But one wanted—wanted somebody to love.

Kit, flushed and secretly building castles, read Theo's letters and looked at his young ardent face. But where was he?

She had not heard anything from Crowhurst. Why should she? He had no doubt forgotten her existence. He had just been nice to her because she was alone and coming out to a new country. With all the ugly things they said about him, he evidently was kind. He had said he was only staying a week or two in Nairobi. A month had gone by, and, according to the woman who owned him, he could not be coming for at least another week.

Why should he remember her? A few days after her arrival Capt. Blair had driven her round the country to show her some famous points of view. They seemed to have driven for hours and all the time were skirting his estate of Moon Fields. And that was only one. He must own quite a large slice of this part of the colony. He must have innumerable interests and obligations. Why should he remember her?

She had had a mail from home—lovely letters from mother and Fanny and Bill. And a long letter from Miss Dacre of the Gate House hotel, and one from Mr. Gaythorne, her elegant friend at the foreign office, and a ridiculous post card from dear, fat, irresponsible Sir Freddy Blackmore.

The dear things! She loved them all so much. But she did not want to go back. She had that feeling of fate more strongly than ever. She was going to meet Theo in time. She could not leave the country until she had met him. It was for this that she had come out; no use pretending otherwise. And the capricious crossing of their steps had whetted her longing. She would meet him. And her life would be completed. What was going to happen to her would happen here in Africa.

A few days later, a Sunday, Kit went to lunch with Jess Graham at Ullmosi. She learned that Crowhurst had arrived at Moon Fields, as Noel Graham was summoned to the house and departed immediately after the meal, to attend a conference of all the farm and plantation managers, which he had been told would last several hours and end up with a luxurious but informal supper.

It happened to be the first time Kit had been alone with Jess since her arrival in her home. Each time previously it had been a tea party, and she had left with other guests.

"Now we can have a real good talk," said the bride, who had unashamedly hung round her tall young husband's neck before he left, and who, Kit told herself, was much more lovely than she had been on board. No doubt about her happiness. The golden eyes held new, soft secrets; the little red mouth quivered with smiles that told of a new power.

Truth to tell, though, Jess' beauty was not reflected in her home. It was a good house, with many possibilities; but it had the shabby, uncared for look of a hard working bachelor's establishment still. Jess was evidently no housekeeper; the lunch had been half cold and greasy, and her only remedy seemed to be to try to get Noel to swear at the boy who served it.

"If only Noel had a little more money!" she sighed now. "It would be heaven. Kit, he's such a perfect darling to me—I can't tell you—you wouldn't understand! But it's simply glorious being married to him. I just don't know how I lived before. O, Kit, isn't it hateful being poor?"

"Hasn't Mr. Graham enough to live on?" the other girl asked. "I shouldn't think Mr. Crowhurst would underpay anybody."

"O, it's supposed to be very good pay, but money doesn't go anywhere in this country. And the natives are awful—such robbers and liars and cheats. The servants get every penny of Noel's money, it seems to me!" The old cry of the incompetent housewife! Perhaps the oldest song of the white man's occupation of Africa.

"But your garden looks most lovely and perfectly kept, Jess," Kit ventured. "The outside boys must be all right."

"O, no, Mr. Crowhurst had that done for me," was the complacent answer. "He sent some men all last week, one real gardener. I had told him how bad it looked."

"But I thought he'd only arrived yesterday."

"I know. But I wrote to him in answer to one of his letters, dear. And he is really very decent—he has sent me a beautiful suite of bedroom furniture made by natives at some Roman Catholic mission near Nairobi. Such lovely wood and such a heavenly design! I'll show it to you. The bed is simply divine. And he said I was to let him know if I wanted anything done here, as he wanted me to be quite comfortable and happy."

"You'd better ask him to give Mr. Graham more money!" said Kit, wondering the next moment how she could say such a vulgar and unkind thing. But something angry and impatient had forced the words from her lips.

Effective Art at the Chicago Galleries Now

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

The twelfth semi-annual exhibition by artist members has just opened in the Chicago galleries, 220 North Michigan avenue. It is, as we have become accustomed to find in this gallery, an excellent show. Perhaps the most striking painting is the "Woman in White," by Helga Haugan Dean, a large and very effective canvas in which a gorgeous wide-spreading rose colored hat illuminates the entire composition.

"A Sketch Portrait," by Amy Irwin McCormick, is a brisk and vigorous business, fresh, bold, and combatant. The portrait is of a woman. Mrs. McCormick's other painting is also a portrait, this time more carefully finished and so, perhaps, not as challenging "Maj. Gen. G. Le Roy Irwin." Against these, particularly the sketch portrait, the exquisitely completed portrait of "Mrs. Carey Orr" [wife of the cartoonist], by Oskar Gross, assumes too much the rose-petal character, is a little too finely modulated to carry well from a gallery wall.

Frank V. Dudley shows us the dunes in another mood, under long fingers of cloud. "Shadows of Eventide." Stark Davis submits a magnificent parrot, gorgeously rich in color. "The Immigrant," by Joseph Allworthy, is an interesting figure, though, perhaps, one might wish the face a bit more hardily modeled; it still seems a trifle on the putty side. Anthony Buchta shows a fine windy sky in his "Upon the Hill." Edward T. Grigware gives us again his tranquil, blue painting of "Quebec," lying along the water.

Irma Rene Koen in "Sea, Sky and Ships" has a hauntingly lovely composition in grays. Ross Moffett has a splendidly simple canvas in "Return of Spring," a poem in monotone. Josephine L. Reichmann offers a charming flower still life in "Hollyhocks." Dixie Seleden has another lovely painting of flowers in her still life. Marshall D. Smith shows a rich, luxurious spread of romantic color in "Doorway, Segovia." Florence White Williams takes us to Gloucester on a summer afternoon with her picturesque and gay "Half Tide."

Among the other artists who contribute to the success of the show are C. Warner Williams, Elisabeth Hastetine, Orrin A. White, Arthur G. Rider, Elizabeth Krysher Peyraud, John A. Spelman, James Topping, Adolph Heinze, J. Jeffery Grant, Anna Lynch, Pauline Palmer, Douglas Parshall, Charles P. Kilgore, Edgar A. Payne, Karl C. Brandner, and Leonore Smith Jerrems.

The exhibit will continue through Dec. 31.

Little Niceties of Grooming Vital to Decollete Costumes

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

One's sensibilities are more than a little shocked when one sees a fair dinner guest or dancing partner in décolleté costume whose raised arm indicates that every little grooming detail has not been attended to. In certain foreign circles this sort of thing is not viewed with the same discrimination met on our soil, but then, in certain foreign circles excess hair growths on the face aren't looked upon as we look upon them, either.

Anyway, here it isn't merely a case of having an underarm free of hair. The skin surface must look clear and clean as a groomed complexion. With certain coarse haired [brunette] types, there is trouble in keeping this surface unclouded looking. For such a bleaching with a mild peroxide solution of the darkish looking hair "roots" that give the area sometimes a sooty, peppered look, is recommended. The bleaching solution should not be used immediately after removing the hair nor immediately after using a perspiration remedy. Let twenty-four hours intervene.

In removing this surplus hair, a razor, in most cases, is more inclined to leave that stubby growth look to the surface. Depilatories leave a cleaner record. Some believe wax preparations are smoother in finish than other depilatories. It's a matter of experiment, however, and skill in handling.

After the use of a hair removing preparation some skin surfaces suffer considerably from redness. Any good, healing ointment will serve as a salve, or even a cream proves efficient, as a general thing.

The liquid lotions one uses to whiten arms and necks may be used on this underarm surface to prepare it for evening frock wear. And a little trick you can apply, along with the rest of the evening toilet making, is to swab a bit of perfume on the underarm surface. When the dancing arm is raised, the effect is quite nice.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

In Need of Shoes.

"I am writing in the interest of a deserving young man who is badly in need of a pair of shoes. He wears size 11½ and would be grateful if you could get him a pair. He has been out of work for two years and only manages to find jobs once in a while which pays for his board and room but does not enable him to buy clothes. This is the first time he has had occasion to ask for help.

"Mrs. W. C."

Surely some one has the pair of shoes which this young man needs so urgently.

Cannes Accessories for Palm Beach Wear

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—The fashionable sea worshipers of Cannes and Juan-les-Pins are wearing a new kind of waist with their beach pajamas. It is just a handkerchief, and as a waist is the smallest yet. It leaves the entire back, all the shoulders and some of the under-arm section of the torso free to get tanned and revitami .1 by the sun. I have had Miss Dulin draw it because the New York merchants are all excited about it for Palm Beach.

This handkerchief waist is made of a cotton Provençal handkerchief in gaudy colors. It is a large size hanky folded to a triangle, with the two converging points pulled up across the front and attached around the neck by a bit of ribbon. The remaining two points are draped around the waist and tied in a knot at the center back.

Also shown here are the new white calfskin sandals worn by the ultra-smart Parisiennes along the plage. They are but straps, soles, and have a thong between the great and second toe.

The scarf shown below is another kind of large handkerchief of foulard or crêpe de chine, worn in the new mode of the prince of Wales. Worn thusly it has a new chic under the sports jacket.

Mrs. Bevans Offers Help in Selection of Children's Books

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

Naturally, we don't hope to own all the books our children read. But every child, to get the feeling of and respect for books and a very special sort of pleasure from them, should own at least some—from the time he is very young.

Christmas should leave in its wake some worthwhile books for your child, whether they are given by you or an interested relative or friend. But they should be the right books—and there are so many right ones, so many beautiful ones at small cost as well as big that it is a pity when the unsuitable ones are purchased.

If you are in need of help in making a selection we have three sources of suggestion for you:

There is "The Littlest Bookshelf," which is devoted especially to books for children over 5 and under 9, with a few older titles given. This has just been reprinted and we have at present a rather generous supply.

Then there is our list of "Books of the Outdoor World," which covers field, woods and sea.

Third, there is an additional list for boys and girls a little older, which is planned to meet their interests in various aspects of the world of nature—animals, plants, field and stream. This we might call the "Young Naturalist's" list.

Though these are all carefully chosen books, it is always well to go to your favorite book store, department store or library and look over the ones you are considering before investing your hard earned money—or your easily earned money, either.

Any one of these lists will be sent on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

IT'S A WISE WOMAN WHO USES CHIFFON POWDER

Powder's VERY important indeed these days. Because these very feminine gowns call for a natural make-up and the new hats show it off.

That's why you need a powder that looks natural . . . that gives your face FINISH instead of just covering it up. And that's why you'll like PRIMROSE CHIFFON POWDER. It has the rare gift of looking as if it were an actual part of your skin. It's as soft as velvet and as delicate as chiffon . . . yet it clings for hours without caking or clogging the pores.

We'll be glad to show you all the lovely shades.

Europe Shows Shell Shock Among Authors

Anthology Reveals Types of Post-War Work.

"The European Caravan," edited by [illegible]. [Brewer, Warren & Putnam.] Published today.

"THE EUROPEAN CARAVAN" is the first volume of anthology that is "concerned with that generation which, while it was not actually in the trenches, bore none the less an indelible imprint of the great struggle, . . . a generation without parallel in history."

This volume includes the culled works and mostly contemporary literary output of France, Spain, England, and Ireland. The editor says that he wishes to include only those writers that were actual participants in the war or those that felt its direct influence on their literature, since the exclusion of the literature of Scandinavia and the Balkans and the inclusion of that of Spain.

A detailed outline of the French section will be helpful because most of the literature of the other countries closely parallels the literary movements in France. In an introduction to this section by André Berge, Proust and Gide appear as the distant precursors of the modern spirit; but Apollinaire and Jean Cocteau are the more immediate and significant. The former coined the word surrealisme and is represented in this book by excerpts from his famous "Calligrammes." Jean Cocteau, who from time to time has been a member of the important literary movements in France, has of late joined the Neo-Thomists.

The strange and still incomprehensible revolution called Dada, began in 1916 and ending in 1920, is carefully analyzed, and the various manifestoes (to Tzara, its Rumanian founder, and Picabia) given space. Though there never were any consistent credos or distinguishable principles in this movement, except perhaps the principle of every Dadaist to destroy all conventional ideas of art and literature, and though the movement was characterized by the wildest and most puerile intellectual and emotional aberrations, it nevertheless had an almost incalculable influence on contemporary literature. The school itself died a sudden and complete death in 1920, all members deserting its ranks.

After the death of Dadaism in France there was an interlude of several years in which the "Jules Verne imaginative journey" reaction was seen in the writing of Mac Orlan and Giraudoux, at the same time the revived Dada influences was being reflected in poetry.

In 1924 came the crisis that expressed itself in a reaction against realism, against Anatole France, and in an emphasis on supernaturalism.

It is enough to mention a few names in Spain, England, and Ireland and let the reader look them up and classify them according to the groups and meanings that are given in the French section.

The Spanish prose precursors of the modern spirit as given here are Una mismo, Azorin, Ramon del Valle Inclan and Pio Baroja, and the poetic Antonio Machado and Jiminez. The young writers of Spain do not fall into as distinctive and separate groups as those of France. However, one outstanding movement, called Vanguardia, with its vitality and its emphasis on internationalism and a new romanticism, even with its many counter currents and branches, can be said to include most of the outstanding contemporary Spanish authors. This new generation centers of Ramon Perez de Ayala, Eugenio d'Ors, Ramon Gomez de la Serna, and Benjamin Jarnes among others are numerous to mention. The literary journalists who have international and constructionist tendencies are Salvator de Madariaga and E. Gimenez Caballero.

The section devoted to the English post-war literature has numerous excerpts from its representative authors, but the listing of categories and movements is not as clear as it might have been. Among the "new skirted" critics whose writings appear here are Herbert Read and Robert Gilbert; among the novelists Stephen Hudson, D. H. Lawrence, Virginia Woolf, and Dorothy Richardson; among the poets, William Empson, T. S. Eliot, Edgell Rickword, and Richard Aldington, and his wife, H. D. Ireland is represented by James Joyce, Kathleen Coyle, Geoffrey Taylor, Samuel B. Beckett, and Scotland by Hugh MacDiarmid.

This anthology is extremely valuable as a key to the modern experimental and striving spirit, and though the different sections are unevenly handled, the compilation is a competent and stimulating selection. The French part is the clearest and most informative.

One wonders rather acutely why Rebecca West was not included in the English list of important contemporary writers.

Horror, Thrills Compose Plot of Frankenstein

"FRANKENSTEIN."

Produced by Universal.
Directed by Jmaes Whale.
Presented at the State-Lake theater.

THE CAST.

Frankenstein ..... Colin Clive
Elizabeth ..... Mae Clarke
Victor ..... John Boles
The Monster ..... Boris Karloff
Dr. Waldman ..... Edward Van Sloan
The Dwarf ..... Dwight Frye
The Baron ..... Frederick Kerr
The Burgomaster ..... Lionel Belmore

By Mae Tinee.

Good morning!

Terror stalks on the State-Lake screen, for "Frankenstein" is a most blood curdling movie.

The horrible, grimly fascinating picture is an adaptation of the novel "Frankenstein, or the Modern Prometheus," by Mary Wollstonecraft Shelley, wife of the poet. The book was published back in 1817 and since then there have been many editions of this morbid psychological romance concerned with a man who decided to play God and create life.

From graves and gibbets and laboratories Frankenstein collects his grewsome materials. His experiments until he finds the powerful life giving ray which shall animate the cold flesh. The result of his activities is a soulless monster which pursues its maker and his loved ones relentlessly, leaving a path of horror and destruction in his wake.

The core of the picture plot is the same as that of the book, but the screen narrative differs in a number of respects from the original. In the former, the monster's killings are fewer and he is destroyed that there may be a M. E. In the book the ghastly creature pursues Frankenstein to the bitter end, driving the latter to self-destruction in an icebound sea while he, the only living thing unmade by God, jumps over the side of the ship, disappearing in the white mist and icy cold of the polar regions. I'm glad the movie's ending is less. I'll sleep better.

From start to finish "Frankenstein" is a compelling thing. It is acted with hair raising convincingness by a picked cast. Colin Clive—the Capt. Stanhope of "Journey's End"—is magnificent as the burning young scientist who knows no rest until he has concluded his experiment—and certainly none afterwards. As the monster, Boris Karloff is a terrible, terrible THING! Human, and yet not human! Animal—and yet—not all beast! Strange and dreadful the scene where he plays "daisy boats" with a smiling, trustful little girl. She throws a daisy in the water. He imitates her and does the same. And then. . . . ! No soul, has Frankenstein's monster—no soul, but an abnormal brain. The latter is brought to the master by his dwarf assistant who breaks the jar containing the normal one wanted and substitutes the criminal gray matter.

Mae Clarke as Frankenstein's sweetheart and John Boles as his bosom friend give understanding performances. Other roles are beautifully managed.

Under the astute direction of James Whale, who made "Journey's End," the picture's monstrous incidents unroll fearfully. The sets and scenery are something to remember and there are several unforgettable photographic shots. Note the night hunt for the escaped monster by mobs of enraged, horror stricken peasants over hills and dales, along river banks, and into the high mountains, where, at last—well, never mind!

If you want to see something "skeery"—see "Frankstein"—but for pity's sake leave the children at home.

An interesting experiment was being conducted in the projection room where I observed this picture. A sensation recording machine, on the order of the lie detector, was attached to the ankle of a young man and a young woman, respectively, idea being to register their reactions while looking at the film. The red line on the record—which looks like a player piano record—showed by its breaks, waves, etc., that the woman was considerably more affected by the picture than the man, whose reactions were satisfactory but not especially emotional. The lady grew most excited during a fight in the top of a mill on a mountain. (What a mill was doing on a mountain I couldn't figure out.)

See you tomorrow!

Official Contract

By Charles True Adams

(International bridge authority; author of "Official Contract at Sight.")

The other day a famous round the world flyer stated quite bluntly that aviation "stunts" such as his record breaking trip serve no useful purpose. However they might thrill the public and bring wealth to the flyer and promoter, they helped aviation not one whit.

While it cannot be denied that the spectacular type of bridge hand has certain value for instructive purposes, it occurs so infrequently that it is not of great use to the average player who seeks to improve his game. However, there is a great temptation to any one writing on the game to dwell on odd hands simply because they interest his readers.

I once knew an ardent follower of bridge who had spent many weeks in New York taking lessons from a well known bridge man. When he returned he handled squeezes, coups, and elimination plays with amazing ease. But he showed equal ability to muss up the ordinary type of hand.

Yesterday's play-a-problem was of the more ordinary type. There was nothing tricky about it. It simply needed careful and intelligent play. It was:

NORTH
♠—8
♥—J,10,9,8
♦—10,7,5,4
♣—A,K,7,2

WEST
♠—9,6,5,3
♦—A,Q,9

EAST
♥—Q
♦—8,6,3
♣—Q,10,8,3

SOUTH (Dealer)
♠—K,7,2
♥—A,K,5,4,3
♦—7,2
♣—J,7,4

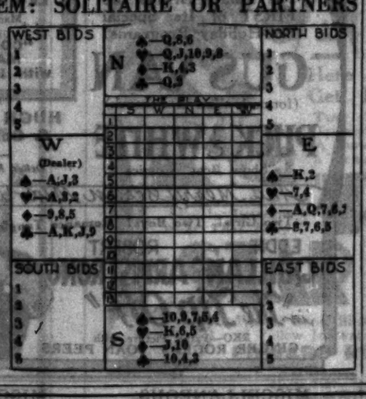
South dealt and opened the bidding with one heart. West passed. North bid three hearts and East bid three spades simply to annoy. South bid four hearts and all passed.

West opened with the ♣ 2, dummy played the 5, East the A, and South the 2. East then led the ♦ 8. South played the J, West the Q, and North the 4. West returned the ♣ 9, which North took with the K, East playing the 3 and South the 4. Dummy then led the ♥ J, East's Q came up, South played the K, and West the 3. South led the ♥ 2, West played the 6, dummy taking with the 8, while East discarded the ♣ 4. Dummy now led the ♦ 5, East played the 3, South the K, and West the A. West returned the ♣ 6, which dummy took with the ♣, East playing the ♣ 8 and South the J.

South now led the ♣ 2 from his dummy, East played the 10, and South trumped with the ♥ 4. West playing the ♣ 5. South now led the ♠ 7, West played the 5, dummy trumped with the ♥ 9, East playing the 10. Dummy now led the ♥ 10, clearing the suit, East discarding the ♣ J. Dummy took the next trick with the ♦ 10, and followed by leading his good ♦ 7. He then led the ♠ 7, which South trumped with the ♥ A.

Not a hard hand, to be sure, and yet many players who have had careful and successful coaching in all the spectacular features of the game would have made no more than eight tricks on this one.

PLAY-A-PROBLEM: SOLITAIRE OR PARTNERS



Play this hand tonight as your bridge game. Keep a record of the bid and play in the spaces provided. Numbers in the bidding squares for successive rounds. Check your results with tomorrow's answer.

To play "Solitaire": Record the bids you think each hand should make in the bidding squares. After the final declaration has been made start the play, leading from the hand at declarer's left. As you play each card cross it off at the diagram and record it with the proper notation, as S. S. E. K. etc. in the last column indicate the hand which won the cards and lead from that hand on the next round.

Send your bridge problems to Charles True Adams. The Chicago Tribune will be glad to consider suggestions.

Bridge League Adopts New Rules; Elects Von Zeidwitz as Head

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 3.—(AP)—A proposal to change the rules of the American Bridge league so clubs as well as individuals may be admitted to membership was adopted today at a business meeting.

The suggestion was made by George Reith of the Knickerbocker Whist club, New York, who declared there probably will be changes in the basic rules of bridge in two years. He said he believed under the new system the league will be better able to regulate the laws of the game.

Under the new system the doors of the organization will be open to three classes: Individuals, recognized clubs which will appoint regular delegates for national meetings, and associate clubs, whose influence in the league will not rank with that of the recognized clubs, but who will have some voice in proceedings.

Baron Waldemar von Zeidwitz of New York was elected president, succeeding Fred G. French of Philadelphia. Other officers chosen are: Vice president, Sir Derrick Wernher of Deal, N. J.; secretary, Frederick McKenney, Cleveland, O., and treasurer, E. J. Tobin, Chicago. Levis R. Ayres, Philadelphia, was made a member of the board of directors.

The women's organization of the league elected Mrs. Louise Needham of Greenville, N. C., president, and Mrs. F. H. Sims of Deal, N. J., vice president.

In proposing the changes in the membership rules Mr. Reith emphasized the fact that the league does not intend to sponsor any particular system of play or engage in factional arguments. He declared the league hopes to occupy a place in the bridge world similar to that of the United States Golf association in the golfing world, governing such things as penalties and rules of tournaments and interpreting the laws or changing them if necessary.

Mental Hygiene Meeting.

The Illinois Society for Mental Hygiene will hold its annual meeting at a dinner at 6:30 o'clock this evening at the Chicago Woman's club. Dr. C. M. Hincks, newly appointed director of the national committee for mental hygiene, will be the speaker.

BEG YOUR PARDON!

Edward P. Cole, 9750 Longwood avenue, who was quoted Tuesday concerning Daniel L. Gilday, who shot a 17 year old boy last Saturday, declared yesterday he had not made any public statement. He was questioned by Assistant State's Attorney Mal Coghlan about Gilday's former employment in Cole's father's firm, he said, and he merely answered questions without volunteering any information about the reformer.

Uncle Sam, as Doctor, Intends to Lead World

Ransdell Tells of Medical Center at Capital.

St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 3.—(AP)—The greatest research ever undertaken into cancer, common colds, heart disease, flu, pneumonia, and infantile paralysis is about to be sponsored by government authority.

The program was announced tonight by Joseph E. Ransdell, executive director of the new National Institute of Health at Washington, former United States senator from Louisiana. He outlined the plans at the annual dinner of the Radiological Society of North America.

DR. MAX J. HUBENY

The Institute of Public Health is the scientific research department of the United States public health service.

"In this institute," Ransdell said, "will be carried on new researches in cancer on a greater scale than ever before attempted, new investigations into the cause and cure of infantile paralysis and heart disease. There will be new studies of the common cold, of influenza and pneumonia.

"Here will be made new discoveries; new and better methods of cure and treatment will be found to replace those now in use, and new and greater safeguards of health in general will be devised.

"Although remarkable advances have been made in the war for health by individual scientists, by private and governmental institutions, no agency ever has been founded on earth for combatting disease on so comprehensive a scale as the National Institute of Health.

"It centers in the nation's capital all the country's medical and scientific resources for combatting disease and creates in Washington a clearing house of health for all the world. Under the surgeon general of the United States will be marshaled the nation's experts in medicine, surgery, psychiatry, dentistry, chemistry, physics, radiology, biology, bacteriology, pharmacology, pharmacy, and allied professions."

The scientific staff includes, said Ransdell, the public health service famous for discovering the cause and cure of pellagra, discoveries in spotted fever, tularemia, cancer cell metabolism, and the structure of sugars.

"This institute and the act creating it," the senator continued, "provides radiology, one of the younger and more remarkable sciences, opportunity to render a priceless service through research activities upon cancer."

The Radiological society's two gold medals were presented respectively to Max J. Hubeny, M. D., of Chicago for distinguished services in X-rays and radium, and to Carlos Heuser, M. D., of Buenos Aires, Argentina, for X-ray developments useful for studying the internal organs of women.

Bazaar to Aid Deaf.

The Chicago League for the Hard of Hearing will hold its twelfth annual bazaar today and tomorrow on the 5th floor of the De Paul building at 64 East Lake street. Mrs. Louise Steiner of 6200 Kenmore avenue is chairman and Miss Anna Juergens co-chairman.

EDWARD COLLINS AS STOCK SOLOIST HELPS PLAY HIS OWN MUSIC

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Edward Collins, Chicago pianist and composer, was the soloist with the Chicago Symphony orchestra last night, appearing in the first capacity when he played the Haydn Concerto in D, and in both when he played his own concert piece for piano and orchestra, a first performance by the way.

He who would play Haydn with approbation must have agile and neatly coordinated fingers. Mr. Collins has them. He who would compose with approbation must have the power to invent a musical idea of some importance and the skill to build it up in a notable manner. Mr. Collins has these also.

He describes his composition as a large work "in miniature," explaining that because his thematic material is not worked over, what might have been a symphonic work is now condensed and episodic. Apparently he has hit upon a workable formula.

He speaks the contemporary musical idiom fluently, which is a good thing, but he has something striking to say with it, which is a better one. The particular idiom is, after all, not so important as long as it is expertly handled; the matter of the composition is highly important. Mr. Collins would seem to have made a tonic and stimulating addition to piano literature. His concert piece is full of vitality, its melodic material is excellent, and it wastes no time. Also he is a pianist and consequently an interpreter of much more than ordinary ability.

Mr. Stock constructed an orchestral program entirely in consonance with the solo numbers. Mozart's "Elopement from the Seraglio" Overture and Beethoven's Fourth Symphony went with the Haydn Concerto, Rimsky-Korsakow's "Capriccio Espagnol" with Mr. Collins' work. The Beethoven Symphony in particular was one of the fine, sincere performances that Mr. Stock and the orchestra are in the habit of doing as a matter of course.

A repetition of "Tosca" at the Civic Opera house last night brought Iva Pacetti for the first time into the name part, in company with Jan Kiepura and Vanni-Marcoux and the rest of the cast who did it before. Mme. Pacetti has been credited with excellent performances in other operas; this role was one of the best.

Time and another assignment permitted my presence at only the first act, but in this she was good looking far beyond the average, she was continued in a way that won the entire approval of the feminine members of the audience, everything that she did by voice and gesture was highly expressive, and everything that she did was full of charm. Admitting that her voice was not as powerful as those of other artists who have sung the part, it was what she did with it that excited approval. By bits of by-play, half-shadings, she made everything full of meaning, and, more than that, logical meaning.

Wherefore she, Mr. Kiepura, and Mr. Vanni-Marcoux started the opera on what bid fair to be a greatly attractive performance.

Epworth League Leaders Open 5 Day Conference

More than 100 deans and leaders of the 170 Epworth league summer institutes throughout the country opened a five day conference yesterday at the Knickerbocker hotel. These institutes, such as that located at Lake Geneva, have shown a remarkable growth during the last few years. John C. Irwin, associate editor of the Epworth Herald, speaking of this development stated that last summer more than 40,000 teen age boys and girls were registered.

Healthy Pupils Help to Build City of Futur

Bundesen Points to Soo Chicago Assets.

Every city needs strong, healthy children more than it needs new structures of steel and stone, Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, health commissioner, said yesterday in comparing the work of the Hungry School Children's fund to the upbuilding of a community.

"Malnutrition is not so obvious as many ills of childhood, but it is more real and far reaching in its results," he commented. "Just as any edifice needs a solid foundation, so the children of today need the strength and normal physique to carry on for future generations. THE TRIBUNE is to be highly commended for the service it is performing in taking over this work when the school teachers could no longer support it.

"The whole world knows that tragedy of the starved children of Europe during the great war. The bodies of these children, now just entering the adolescent age, still bear the marks of that period of starvation and later resulting disease. Out of this group will come the future victims of tuberculosis and other constitutional diseases. Many of them will never be self-supporting—always a public care.

"We are not now in the midst of a war, but the effects of the present depression and poverty will be the same on the health of our children, unless ways and means are found to provide them with sufficient nourishing food. Even in the judgment of a physician, as a rule, these children are not really sick; yet they are unable to stand the strain of work intended for the normal child. I am sure every teacher will bear me out in this, especially since there has been so much opportunity lately to observe these undersfed children in the school rooms.

"In certain districts of Chicago, the school rooms are full of children, victims of malnutrition, who never seem to play or act like happy, active, normal children. The lack pep. Their appetites are poor. They are the ones who are so often ailing, and usually the first to catch any sickness that is 'going around.' They start off bravely in the morning, but before the day is over, are completely worn out. Perhaps they don't eat. Or their desire, naturally! They haven't the necessary strength and energy.

"A mind, to be keen and active, must be housed in a body that is supplied with plenty of good, red blood. That blood comes from plenty of good, nourishing food. Unless we can keep these bodies well and strong by means of plenty of nourishing food during the coming winter, there will be a tremendous increase in tuberculosis and other diseases, and later on we'll have the expense of educating these boys and girls again as 'repeaters.' Better an ounce of prevention now, than pounds of trouble later."

Lawyer Renews the Controversy on Washington

Hutchinson, Kas., Dec. 3.—(AP)—J. Dumont Smith, chairman of the American Bar association's Americanization committee, renewed his attack today on Prof. Albert Bushnell Hart's pamphlet, "Washington as President." Mr. Smith previously had characterized it as "erroneous and libelous."

Replying by letter to statements in published interviews in which the professor emeritus of history at Harvard university defended the booklet against Smith's criticisms, the Hutchinson lawyer declared "the whole tone of the pamphlet is derogatory. Aside from the many misstatements, it belittles Washington, instead of exalting him. The English of it is careless, slovenly and in places unintelligible."

Recalling the assertion, attributed to Prof. Hart in an interview, that he had checked every statement of the pamphlet "three times," Smith wrote:

"I suppose you have rechecked your statement that Washington's service in the revolutionary army was seven years when all the histories show it was eight and a half years; that the population of the country in 1790 was three millions, when the government census says it was approximately four million. You admit that Washington spent more than his alleged 'salary' in executive expense. Why did you not put that in your pamphlet, instead of giving the impression he received an enormous salary clear to him? You admit that instead of being wealthy in money he was kind poor and hard up for ready money when he became President. Why did you not tell the truth in your pamphlet?

"When you quoted those derogatory statements about Washington breaking down in his inaugural address and by his austerity stifling all conversation at a dinner, why did you not give the name of the author, MacLay, Washington's most bitter, unscrupulous, and untruthful enemy, next to the infamous Freneau?

"I know that some college professors from the height of their wisdom look down upon Washington. One of them not long ago told my friend James M. Beck that Washington was a good man but a dull man. God send us more dull men like Washington and a few professors of that type."

BOOK AUCTION SALE TO AID DISPENSARIES AT NORTHWESTERN

A book auction under the auspices of the Woman's auxiliary of the Northwestern University Medical school, will be held on Saturday afternoon, Dec. 12, in Lincoln hall, Northwestern Law school, 357 East Chicago avenue.

Proceeds of the sales will go to the combined dispensaries of the medical school. Of the 117,000 visits made to the dispensaries, only 40 per cent were paid for, and it is hoped to reduce the deficit by the auction.

Hundreds of books and original manuscripts and documents will be offered. There will be first edition copies of authors as well as valuable historic books and manuscripts. The contributions of local literary men and women will be plentiful. Among original works to be auctioned are some by Carl Sandburg, Harriet Monroe, Morris Fishbein, Christopher Morley, and Thornton Wilder. Fine editions of the works of famous writers include Chaucer and Shakespeare. Franklin and Lincoln items will be sold, too, including a document bearing Lincoln's signature.

Don't Pay

If This Fails to Knock Your Cold in Few Hours

Feel Like a New Person Almost Before You Know It

Hill's Cascara Quinine is GUARANTEED to knock a cold in a jiffy. To relieve the pain, to break up tightness. If it fails, you pay nothing.

This guarantee is made to prove to those who have tried fifty ways to end a cold, that the surest way is to go back to first principles and use something that you KNOW does the work.

Take two tablets now. Then follow directions on box. Drink lots of water, too—that's all. You'll feel like a new person almost before you know it. Pain eased, congestion broken; your mind cleared and yourself ready to go back on the job with a wallop.

That's because Hill's is a scientific formula made to DO ONE THING WELL: to knock colds in a hurry—not to cure a score of different troubles.

Costs only a few cents at any drug store. Get package now. Your money back if it fails. Try it—you'll be glad that you did.

Too Strict Adherence to Rules of Decorum May Result in Sorrow

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"Constance" has been engaged for over a year. She planned to marry last June. Fate and financial conditions intervened. The young man's brother died. He had lived in another state. It seemed the best move for Constance's fiancé to go and take over the deceased brother's business.

He now wants the girl to come to his state and marry him. But her parents throw hysterics at the idea of a girl going to a man to marry him. They exact the last farthing of convention, regardless of the circumstances involved.

The surprise is not that parents cling so tenaciously to their hide-bound conventions, but that young folk are persuaded by them the way they so frequently are. Not that we're out to advocate convention-breaking as a popular pastime among the young. But there are circumstances under which Dame Grundy and her book of rules could be happily disposed of with one good lurch over the wall.

Older folk are in the position to know that there arise certain situations in life that can be met respectably without concession to a formal set of rules. In fact, the older and wiser one grows, the more one learns that the head must act in place of rules if the rules don't conform to good sense. We all have been guilty of conceding a point here and there, and so long as it has been kept within the boundaries of decency no damage results. In fact, profit has been the reward, frequently.

So, one can only register impatience with parents who hold to the hide-bound marriage formalities when the circumstances would thoroughly justify another line of conduct, as they do in this case where the money factor has to be considered, and the responsibilities of a business just recently adopted.

The truth is that any number of times parents swoop down with the objections in the name of convention, when what they are actually serving is their own personal desires. They want to be part and parcel of the wedding. It's human that they would want to be, of course.

JUDGE LAUDS SCOUTS FOR GETTING CLOTHING TO HELP THE NEEDY

Chicago Boy Scouts have assailed the problem of clothing the unemployed this winter with the same effectiveness and determination to do their bit—and more, that always has characterised their work. That was indicated in an open letter to all local scout troops from Judge John P. McGoorty, head of the civic service department of the Chicago scout council.

The letter referred to the drive for useable old clothing for the aid of the destitute. The scouts undertook the task of securing for each troop a definite quota of garments. Harry K. Eby, extension director of the council, states that many of the 700 troops of the city already have far exceeded the amount expected of them. Judge McGoorty's letter says:

"At the time of tornadoes, floods and other disasters throughout the country, the scouts have been constantly on the job, untiringly, and often heroically, performing the many tasks assigned to them. If one of these disasters should strike Chicago, thousands of scouts, within an hour, would be ready for duty regardless of how hard or tiresome the task. Chicago can depend upon its scouts!

"With winter approaching clothing will be badly needed to save men, women and children from intense suffering and death. Your scout masters have been given complete information on the plan of cooperation. Every scout should report to his scoutmaster at once. You are needed."

Women Voters Enjoy Lecture on Manchuria

It isn't often that one has an opportunity to learn about a foreign situation of interest to the entire world in such an illuminating and amusing manner as the members of the Lake Shore League of Women Voters and their guests learned yesterday about Manchuria.

All too few and far between are members who are able to explain so clearly and interestingly a political knotty as Mrs. James W. Morrisson at yesterday at the luncheon meeting held at the Casino.

Mrs. Morrisson was introduced by the president of the league, Mrs. Augusta A. Carpenter, in a charming manner as "Mary Morrisson, whom to whom not as a speaker but as a friend," and it was in a friendly sort of way that Mrs. Morrisson told something of the aims and work of the Institute on Pacific Relations which has just had its fourth biennial meeting in Shanghai, and of the Manchurian tangle in which China and Japan are involved today.

Mrs. Morrisson is a vice president of the Institute and she is on her way home to Groton, Conn., from the meeting now. She lived in Chicago until very recently and as Mrs. Carpenter said yesterday, "Chicago always will claim her." Mrs. Morrisson stressed the impartial attitude of the institute, and her own impartiality and fairness were evident in her explanation of the clash of Japanese and Chinese, and perhaps Russian, economic interests which have caused the trouble in Manchuria.

She feels very strongly that if the United States had been in the world court and if Japan had taken to that court its grievances against China before the Japanese military power started in and "upset the apple cart" in Manchuria, the present difficulty would have been prevented. Mrs. Morrisson did not conclude her talk with "ifs," however, for she is optimistic and feels sure that somehow the situation will be settled to the satisfaction of both Japan and China.

"Manchuria" in Charming Setting at Casino Club.

The charming apple green and white and silver dining room of the Casino in which the "Manchurian" luncheon was given was crowded to its utmost capacity, some of those there being Mrs. Ralph B. Treadway of Glen Ellyn, state president of the League of Women Voters; Mrs. Quincy Wright, who made a brief talk on the work of the league before Mrs. Morrisson spoke; Mrs. Ralph T. Winston, Mrs. William P. Hunt, Miss Marie Roost, Mrs. Charles W. Dempster, Mrs. W. Scott Linn, Mrs. Helen Walton, Mrs. Wilhelm L. Baum, Mrs. Herbert Bradley, Mrs. Tracy C. Drake, Miss Helen Drake, Dr. Rachel Farrer, Mrs. Ira J. Couch, Mrs. John S. Coonley, Mrs. Walter Re Kirk, Mrs. Carroll H. Sudler, Mrs. Charles S. Reed, Miss Lucy Belle Dunham, Mrs. Lyman T. Walker, Mrs. Charles H. Wacker, Mrs. Mitchell D. Follansbee, Miss Joanna Fortune, and Mrs. George S. Packard.

Mrs. Morrisson, who is visiting the A. A. Carpenters at 1130 Lake Shore drive, is having her engagement pad filled during her stay. The Carpenters gave a dinner for her Tuesday night, Mrs. William Gold Hibbard of Winnetka was a dinner hostess for her last night, and tonight the Mitchell D. Follansbees will entertain at dinner for her.

Many of those at the Casino for luncheon went on at 3:30 to the Fortnightly benefit of the Joint Emergency Relief fund, which is richer today by $3,200 as a result of the beautiful and successful musical given by Mme. Claire Dux at the Fortnightly yesterday. Mrs. Cyrus Hall McCormick, chairman, and the others of the committee in charge were beaming with pride and pleasure at having exceeded the Fortnightly's quota. Mrs. Arthur Meeker gave a large luncheon at her residence preceding the musical. "Everybody" seemed to be there, each in her best "bib and tucker" and it was a delightful party as well as a great success financially, with tea served after the program.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C. Dec. 3.—[Special.]—President and Mrs. Hoover gave the first of the official White House functions of the season this evening when they gave the annual dinner to the cabinet. Arrangements were much as they have been in other years and the dinner was followed by a musicale to which additional guests were invited. The table laid in the state dining room was set with the gold service, quantities of California fruit filling the smaller dishes on the table and in the vases gay pink chrysanthemums and pink snapdragons.

Among the dinner guests were Secretary and Mrs. Stimson, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, Secretary of War and Mrs. Hurley, Attorney General and Mrs. Mitchell, Postmaster General and Mrs. Brown, Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Adams, Secretary of the Interior and Mrs. Wilbur, Secretary of Commerce and Mrs. Lamont, Secretary of Labor and Mrs. Doak, Senator and Mrs. James J. Davis, Representative Ruth Pratt, Gov. and Mrs. Clayton Douglass Buck of Delaware, former Postmaster General and Mrs. Harry S. New, Mrs. James W. Good, widow of the late secretary of war, Mrs. Nicholas Brady of New York, Mrs. Margaret Deland, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Durant, Dr. and Mrs. Livingston Ferrand, Miss Edna Ferber, Dr. and Mrs. Simon Flexner, the Rev. and Mrs. Harry E. Fosdick, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Frey, Walter S. Gifford, Mr. and Mrs. Cass Gilbert of New York, Dr. and Mrs. E. M. Hopkins, Mr. and Mrs. Eldridge R. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius F. Kelley, Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Ketterling, Miss Gertrude B. Lane, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Lorimer, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick S. Peck of Providence, Mr. and Mrs. E. Lansing Day, Mr. A. W. Shaw, Dr. and Mrs. George E. Vincent, the Rev. Edmund A. Walsh, S. J., Mr. and Mrs. Clarence M. Woolley of New York, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wright and the naval and military aides to the President, Capt. Russell Train and Col. Campbell P. Hodges.

St. Chrysostom's Women's Guild Has Parish Sale.

The Women's guild of St. Chrysostom's had a parish sale yesterday afternoon of utilitarian articles such as aprons, wash rags, towels, a few fancy articles, and cakes and candies. There were only three tables and no decorations, very different from the big bazaars usually given each year before Christmas by the guild of this fashionable church, but the women decided this year to forego having the bazaar and to have a simple parish sale, such as their mothers and grandmothers used to have, no doubt.

Mrs. Harold C. Smith was in charge of the food table, Miss Margaret Knapp, president of the guild, of the utility table, and Mrs. D. Mark Cummings and Mrs. Bruce Borland of the fancy goods. Serving as waitresses at the turkey dinner, which followed the sale, were Mrs. William E. Parsons, Mrs. George R. Foster, Mrs. Nathaniel Owings, Mrs. Edward Hersey, Mrs. Press Hodgkins, Miss Emily and Miss Helen Pope, Miss Phyllis Walsh, Miss Margaret James, Miss Barbara Neff, Miss Marguerite Foster, Miss Louise Brewer, Miss Jane Schuttler, Miss Martha Fitts, and Miss Virginia Semple. Tea dance, which in other years followed the supper, also was discontinued this year.

Tonight the "debbies" and their beaux will dance at the Casino at a dinner dance being given by Edgar J. Uihlein for his daughter, Paula, who was presented to society at a tea on Nov. 7, and last night the same young people made merry in the same club at a dinner dance given for Miss Polly Perry, debutante daughter of the L. Newton Perrys. Mrs. James C. Hutchins, Mrs. George R. Nichols, and Mrs. Bruce Borland were the hostesses at last night's party.

Miss Perry was as fresh and youthful looking as a "bud" should be in a green shaded marquisette frock. It is a thorough mystery to all their elders how the debutantes each season manage to remain so fresh looking and to retain their "pep" and enthusiasm for the whole season for they do have such a whirl each year. Youth is the answer, no doubt.

Early Chinese Art Show Opens at Arts Club Today.

Mrs. Charles W. Hubbard, Mrs. Charles F. Kelley, Mrs. Alfred E. Hamill, Mrs. Charles W. Dempster, Mrs. Potter Palmer, Mrs. Joseph Adams, Mrs. Berthold Laufer and Mrs. John Paul Welling will act as hostesses today at the tea to be given at the Arts club to open an exhibition of early Chinese art.

After the concert today society will have its choice of three teas to open art exhibits, for in the Walden galleries in the Palmolive building Mrs. Merrill Hubbard and Miss Eleanor Holden are giving a tea for Edgar Britton, who has painted their portraits and now is doing one of the unusual looking Mrs. Philip Maher, and in the Albert Roullier galleries in the Fine Arts building Miss Alice Roullier, Mrs. Walter S. Brewster, Mrs. Charles H. Schweppe and others are receiving to open an exhibit of original drawings by Jack Stark of Santa Barbara and Silver City.

The Lighthouse Volunteer Aids will meet this morning at 11 o'clock at the Drake. Mrs. William R. Freer of Lake Forest is chairman of the committee in charge of arranging the programs which are given for the men at the Lighthouse one evening each month.

University of Chicago Opens Oriental Institute Tomorrow.

Society, at least that portion of it which is actively interested in the University of Chicago, seems to be going south very often these days for there are so many attractive events at the university now. Tomorrow morning the formal dedication and opening of the new Oriental Institute headquarters building on the quadrangles will take place at 11 o'clock and it is safe to predict that every one of the 300 invited guests will be there for the occasion is a significant one in the history of what has become the largest archeological organization in the world.

The institute operates from this new and unique headquarters a series of twelve field expeditions working in Turkey, Syria, Palestine, Iraq (both north and south), Persia, and Egypt—a front of some 3,500 miles. The creation of the institute by its director, Dr. James H. Breasted, was made possible by 1919 through the generosity of John D. Rockefeller Jr.

The dedication and opening exercises will be held in the institute's lecture hall, and after an inspection of the exhibition halls Dr. Breasted will give a "stag" luncheon at the Quadrangle club. His Excellency Seyyid Bidarouss Bashai Egyptian minister to Washington, Harold H. Swift, John H. Finley, Raymond R. Fosdick, Stanley Field, Thomas E. Donnelley, Benjamin C. Bissell, Dr. Frank R. Lillie, Henry Field, Dr. Charles W. Gilkey, Dr. Charles H. Judd, Dr. Gordon J. Laing, Dean Chauncey S. Boucher, and Charles Breasted.

John Alden Carpentar is to be complimented by the Bohemians with a dinner on Sunday evening, Jan. 10, in the ballroom of the Palmer house, for which invitations will be mailed tomorrow. All money accruing from the dinner will go towards the philanthropic fund of the Bohemians for the aid of needy musicians.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, Dec. 3.—[Special.]—Mrs. Willard S. Brown gave a luncheon yesterday in the Georgian room of the Hotel Pierre for Lady Hon. Moya Beresford, daughter of Lord Decies.

Mr. and Mrs. George B. De Forest are at the Drake for the winter.

Mrs. George Cabot Lodge returned today from Beverly farms.

Mr. and Mrs. John Du Pais have come from Newport to their town house for the winter.

Mrs. Ansel Phelps gave a luncheon yesterday in the Georgian room of the Hotel Pierre for Mrs. Julian S. L. Humphreys.

Mrs. Theodore F. Whitemarsh of the Plaza gave a luncheon there yesterday followed with contract bridge in her apartment.

Art Institute Tea.

The Print and Drawing club of the Art Institute will hold a tea this afternoon to open the third international exhibition of lithographs and wood engravings.

End Rheumatism Pain in 10 Hours or Pay Nothing

If discouraged from pain of rheumatism, neuritis, lumbago, or sciatica, stop drugging your system. It only upsets your stomach and endangers your heart.

Instead, send to your nearest druggist for Rhuma-Jell, a simple salve. Spread on liberally, apply to painful parts overnight (10 hours). If it fails to halt the most severe rheumatic or muscular pain, your money back without question.

Get Rhuma-Jell at any Walgreen drug store. In towns outside Chicago Rhuma-Jell will be sent on receipt of $1.25. Address: Walgreen Co., 4194 Cottage Grove, Chicago.

Admission.....$1, $2, and $3

Tickets on sale at Catholic Youth organization office, 30 North La Salle; Spalding's, Lyon & Healy, the Hub and Chicago Stadium until 3 p. m. After 3 p. m. at Chicago Stadium box office.

BY FRENCH LANE.

A crowd that is expected to number between 18,000 and 20,000 will watch 24 boys fight it out for the Catholic Youth organization's amateur boxing championships at the Chicago Stadium tonight.

There will be 24 bouts on the program, which will open at 8 o'clock when Andrew McCahan of the west side and Clement Ducobu of the north side, a pair of shifty middleweights, crawl through the ropes and start tossing gloves in each other's direction.

The first 16 bouts will conclude the semi-final round. Then there will follow eight battles which will decide the championships.

1,613 Started; 32 Left.

While the tournament has been confined to the best Catholic amateur boxers throughout the Chicago archdiocese, it has caught on with the public and, except for THE TRIBUNE'S Golden Gloves tournaments of the last few years, will attract the greatest crowd that has ever watched an amateur boxing show in this part of the country.

The 32 boys who battle tonight are the survivors of an original field of 1,613. For two months, directed by Pauley McFarland and other boxing luminaries, these lads have been fighting their way up through the ranks for a chance at the championships. Their reward will be a gold medal sent here from the Vatican City and also a trip to California starting shortly after Christmas.

Three Golden Glove Champions.

Many champions, including three from the ranks of TRIBUNE Golden Glove encounters, have earned the right to fight for the titles. The former Golden Glove stars in the championship scramble are Scotty Sylvano, Leo Rodak, and Joe Roman. The Golden Glove stars represent three different teams. Rodak is the captain of the south district team and will be fighting for the first time as a 118 pounder. He was the Golden Glove champion in the 112 pound division, but since he won the title has taken on some weight.

Every parish in the Chicago archdiocese was represented by a team when the preliminary bouts got under way two months ago. The tournament has been strictly a survival of the best conditioned and hardest punching lads. The early rounds have thrilled many thousands of spectators, but the best and most exciting boxing of the whole tournament will come tonight, when the championships are dangling directly in front of the boys.

Three Round Limit.

Three round bouts will be the rule throughout tonight's program. A new Amateur Athletic union rule provides that all amateur bouts must terminate at the end of three rounds and a decision must be awarded. The 16 semi-final bouts will be three rounds of two minutes each. In the championship matches there will be three rounds of three minutes each. Officials of the A. A. U. believe the longer bouts will speed up the action and will give the boys who are skilled in the minute a better chance to display their skill. Before the new rule went into effect four round bouts were permitted when the issue was not at the end of three rounds.

The big boys are to see action first tonight's matches. There will be no middleweight bouts run off as the show opens, then will come two lightweight battles. Next the featherweights will see action. Then will be a parade of the little boys, starting with the 112 poundars. As the semi-final scraps are ended, the order will be followed in the championship rounds.

Society Leaders to Attend.

A colorful audience will watch the bouts. Society will see the show from the ringside, men high in the affairs of Chicago will be on hand, many members of the church will be present, each parish in the Chicago archdiocese will send a delegation, and the neighborhood kids will turn out to cheer their idols. The bouts are conducted by Amateur Athletic union officials, with Harry Bern, [illegible] of many A. A. U. champion-

Big 10 Chiefs Open 2-Day Meet Today

Officials and coaches of the western conference will hold their annual winter schedule meetings today and tomorrow at the Hotel Sherman. The football coaches are the only group which will not be present. The 1932 football schedule was arranged last spring and the 1933 schedule will be adopted at the annual outdoor track meet next spring.

The faculty representatives also will assemble tonight at the University club at 8 o'clock. Later they will hold a joint session with athletic directors and Mal. John L. Griffith, Big Ten commissioner.

Big Ten schedules will be adopted for track, tennis, golf, hockey, swimming, wrestling, gymnastics, baseball, and fencing. While the basketball coaches will hold a business meeting, the cage schedules for this winter already have been completed.

Boy, 12, Dies

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Dec. 3—(AP)—Injured in a sand lot football game here three weeks ago, Steve Allos, 12 years old, died today from concussion of the brain. His was the thirty-second football death in the nation this fall.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 3.—Somehow, every one who has contributed to the fury of a game which has taken the lives of 32 athletes this fall must feel a vague sense of responsibility, as though the game would have been less swift and technical and the damage less severe if the public interest had been more casual.

The coaches, to draw their customers and hold their jobs—and there are no good coaching jobs with teams which do not draw large crowds—have refined and sped up the game and the players, themselves, in a great competition for glory, have been imbued with a sacrificial spirit which certainly would have been less active if they had been playing in comparative privacy.

It's Even in Press Coops.

Even in the press coops this excitement and straining is noticeable and sport writers who have been rattling around the leagues in the Pullmans for years, when the big game is going, twist themselves out of shape trying to write tremendously about something which is tremendous only in the imagination of all concerned. I will not argue with any one who wishes to contend that we do it pretty badly, but that may be due in part to overtrying.

It may be impossible to play football in moderation and still make the varsity, but the quality of the holy war which has been characteristic of this sport for years is not written into the rules nor is it inherent in the game.

The casualty list of this season does not seem to be traceable to any unsuspected man-trap in the rules, but there has been no tabulation of the 32 fatalities purporting to state the type of play in which each victim was killed or mortally hurt. There certainly was no reason to anticipate any more killing this year than in other recent years when the expectable ten or a dozen tragedies were charged in advance to bad condition, lack of skill and sheer accident, and calmly accepted as unavoidable wear and tear.

Seek Fatal Play.

Then, without warning, a lot of kids were dead. Still, nobody had any premonition that there would be more accidents and when Connie Murphy of Fordham brought the total to 31, dying of an injury to his brain, the coaches, the officials who conduct the games, and others, began searching the record for some similarity in the mishaps which would suggest a fault in the conditions of play.

The officials of the New York region held a meeting and decided to recommend the restoration of the tee on the kickoff to make for height in the kicks and enable the kicking side to send men down the field with the ball.

Said Tom Thorpe, a veteran of the push-and-pull days of football, who closed out his playing career the year before Theodore Roosevelt summoned the football people to the White House and told them to modify their game:

"The two fatalities in the east occurred on kickoff plays. With the clay tee forbidden, the kick-off goes fast and low and the wedge forms about the man returning the ball and

TRAINING TABLES.

THE WAKE suggests to Western conference universities that restoration of the training table for varsity football squads be authorized. If they are not willing to go that far, we suggest that colleges be authorized to serve to their gridiron squads one nutritious meal a day, warm and palatable. This practice, we understand, obtains in the Pacific Coast conference.

There are two reasons for this suggestion. One is that many boys do not receive the right kind of dinner after their hard football practice. Another is that many boys do not receive sufficient food during their season of training. Let's talk of these reasons separately.

Football practice at most colleges cannot begin before 4 o'clock on account of classes. It's seldom over before 5:30 at the earliest, after which is the shower, then hurried trips to distant fraternity or boarding houses where dinner is served at 6 or 6:15 o'clock. Often the player finds his food cold. Often, it is still too soon after his violent exercise. Often it is not the kind of food to restore the energy he has dissipated in practice.

Again, it may surprise many persons to know that often football players do not receive enough food of good quality because of their finances. This is contrary to some views that all athletes are "paid" or otherwise indirectly aided.

From inquiries made this fall, we learned that on an average about half the members of all varsity squads were working their way through college, either wholly or in part. Coaches tell you poor boys make the best material on the average. The time they give to football reduces the time they may give to earning money and keeping up in their studies. Of course, it may be argued they do not have to play football. That is true, but they love it and value it more than the boy who has other social ambitions.

Several years ago at Iowa a noted lineman let down notably in his play. He lost his aggressiveness. When asked why by the coaches he was reticent. Finally he admitted he had no money and was not eating regularly. At Illinois recently an athlete was asked how he managed to exist on the small sum he received in caring for a furnace. He replied he and his roommate did their own cooking. Their principal item of diet was cooked canned beans and bread because they were cheap.

Capt. Albie Booth of Yale has been ordered to a rest cure. His physicians say his system was weakened by working his way through prep school and college while participating in athletics. Possibly he should have given up athletics. He didn't but sacrificed other things.

These cases cited, probably not general, are not, however, isolated instances. There are many football players who do not receive proper food, either through financial or other reasons.

Messrs. Conference Professors, The Wake is sure the cause of amateurism would not receive a fatal or foul blow if these boys, who bring thousands of dollars into athletic treasuries, were given from the funds they earn one adequate meal a day at a training table, there assembled in informal association which could not fail to build up team morale.

Talking it Over

BY ARCH WARD.

Thirty-two boys step into the ring at Chicago Stadium tonight to decide who are the toughest and bravest of the 1,600 who started in the amateur boxing tournament of the Catholic Youth organization several weeks ago.

All that trouble in Manchuria could be settled in one evening if they would move these battlers into the front lines. There will be more firing for two hours tonight than the boxing world has seen since America's Golden Glove winners whipped the champions of France at Soldiers' field last May.

Amateur boxing was adopted by the Catholic Youth organization after its value had been demonstrated in the Golden Glove tournaments. George Cardinal Mundelein and the Rt. Rev. Bernard J. Sheil, who have sponsored the Catholic meet, see in the sport a means of combating the influences of soft living and the pernicious effects of anti-social doctrines among modern youth with too much time on its hands. They also believe it serves as a counter attack upon the inroads of ignoble pacifism.

Bishop Sheil, in a statement to newspaper men a few days ago, remarked:

"We are trying to teach our boys that it is only by the development of fair play, nobility of character, self-reliance, and other Spartanlike qualities that they may continue to enjoy the blessings which were purchased by the hardships of their forbears. Modern youth is fundamentally just as good and wholesome as the youth of any other age, but modern youth is not accustomed to hardship.

"The entire system of supervised recreation is based on the supposition that if we keep our youth occupied with useful and healthful sports during their free time we will be building a better citizenship. Experience has shown this is a good principle on which to work. We are investing for the future and we are confident that dividends in health and happiness and patriotism will be paid."

Among the thirty-two who will fight it out tonight for championships are three boys who have made good in the biggest and most grueling of all amateur meets—the Golden Gloves. Two of them, Leo Rodak and Scotty Sylvano, are intercity champions. The other, Joe Roman, was one of the best boys of his weight last season.

Amid the discussion following Purdue's victory over Northwestern in the charity game last Saturday protrudes the charge that the Wildcats used five men in their back field.

Questioned as to how Northwestern could get by with five men in the back field, the governor explained:

"Yes, they had five, all right. They were Lewis, Rentner, Meenan, Olson, and Cokie Miller."

Miller, in case you haven't been reading the lineups the last three years, is Purdue's center. He played an all-American game at Soldiers' field, but it seems that most of the boys who still pick all star teams had made their selections before they had heard about him.

* * *

The following was submitted by J. R. S.: "Every time I read about the country's leading football scorers, Davis Elkins, I get hot under the collar. Why do eastern sport writers make so much over the fact that this third rate eleven ran amuck over some of the weakest teams in the country?

"Davis Elkins came west and was soundly thrashed by St. Louis university. Even Illinois beat St. Louis.

"I wish Northwestern or Purdue would line up Bradley, Lake Forest, Wabash, Monmouth, De Paul, Butler, and the Kansas Aggies just so those men in the east would really have something to write about."

CAN IRISH WHIP WORLD? SAY YES AT MT. CARMEL

Harrison Tech a Team of Many Nationalities.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The Irish against the rest of the world. That's the lineup when Mount Carmel plays Harrison Tech for the Chicago high school football championship Saturday afternoon at Soldiers' field.

Mount Carmel, undefeated winner of the Parochial High School league, boasts of a lineup predominantly Irish. The Durkins, Kellys, Dillons, Carneys, O'Sheas, O'Malleys, Callahans, and McKiernans are represented on the Mount Carmel team. Some of the other lads may be Irish, too, but their names are not as easily recognizable as these grandsons of Erin.

But They Can Play the Game.

There's not an Irishman on the Harrison team, although the Techs are coached by a Daugherty. But that doesn't mean that the west side boys can't play football. It's been quite a spell since the Irish had a corner on the football market. Even at Notre Dame, the home of the fighting Irish, much of the fighting has been done by Sheketski, Banas, Jaskwhich, Hoffman, and so on.

Harrison, located at 74th and Marshall boulevard in a community that was predominantly Bohemian when the school was built in 1914, now has almost as many racial groups as Froebel High, Gary, Ind., which at one time held a record of 42 different races in attendance. Harrison has its share of Irish, but none is included in the list of eleven regulars.

Andy and Andy Lead Attack.

Four Bohemians, two Poles, a Lithuanian, an Italian, one Slovak, a Jew and a Scot comprise Harrison's team. The captain, Andy Pilney, who is one of the best open field runners in the city, is a Bohemian. His teammate at the other half back, Andy Puplis, who completes the offense of Andy and Andy as they are known on the west side, is a Lithuanian. Frank Leonetti, the 150 pound full back, is Italian, while Steve Remias, the quarter back, is Bohemian.

The Polish boys play side by side and protect the left side of the line. Rufus Wujcik and Frank Kopczak are tackle and guard, respectively. Kopczak also is the best punter on the team. George McPherson, 245 pounds, is the right guard. Yes, he's a Scot and a delight to Fred Blenkinsopp, Harrison's dean of boys, who has the same twist to his tongue as McPherson.

Expect 25,000 Crowd.

Saturday's title battle, which starts at 1:15, is expected to draw about 25,000. Tickets purchased at the schools are 50 cents. Admission at Soldiers' field will be $1 and box seats are $1.50.

Harrison's Alumni association, under the direction of R. A. Ginsburg, president, has completed plans for the banquet at the Auditorium hotel next Wednesday at which the football players will be guests of honor. Leslie Jones, chairman of the banquet committee, announced yesterday that Mayor Cermak would be the principal speaker. Olies Winter, principal of Lake View High school, who was the first football coach at Harrison; Frank L. Morse, principal of Harrison, and Superintendent Began, also are on the program.

Hewitt Chosen Most Valuable by Wolverines

Ann Arbor, Mich., Dec. 3.—(Special.)—William Hewitt, full back on the 1931 football team of the University of Michigan today was elected by his team mates as the Wolverines' candidate for THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S award to the most valuable player in the Western conference.

"If I had all the football men in the conference in a group and was asked to pick the most valuable, I would select Bill Hewitt without hesitation," Harry G. Kipke, Michigan coach, said in speaking of the man selected by the Wolverine squad.

"Though Hewitt was not captain, he has all the qualifications for leadership," Kipke said. "He loves the game of football, he plays it hard and well. Playing as a back during only the last few games of his career, he proved himself a brilliant ball carrier. Furthermore, he showed that he is a strong blocker and both a passer and pass receiver."

Gets Majority of Votes.

The players' sentiments are reflected in the fact that Hewitt received a big majority of the votes cast, though the names of four other men were on ballots.

Hewitt plugged along at end during the first season on the squad and, though he attracted little attention

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

West Baden, Ind., Dec. 3.—Three pitchers and an infielder were obtained by the White Sox today in trades with the Washington Senators and Boston Red Sox.

Carl Reynolds, outfielder, and Johnny Kerr, infielder, were sent to Washington for Pitchers Irving Hadley and Sad Sam Jones and Minter Hayes, a second baseman. Bob Weiland, young southpaw hurler, was traded to Boston for Milton Gaston, veteran right hander.

The Washington trade was closed following a long conference this afternoon between President Clark Griffith of Washington and President Lou Comiskey of the White Sox, while Manager Lew Fonseca was conferring with Manager Joe McCarthy of the New York Yankees in an effort to obtain Tony Lazzeri, New York infielder.

New York Deal on Fire.

It was said earlier in the evening that in all probability the trade would be a three way proposition, in which Hadley would be sent to New York for Lazzeri. McCarthy had voiced a desire to obtain the Senator right hander.

No suitable agreement could be reached, however, and the Yankees were eliminated from the deal. Comiskey announced, however, that negotiations had not been dropped with the Yankees, and that the Sox still were attempting to get Lazzeri.

"We have just begun our trading," Comiskey said.

Investigate Reynolds' Condition.

Reynolds a year ago was one of the best trading prospects in the American league, but the magnates appear to have cooled on the young man since he has gained a reputation of being temperamental and the possessor of brittle legs. Griffith held up negotiations with the Sox until he had investigated the young Texan's underpinning. Convinced that Reynolds was ready for a comeback, he resumed bartering with Comiskey.

Reynolds rose to the heights in 1930, when he batted .359, tying Babe Ruth for third place among the American league batsmen. Last season, however, he slumped because of pulled tendons, sprained ankles, and a lethargy that was reflected in his .290 average for the year.

Hadley Effective Pitcher.

Kerr came to the White Sox from Hollywood of the Pacific Coast league in 1929. He has been used at second and third base and shortstop at various times, but was never considered a regular because of his light hitting. He finished last season with an average of .272.

Hadley was the fourth most effective pitcher in the American league last year. He had an earned run average of 3.96 and participated in 55 games. In 23 of these he established himself as a relief pitcher of ability. Of the games he started he won 11 and lost 10. While in 1930 he won 15 and lost 10, Hadley hails from Lynn, Mass., and is 27 years old. He began his career as a semi-pro pitcher around Boston, where he attracted Senator scouts. He was signed in 1926 and farmed out to Birmingham in the Southern league. In 1927 he returned to Washington and has been doing regular duty ever since.

Jones in League Since 1915.

Jones and Gaston are both veterans. Jones, who will be 38 years old next July, started pitching for Zanesville, O., in the Interstate league in 1912, played the next year with Portsmouth, O., and went to the American league in 1914 for a tryout with Cleveland. He spent three seasons with the Indians, then was traded to Boston with F. Thomas in the Tris Speaker deal. In 1922 he went to the Yankees in a deal involving seven players. The Yankees sent him to St. Louis in 1927 and in September of that year the Browns released him to the Senators.

Jones, a native of Woodfield, O., has participated in four world's series, competing with Boston in 1918 and the Yankees in 1922, 1923, and 1926. In the season of 1923 he pitched a no-hit, no-run game against the Philadelphia Athletics. His record last year included nine victories against ten defeats, and an earned run average of 4.33. His best year was in 1922, when he won 21 games and lost 8 for the champion Yankees.

Gaston Wins Two Games.

Gaston went up to the New York Yankees in 1924. The next year he

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

Chicago, 3; Pittsburgh, 2.

MONTREAL, Dec. 3. — (AP) — The Montreal Maroons ran up the largest score of the National Hockey league season tonight, walloping the Toronto Maple Leafs, 8 to 2. The victory gave the Maroons a tie for second place in the Canadian division with the Montreal Canadiens.

Montreal broke loose in the second period after a 1 to 1 tie in the first frame and rammed six goals past Benny Grant, Toronto's second string goalie. All six were scored in less than six minutes of play. Babe Siebert scored three times for Montreal and Jimmy Ward twice, while Lionel Conacher got a goal and two assists.

The game was marked by rough play and five major penalties were among the 21 inflicted. Charley Conacher and Red Horner of Toronto, and Harold Starr of Montreal took five minute rests in the second period, while Ace Bailey of the Maple Leafs and Glen Brydson of the Maroons received majors in the third.

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 3.—(AP)—After a brilliant first period, in which each squad scored a goal, the New York Rangers and the Detroit Falcons played defensive hockey for two regular periods and an overtime session in their National league hockey match here tonight, the game ending in a 1 to 1 tie.

The Falcons scored first, Lewis defeating a drive by Benny Cox past Goalie Roach. Bun Cook got the New York goal two minutes later, on a pass from Boucher. Each goal came with an enemy player in the penalty box.

A managerial battle of wits came at the start of the third period when Managers Patrick and Adams spent the first four minutes shifting forward lines in an attempt to gain an advantage. After seven shifts had been made they were cautioned by officials and play was resumed.

HOLD DANCE FOR OLYMPIC SKATE TEAM TONIGHT

Although the Chicago Olympic skaters' trip to Bear Mountain, N. Y., has been postponed until Tuesday, the dance and reception in their honor still will be held tonight at the Walton Athletic club, 2557 West North avenue.

The eighteen qualifying skaters in last year's trials at Lake Placid, N. Y., were notified by Bill Taylor, official coach of the United States team to report for practice in the east, Sunday. Due to a misunderstanding between the Chicago officials and the Olympic committee at New York, which accused O'Neil Farrell and Eddie Murphy, the veterans of the 1928 squad, of being professionals, the other four are held up from leaving until the controversy is settled.

PORTSMOUTH PRO FOOTBALL TEAM IS $30,000 IN RED

Portsmouth, O., Dec. 3.—(AP)—Harry Snyder, principal stockholder in the Portsmouth Spartans, professional football team, told fellow shareholders today that unless $30,000 is raised at once the team's franchise would have to be sold.

Snyder asserted the Spartans lost money on every home game this season, and profited only in games with the Chicago Bears and New York Giants away from home. The 1931 deficit, he said, was $16,949, and the total indebtedness of the club $30,000.

Detroit U. Expects to Retain Dorais as Coach

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 3.—(AP)—The Rev. Father John J. McNichols, S. J., president of the University of Detroit, said today that university officials expect to renew the contract of Charles E. Dorais, head football coach. The contract expires this year. Father McNichols' statement was made in commenting on reports that Dorais was being considered for the job of Glenn Thistlethwaite, football coach of the University of Wisconsin.

Carlson, Bears' Guard, Finds His Car a Stolen One

When he returned for the car two policemen were awaiting him. They had been summoned by R. E. Marek, 4458 Magnolia avenue, who asserted the car had been stolen from him on Nov. 27. Both men were taken to the Town Hall police station.

There Carlson asserted that he had purchased the car last June and showed a license issued to him. The serial numbers on the motor were not those of Marek's car, but the latter insisted that he recognized it by dents in the fender. The police refused to arrest Carlson, but the football player volunteered to leave the automobile in custody of the police until today, that a complete investigation of the ownership may be made.

Shamrocks Face Hornets, Pla-Mors

Shamrock fans will have opportunity to watch the Chicago sextet both Sunday and next Thursday nights at the Chicago Stadium. Sunday night's contest will be with the Kansas City Pla-Mors, 1929-'30 American Hockey league champions, who last year were runners-up. Thursday night the Shamrocks will be out to avenge the two games previously lost to the Duluth Hornets.

Reservations for Sunday night have been made by friends and admirers of the Shamrocks' new manager, Babe Dye, who will be honored upon the occasion.

Of eight games played this season on foreign ice, the Shamrocks have won four, lost three by a single point, and tied another. Their only home game was a smashing victory, 8 goals being tallied against none by the opposing Buffalo Majors. To date they have chalked up a total of 22 goals to 10 by their opponents.

O'Neill Has Five Goals.

Manager Dye's Calgary line of McFadyen, MacKenzie, and O'Neill, selected while the 'Rocks were in training, has demonstrated the wisdom of the selection by scoring 10 of the 22 goals. Credit for five of these goes to O'Neill. By reason of his three goals and five assists, McFadyen is high point scorer of the team. Right on the heels of O'Neill is Tony Prelesnik, all-American forward from St. Mary's [Minn.] college, with four goals.

With the exception of Defense Men Curly Headley and Eddie Osler, and Goalie Mike Karakas, every Shamrock has scored a goal, but Headley is represented in the point column with an assist.

Competition Is Keener, Better.

Statistics tell an emphatic story of the heightened level of American league competition as compared with last year. The maturing of a large number of youngsters, the gravitation of the choicest material from last year's amateur class in Canada to the American loop, and the release of experienced stars as a result of the collapse of the Pacific Coast league all are contributing factors to better play. In addition the pick of last year's Minneapolis club has been distributed over the league.

JOCKEY HALBERT GETS SIXTY DAYS ON DRUG CHARGE

Floyd Halbert, 23 years old, jockey, who admitted he had spent $75,000 on drugs, was sentenced to serve 60 days in the Bridewell hospital by Judge Donald C. McKinlay in the South State street court yesterday.

Judge McKinlay sentenced Halbert's companion, George Fairchild, 32 years old, to 30 days in the Bridewell.

Both men were convicted under the new state law making possession of a "needle" a crime, even if no narcotics are found. Several "needles" were found in Fairchild's and Halbert's room at the Claridge hotel, 1244 North Dearborn street by Lieut. William J. Bowler and Sergt. John J. Walsh.

Oak Parker Gets Chance at Muscarello

Bill Riordan of Oak Park receives his first test against real competition when he fights Tony Muscarella, Central A. A. U. featherweight champion, in the windup of Promoters Jack Lund's and Frank Knipper's show tonight at Merry Garden arena, Sheffield and Belmont avenues. Riordan earned the match by twice defeating Phil Pernice.

Einar Hedquist and Leo Ranieri, Chicago stars, meet in the semi-windup bout. Six other contests are scheduled. Additional features compel the promoters to start at 7:30.

If Charley Belanger gets released from his bout with Battling Bozo here Dec. 18, he will engage Jack Dempsey in a four round exhibition bout at Winnipeg, Canada, three days earlier. Belanger has hopes. National Boxing association officials will set ahead his light heavyweight championship tournament contest with Bozo.

Billy Jones, Philadelphia light heavyweight, leaves for Chicago to resume training for his Dec. 11 bout with Owen Phelps immediately after his contest against George Courtney at Rochester tonight. Courtney's entry in the tournament here has not been announced.

GREENLEAF TIES RECORD TO WIN IN CUE TOURNEY

Greenleaf scored a first inning high run of 85 which tied the tournament mark set Monday by Onofrio Lauri of Brooklyn and added an unfinished 40 in the second to end the shortest game in tournament records.

His performance ended a day in which Frank Taberski, Schenectady, N. Y., defeated Robert Lindblom of Seattle, 125 to 31, in 8 innings; Benin Allen of Kansas City downed Lauri, 125 to 30, in the same time, and Andrew Ponzi, Philadelphia, overcame Al Miller, Racine, Wis., youngster, 125 to 54, in 13 innings.

Greenleaf, Taberski, and Erwin Rudolph, defending champion, were tied for leadership of the tournament with two victories each tonight, while Allen had two wins and one loss.

AGUA CALIENTE BOOKMAKERS SHUT UP SHOP

AGUA CALIENTE, Mexico, Dec. 3.—(AP)—Agua Caliente Jockey club officials announced today "with extreme regret" that open ring betting, an innovation at the track here this season, was temporarily suspended.

"The reason given was the voluntary withdrawal of five of the six independent bookmakers who had been operating since Thanksgiving day. Five odds-on favorites romped in to win in yesterday's seven races and they carried most of the money wagered during the day.

Three bookies were operating at the track today, but they were all under the control of the jockey club. Harry Pollock, publicity director of the club, speaking for its president, James N. Crofton, said the independent bookmakers had not left the track. He explained the open ring system would be resumed when conditions improved, provided a sufficient number of bookmakers applied for permission to cut in.

CLINKSTOCK AND DUSEK TO MEET IN DEC. 11 MAT BOUT

The tallest and shortest of the heavyweight wrestlers will meet in the windup of Promoter Doc Krouse's all-star heavyweight card, Dec. 11 in the Coliseum.

Rudy Dusek, 5 feet 7 inches tall, and Jim Clinkstock, 6 feet 5 inches, are the two principals. However, there is not nearly so much difference in their weight, the Oklahoma Indian weighing 246 pounds to Rudy's 219.

It is probable however, that the semi-windup will carry more interest than the main event. It features Jim McMillen against Gino Garibaldi. It was Gino who broke Jim's collar bone in a match at Toronto, putting the former Illinois grid star on the shelf for four months.

CATHOLIC YOUTH BOXERS MEET IN FINALS TONIGHT

Dopesters have picked Joe Roman to win the 126 pound title and they are equally as confident that John Peroche will win in the light heavyweight class. He is a member of the West District team. The middleweight with the most followers is Max Marek of St. Rita's parish, who is a member of the South District team.

Sylvano is the favorite among the welterweights. The boxer who will climb into the ring with the greatest crowd cheering him is little Leo Rodak who last year won Tuxedo Tunnun Golden Gloves, the Inter-City Golden Gloves and later won his international match with the champion of France. George Haberski of North Chicago, and Johnny Anderson of Westmont, Ill., are Rodak's strongest rivals.

Sailor Boy Favorite.

Dusty Dvonch, a sailor from the Great Lakes, is the choice to take down the heavyweight title. He is the Central A. A. U. outdoor champion and was the runner-up in the Pacific fleet title tournament last year.

All the qualifiers in the other classes have won so impressively in their preliminary bouts that there seems little difference among them.

Walker Says He Gave $190,000 to Wife in 2 Years

New York, Dec. 3.—[Special.]—Mickey Walker, former middleweight champion, today testified that he gave his wife $190,000 in 1927 and 1928, and that earlier he had given her a home in Rumson, N. J., and a number of lots in Shrewsbury, N. J., valued at $12,500. The fighter testified in federal court in Brooklyn following the conclusion of his wife's case against him.

Mrs. Walker asks $25,000 for the maintenance of the couple's children, Edward and Patricia, between June 25, 1929, when the couple were permanently separated, and July 18, 1931, when Mrs. Walker's divorce decree became final.

Walker told of his visit to England, where he knocked out Tommy Milligan, British middleweight champion.

"When I returned in July, 1929," he said, "I had about $40,000 and I gave my wife $30,000. About that time my wife told me that she and her mother were worrying about the future and the future of the baby, so I told her to get $25,000 worth of certificates and use the other $5,000 for herself."

He then said that, following a series of talks with his wife, she bought first mortgage certificates with a check for $110,000 given to her by him.

BEARS READY TO BATTER PACKERS' LINEMEN SUNDAY

Nagurski and Joesting to Lead Attack.

A crowd that may exceed the 21,000 mark set for the Green Bay Packers and the Chicago Bears in their first game in Chicago this season is expected to watch the two teams clash in their last game of the season at Wrigley field Sunday afternoon. Two special trains will bring supporters from Green Bay, and, as usual, the famous Lumberjack band will be brought along.

Green Bay returned home from its eastern tour Monday morning, and that afternoon Coach Lambeau had his boys out for practice. The Packers won the first two games from the Bears by narrow margins, and are giving no chance of a possible defeat in the third meeting.

Bears Add Power.

The Packers are no stronger than they were in the last game with the Bears, and won, 6 to 2, when Michaels was intercepted a pass and ran 72 yards for a touchdown. The Bears are stronger, both in the line and in the backfield, with Herb Joesting and C. C. Tuckwell ready to lend their support for the first time in opposition to the Wisconsin crew.

Dutch Lambeau, in commenting on the games of the Packers this season as their struggle to win their third consecutive league title, gives full credit to the line but Coach Ralph Jones of the Bears brings points out that the line in the league this year has had to put up with two of the greatest line plungers in the history of football—Bronko Nagurski and Herb Joesting.

Both Ready Now.

Nagurski was injured shortly after Sunday was obtained. Sunday will be the first time that the Bears will have had both of them available.

The kickoff will be at 2 p. m.

Pennsylvania Makes Does Fair Game

BY BOB BECKER.

Hunters in Pennsylvania are facing a peculiar situation this year, the result of disturbing the so-called balance of nature. For years Pennsylvania has permitted the killing of buck deer during a regular open season. This is the same privilege hunters enjoy in Michigan, where the law allows the sportsmen to take one buck during an annual season.

Now a recent Associated Press dispatch tells us Pennsylvania sportsmen will be allowed to shoot female deer this season, largely because "polygamy doesn't work well even among deer." This declaration is supported by scientific investigations made at the Pennsylvania State college.

Many Deer Dying.

During the last few years state foresters have been reporting that deer were dying in more than normal numbers. It was thought at first that many of the animals starved to death due to overpopulation of deer or suffered from eating poisonous plant foods.

Dr. E. B. Forbes, director of animal nutrition, and Dr. S. L. Bechdel of the department of animal husbandry learned through investigation that the food supply was not solely responsible for these deaths. An important factor was sex ratio.

It was found that each male deer had several mates. This was due to the fact the deer hunting law gave protection to the does while the bucks were legal targets and were reduced in number each year.

Late Comers Whipped.

According to the scientists the result of this family arrangement was delayed births of many fawns. Arriving later in the spring than normal these late comers suffered a comparatively high death rate. They could not compete successfully with their older brothers and sisters for their share of food.

How to establish a balance Pennsylvania has issued the new decree to bring about a more normal ratio between bucks and does. This is not the first time Pennsylvania has taken such a step. A few years ago the state permitted the shooting of does, despite a great hue and cry throughout the country.

NAVY WILL BE STRONGEST FOE, CADETS ARE TOLD

West Point, N. Y., Dec. 3.—(AP)—After a three day rest, the Army today began its preparations for the Navy game at New York, Dec. 12. Maj. Ralph Sasse, head coach, pointed out to his squad that Navy probably would be the strongest opponent the Cadets have met this year. Reports of Army scouts indicated, he said, that the Midshipmen have a stronger team than their record shows.

Bowen, Carver, King, and Kilday were kept on the sidelines during the workout because of injuries received in the Notre Dame game. They probably will be available early next week.

STOCKHOLM HURT AS CAR KNOCKS HIM FROM BIKE

Axel Stockholm, 30 years old, six day bicycle racer, was slightly injured today when he was knocked from his bicycle by a hit and run motorist in Lincoln park.

Stockholm, who lives at the Guyon hotel, 4500 West Washington street, was training for a race in New York and was riding in Stockton drive just north of Webster avenue. The auto was approached from behind, struck Stockholm and sped away. Stockton fell on the knee and injured the arm.

MINOR LEAGUES DEPOSE SEXTON FOR 5 MAN RULE

West Baden, Ind., Dec. 3.—(AP)—Minor league club owners today abolished the office of president of their parent governing body, the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, and voted to appoint a committee of five from among themselves to control the organization.

Under the plan adopted unanimously the committee will take charge for one year, during which time it will study every phase of minor league baseball. All other officers, including Secretary-Treasurer Henry Farrell of Auburn, N. Y., and the board of arbitration, will continue their work until the committee makes its report at next year's meeting.

The committee will describe what can be done in every way to make baseball more attractive and to get it solidly back on its feet, said Branch Rickey, head of the St. Louis Cardinals farm system and sponsor of the drastic reorganization plan.

Drake Meets Loyola in Los Angeles Tonight

White Sox Add 4, Send Away 3 in Trades

was traded to St. Louis with Bush for Giard and Shocker and spent three years with the Browns. Washington sent Pitcher Coffman and Outfielder McNeeley to St. Louis for him in 1928 and the following year he wound up at Boston with Lisenbee, Reeves, Giles and Brodie, all of whom had been traded for Buddy Myer. Gaston is 32 years old and first gained prominence as a pitcher for his home town semi-pro team at Ridgefield Park, N. J. He won only two games last year, while losing 13, and allowed an average of 4.46 earned runs per game.

Hayes came to Washington from Birmingham in 1927. He has been a utility infielder for the Senators since then, with the exception of the 1929 season, when he was released to Minneapolis for part of a season on an option to recall. He participated in only 19 games last year and batted .222. Like Riggs Stephenson, he is a graduate of the University of Alabama and a resident of that state, wintering in Clanton. He is 25 years old.

The St. Louis Browns have had but one of their executives here and this has delayed another of the impending trade buddies scheduled for White Sox participation. The Sox would like to obtain Ralph Kress.

The Cubs officials milled about the convention during the entire day and will remain till the last delegate leaves tomorrow night, but their trade plans apparently have reached a stalemate pending the major league meetings in Chicago.

Wilson Still a Puzzle.

Hack Wilson continues on the suspended list, the property of the Cubs, with no new reports from eye doctors and temperance workers. Coach Red Corriden has worked out his plan for taming Pat Malone. Conferences among President Veeck and executives of the Phillies have failed to bring nearer the transfer of Chuck Klein to the Cubs, and no veteran third basemen or outfielders have been obtained.

Manager Rogers Hornsby today pricked up his ears when told that Outfielder Jess Hill of the Hollywood Stars is not the property of the Yankees, as had been supposed. It was stated that he was offered to the Cubs for $20,000, but the offer later was withdrawn.

It was announced that Mike Kelly, for years coach of the White Sox, had signed in a similar capacity with the Newark Bears, recently purchased by the Yankees as their principal farm.

SKATING UNION WARNS BUYERS ON FOREIGN GOODS

Prospective purchasers of ice skates during the coming season were warned against the efforts of foreign manufacturers to foist inferior goods upon them and encouraged the use of American made skates in a statement issued yesterday by Edward A. Mahlke, honorary president of the Illinois Western Skating association.

"It is a deplorable fact that certain foreign manufacturers are attempting to foist inferior skates upon the American public, at the expense of our own American workers," Mahlke said. "The American Amateur Skating Union of the United States already has passed a resolution denouncing the false selling claims of these foreign manufacturers and advocating the sale and purchase of American made ice skates by American merchants and consumers."

Copies of the resolution, adopted at the recent annual meeting of the skating union at Buffalo, N. Y., are being circulated among skating organizations throughout the country, according to Mahlke.

COUGARS REACH NEW ORLEANS TO BATTLE TULANE

New Orleans, La., Dec. 3.—(AP)—Washington State football players who hope to spoil Tulane's 1931 record of no defeats and no ties on Saturday, put in a stiff workout in the Green Wave stadium this afternoon, showing little ill effects from a four day train ride that brought them from sub-zero temperatures into almost midsummer weather.

The squad of 38 huskies, accompanied by a full coaching and training staff, lost little time in going through kicking, passing and signal drill on a wet field, with fog hanging low. The workout was less strenuous than Head Coach O. E. Hollingbery had planned, and he ordered another for tomorrow.

Fordham Pays Last Tribute to Murphy, Tackle

New York, Dec. 3.—(AP)—The student body of Fordham university today paid its final respects in a solemn requiem mass in the college chapel to the memory of Cornelius Murphy Jr. Greenfield, Mass., varsity tackle, who died yesterday as a result of football injuries.

Fifteen hundred students, the entire enrollment, crowded the chapel until there was only standing room left, as the Rev. Father Aloysius Hogan, president of the university, eulogized the dead player and chanted the prayers for the dead.

The football team, led by Capt. James Murphy, no relation of the dead player, attended the services in a body and three of them joined with three other classmates to serve as pallbearers.

The coffin was banked with flowers, some from Bucknell university, which team Fordham was playing Nov. 21 when Murphy received his fatal injuries, and from New York university and other teams Fordham met during the year.

POLISH, GERMAN OLYMPIC TEAMS MAY PLAY HERE

Chicago may see both the German and Polish Olympic hockey teams in action here in January. This announcement was made last night by E. C. Delaporte, chairman of the Central A. A. U. ice hockey committee, at a meeting of the Central Association Ice Hockey league.

Both of the foreign teams have written Mr. Delaporte and requested dates for games. In all probability, Mr. Delaporte said, satisfactory arrangements will be worked out and Chicago ice hockey fans will see two of the outstanding Olympic teams in action.

Can Football Build Defense Against Death?

"Then the only thing possible is for a few men to dump the wedge and leave the tackle for some one else. Under a high kick from a tee the kicking side usually has time to get one or more men down there to get inside the wedge or prevent it from forming.

"Sheridan of the Army was killed by a kickoff play. So was Murphy of Fordham. Sheridan was not hit by a wedge, but he had to come in from one side to make his tackle and leave himself open. There were about 30 men killed all over the country in 1905 and we knew exactly why. They were killed on mass plays on the line."

So Tom Thorpe—of the Thorpe brothers, Tom and Ed, officials of high repute and thriving practise—blames so simple and obscure a fault as the recent rule against a small dab of clay on which to tee the ball, and the meeting decided to condemn this rule to the rules committee.

Cites Players' Fatigue.

Prof. Howard Savage of the Carnegie Foundation, who prefers touch or tag football for its nondangerous quality and its higher rate of speed, is not even convinced, off hand, that the casualties indicated anything at all. The same volume of football under the same rules might produce a abnormal average of damage in the next four or five years, proving this year's disasters to have been coincidence.

"Not any particular play may have done all this," he suggested. "But the character of the game, the speed, the pressure, not only in the games, but in practice, may have fatigued these men. It is a scientific fact that a man is more susceptible to hurt when he is tired. He may trip over an obstacle, such as another man's leg, and hurt himself badly merely because, due to the cumulative effects of fatigue, he hasn't the energy to clear it as he might easily if he were fresh."

But Albie Booth of Yale was coached by a physician, and fatigue was so nonapparent in his case that he played almost through the Harvard game for Yale less than one week before he cracked up and had to quit school.

This season's toll exceeds the disastrous of the deadly season of 1905 at this time, for the clippings in the morgue say there were twenty dead, six dying, and 188 seriously hurt in various parts of the country early in December that year. There may be as many injured this year, but nowadays concussion is mentioned very casually in the midweek reports of teams in training, and anything short of paralysis or death possesses no power to shock.

And all this happens at a time when the rules committee and the coaches thought they had refined all but the most accidental dangers out of their game.

WIFE DIVORCES GEO. CONNALLY, INDIAN PITCHER

George Connally, baseball pitcher formerly with the White Sox and now a member of the Cleveland team, yesterday was divorced on grounds of desertion by his wife, Phyllis, 4545 Woodlawn avenue. Judge Harry B. Miller in the Superior court entered the decree and approved a $3,750 property settlement agreed upon by the couple.

The Connallys married May 30, 1925, and separated Feb. 1, 1929. Mrs. Connally testified that her husband left on that date to go to the baseball training camp and told her he would never return.

AMERICAN P. E. COLLEGE BEATS VALPARAISO, 21-18

The American College of Physical Education rallied in the second half yesterday to defeat Valparaiso university's basketball team, 21 to 18, at the American college gymnasium. Blackmore, Bol, and Waytow led the A. C. P. E. offense, and White and Barnall were high scorers for Valpo.

generally, Coach Kipke expressed the opinion that he was destined to become a great ballplayer. Last year he got only to the opening quarter of the second game, that with Michigan State, when he sustained a broken ankle and was disabled for the season.

He appeared set for a good season and then, when the team failed to get going in its first two Big Ten contests, was switched from end to full back. The effect was electrical, and in his first game, against Illinois, he crashed through for 119 yards. Most of his yardage was gained in the first half, the Illini blocking up the holes in the line in the final two periods. He was less successful against Princeton, but pounded the Indiana line hard and was Michigan's chief ground gainer against Michigan State.

Stars Against Gophers.

Hewitt's outstanding performance was in the Minnesota contest, when he carried the ball twenty times for a total gain of 116 yards. In that same contest, Jack Manders, generally acknowledged as the premier line crusher of the Big Ten, gained only 13 yards in 14 tries. Hewitt, his off tackle, shook away four tacklers and ran 57 yards for the only score that day.

Hewitt played full back in six games, carried the ball 118 times and gained a total of 446 yards. That total was 140 yards above the total accumulated by any other Michigan back. For that reason and because he played a sterling defensive game, in addition to being a passing threat, Michigan feels that he was over the balance of the season, the outstanding full back of the conference.

The record of having most time to his credit goes to Hewitt also. In nine games he played 428 minutes out of a possible 540. The closest approach was the time turned in by Howard Auer, tackle, who played 400 minutes.

Holds Boxing Title.

Hewitt came here from Bay City, where he played at Central High for a year. He also was a basketball man at Bay City. Coming here he devoted his time chiefly to football, though he was a wrestler in his sophomore year. During his second year on the campus he became a boxer and won the all-campus heavyweight championship.

DRIVER KILLS 2 AND FIGHTS HIS WAY TO FREEDOM

Runs Down Man and Boy; Slugs Captor.

The man, who was killed outright, was about 40 years old. The child, about 4 years old, whom he was holding by the hand, lived a few minutes after he was struck. His death occurred in St. Mary's hospital. Neither of the victims was identified.

Knocked to Street with Wrench.

Pryle was standing at the corner and saw the pair struck down. As the truck driver went on Pryle ran to the tail gate and climbed on. Working his way forward, he reached the cab and tried to turn off the ignition switch. The driver's blow with the wrench knocked Pryle to the street.

The license number of the truck, obtained by other witnesses, was traced to Joseph Kemperja, 1937 West Huron street, a dealer in coal and wood, and a search for him was started.

These deaths and one other in Cook county yesterday increased the toll since Jan. 1 to 1,198. The victim:

Mrs. Frances McKee, 60 years old, colored, 6872 Rhodes avenue. Fatally hurt when run down at 87th street and Cottage Grove avenue. The driver was John C. Hannegan, 7139 South Chicago avenue.

Dean Leon Gross of the Northwestern university law school appeared in the Evanston court of Justice of the Peace Harry H. Porter yesterday and won his own dismissal on a charge of speeding. James H. Bitterman, 19 years old, 6305 Ridge avenue, a clerk, who was arrested on Nov. 12, the same day as Dean Gross, also was freed of the charge.

Policeman Harry Driecker, who arrested both, did not appear to prosecute, but Judge Porter said that even so he would have listened to the dean's argument that he would not have been caught had his car been traveling the 40 miles an hour as charged.

Dog Guards Body of Victim.

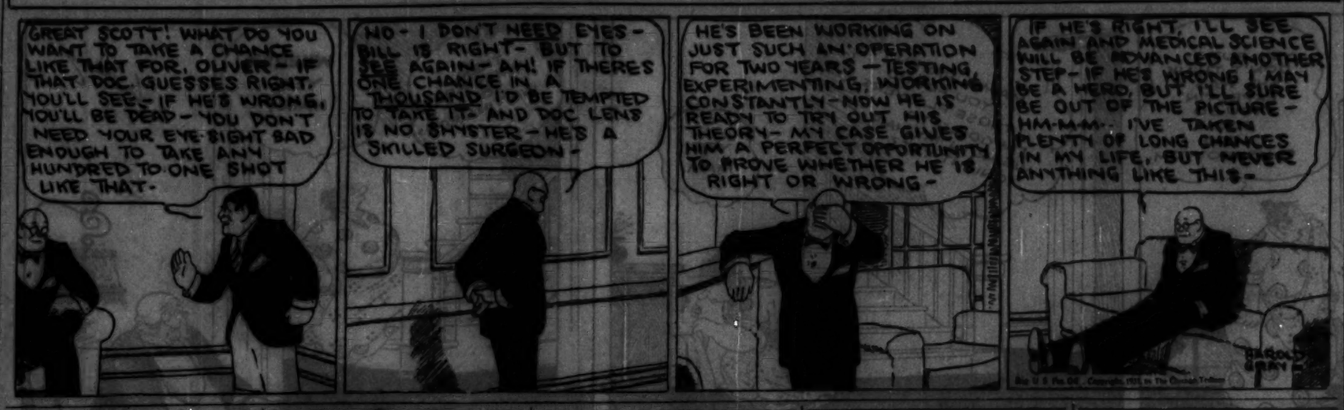
Albert Anderson of Chicago was killed by the car of a hit and run motorist on the highway near Marengo, Ill., yesterday. Apparently a hiker, Anderson was accompanied by a collie dog which stood guard over his body and refused for some time to allow strangers to approach.

John Antonian of East Chicago was killed yesterday when his auto was demolished by a Baltimore and Ohio switch engine at Hammond. Mrs. Laverne Barber of Chicago, who was riding in the car, suffered a skull fracture. A second woman escaped injury.

Attorney Julius M. Lison Dies After Club Meeting

Attorney Julius M. Lison died early yesterday in his home at 2122 Sherman avenue, Evanston, after returning from a club meeting. Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon in the chapel at 157 Maple avenue, Evanston. Burial will be at Memorial Park cemetery. In the opinion of Dr. J. D. Croft, Mr. Lison succumbed to a heart attack superinduced by indigestion. He was 56 years old. Mr. Lison is survived by his widow, Ellen, and five children.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: The Long Chance



BANKER IN OHIO IS ARRESTED FOR $400,000 THEFT

Cleveland, O., Dec. 3.—[Special.]—Arraigned before United States Commissioner B. D. Nicola here late today, William J. Ruof, vice president of the First-Central Trust company of Akron, pleaded not guilty to embezzlement of $50,000.

Ruof had been charged with the theft of $50,000 by bank officials and in a statement issued by the First-Central's president it was said the speculation would reach $400,000. Officials of the bank said insurance covers the theft and the depositors will lose nothing.

Commissioner Nicola set bond for Ruof at $75,000, which he was unable to furnish.

Ruof, regarded as one of Akron's ablest bankers, confessed, federal authorities said, and blamed stock speculation, covering a period of two years, for his shortage.

BRITAIN TO KEEP RADIO DEBATE ON DEBTS OFF AIR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 3.—The trans-Atlantic debate by radio on war debts between Harvard and Oxford university students, which is scheduled for Saturday night, will be a secret as far as this side of the Atlantic is concerned.

It is understood that the British Broadcasting corporation will prevent its reception here on the ground that speeches of a controversial nature contravene the terms of the corporation's charter.

In order to prevent reception of the debate, the British Broadcasting corporation will confuse the wireless frequency so that it will be impossible to listen in.

Schools of East Chicago to Close for Hale Rites

Funeral services for former Mayor Raleigh P. Hale of East Chicago will be held at 10 a. m. today in the Church of the Good Shepherd, on Baring avenue in East Chicago. The schools of the suburb will be dismissed for the morning. Military honors will be paid at the grave in Oak Hill cemetery, Hammond, by members of the American Legion. Dr. Hale, who was 49 years old, died suddenly in his home on Tuesday.

VITAMIN C, FOE OF SCURVY, FOUND BY MAN AND WIFE

STOCKHOLM, Dec. 3.—(AP)—Otter Rygh, Norwegian chemist and scientific research worker at the University of Upsala, announced today his discovery of vitamin C and a method for its production. His wife, Dr. Aagot Rygh, was given credit as co-discoverer.

Swedish medical experts hailed Prof. Rygh's discovery as a brilliant scientific triumph of great value. One of the effects, it was said, would be the possibility of practically annihilating the disease of scurvy.

Vitamin C is obtained from oranges, lemons, tomatoes, spinach, cabbage, lettuce and other fresh vegetables. Scurvy has been one of the dangers of explorers and of men on expeditions which ran short of fresh vegetables. Extraction of the pure vitamin opens the way to taking it in the form of pills.

Prof. Rygh was assistant for two years to Prof. Windhaus in a search for vitamin D, the physiological effects of which are the same as sunshine. About three-billionths of a gramme of the pure crystal is sufficient to relieve rickets. One fifty-thousandths of a gram is poisonous. Isolation of the pure vitamin D was announced last week by Prof. Windhaus after four years of research.

Mme. Inga Olund, Noted Swedish Singer, Is Dead

Portland, Ore., Dec. 3.—(AP)—Mme. Inga Olund, 77, internationally famous Swedish singer, died today at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ingeborg Pearson, Portland, where she had lived for the last six years.

Mme. Olund came to the United States in 1876 to sing at the Philadelphia centennial with the Swedish Ladies' quartet. She was a protégé of the dowager queen of Sweden and of the Countess Benedict and a personal friend of Mme. Schumann-Heink.

Before she came to this country she sang in many European capitals and at one engagement assisted Wagner in the presentation of "Lohengrin."

VINCENT D'INDY, COMPOSER, DIES IN PARIS AT 80

PARIS, Dec. 3.—(AP)—Vincent d'Indy, 80, widely known composer, died suddenly last night at his home here. He composed songs, piano sonatas, and chamber music, as well as several symphonies. One of his best known works is the symphonic overture "Wallenstein," which established the composer's reputation when it was published in 1882.

In 1910 he was appointed professor at the National Conservatory of Music. The composer had been working steadily up to the end on a book about Wagner's "Parsifal." He made concert tours until recently.

D'Indy, one of the early revolutionists in French music, was a pupil of César Franck. His early musical studies were interrupted by the Franco-Prussian war of 1870, in which he served as an infantryman. His first opera, "Le Chant de Cloche" (Song of the Bell), was produced in Brussels in 1897 and in the following year at Paris. He was a profound admirer of Wagner, whom he credited with having given new life to French musical composition.

Lydia Tomlinson Funeral Here Tomorrow; Dies at 96

Funeral services for Mrs. Lydia Tomlinson, 96 years old, of Denver, for many years a resident of Chicago, will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow from the chapel at 4733 Cottage Grove avenue, followed by burial in Oakwoods cemetery. Mrs. Tomlinson died on Wednesday in Denver. She was the widow of R. M. Tomlinson, for many years a live stock commission merchant at the stockyards. 84 Descendants Mourn Death of Illinois Woman

Taylorville, Ill., Dec. 3.—[Special.]—Mrs. Jane Perry, 84, with eighty-four descendants, died at her home in Edinburg last night. Besides her husband she is survived by nine children, 25 grandchildren, 44 great-grandchildren and six great-great-grandchildren. Funeral services will be held Saturday.

FRIENDS PAY LAST HONOR TO EDWARD HINES

Funeral services for Edward Hines, wealthy lumberman, were held yesterday morning in St. Mary's church, Evanston. Admission to the services was by card and about 800 persons attended.

The solemn requiem mass was celebrated by Msgr. Thomas V. Shannon, pastor of the Church of St. Thomas the Apostle, assisted by the Rev. Frederick Siedenburg, dean of the downtown college of Loyola university, and the Rev. Francis J. Magner, pastor of St. Mary's church. The sermon was delivered by the Rt. Rev. Francis C. Kelley, bishop of Oklahoma, an old friend of Mr. Hines.

Cardinal Mundelein, archbishop of Chicago, attended the services, as did Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas and Senator James J. Davis of Pennsylvania.

Mr. Hines, who was 62 years old, died on Tuesday in his home, 1458 Ridge avenue, Evanston.

YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED

2 Civil War Captains, 91, Die Same Day in Ohio City

Piqua, O., Dec. 3.—[Special.]—Death yesterday took two of Piqua's three civil war captains, all of whom were 91 years of age and lived on Downing street here. Amzi M. Bowdle and Henry A. McCabe were the veterans who died. The surviving comrade, Dr. Abner E. Frame, attended his two old friends in death and today continued his medical routine as he has for the past 63 years while plans were being made for the funeral of his good friends. He has practiced medicine here for forty-four years.

SANTA CLAUS IS LOADING UP FOR HOLIDAY TOUR

Gift Buying Leads Retail Trade.

BY O. A. MATHER.

That genial old Christmas sprite, who goes under various aliases of Santa Claus, St. Nicholas, and Kris Kringle, is going to do a big business in the next three weeks. In fact, he already has been stocking up on Christmas gifts, according to various testimony.

"Reports from the larger retail trading centers in Illinois indicate that Santa Claus will meet with a warmer and more colorful reception this year than ever before," the Illinois Chamber of Commerce says.

"Splendid decorative effects, Christmas programs and individual store deals, coupled with improved merchandising methods and lower prices on merchandise, already are having a good effect in attracting gift buyers. The warm weather that characterized most of November and resulted in a decidedly poor retail showing is being forgotten in the rush of preparations for holiday trade."

Similar Testimony.

Similar testimony is offered in Bradstreet's weekly review, which notes that "holiday trade stood out as the big factor of the week and is expected to be the leader for the next three weeks."

"Wholesalers were given a larger run of rush orders, with toys leading, while seasonable goods attracted more buyers owing to colder weather throughout the country," the review continues.

"The impression prevails among retailers that there will be a good business during the balance of the year, although November sales were somewhat disappointing and ten months' business of both wholesalers and retailers was around 10 to 15 per cent in money less than last year, while the actual tonnage was the same as in 1930."

Significance of the run of rush orders reported by wholesalers, it is asserted, lies in the fact that there is considerable belated buying by retailers. Ordinarily the storekeepers' shelves have been stocked well in advance of the retail Christmas selling season. Hand-to-mouth buying tactics have reduced stocks until, with the appearance of sustained purchasing by the public, frequent and hurried orders are being sent off to replenish goods.

More Money Being Used.

Further evidence of quickening holiday trade lay in the report of the federal reserve system, which showed an increase of $23,404,000 in money in circulation in the last week. Total money now is $5,511,000,000, of which $3,676,180,000 consists of federal reserve notes. The monetary gold stock of the United States increased $10,000,000 and now stands at $4,419,000,000, of which $2,941,570,000 is held in the federal reserve banks.

Borrowings by the member banks from the reserve banks expanded $31,000,000 in the last week and now total $117,567,000. But this credit expansion was more than offset by the fact that the reserve banks disposed of $56,391,000 of bankers' acceptances and $10,000,000 of government securities. Deposits declined $57,132,000. Gold and total reserves increased $12,872,000 and $13,233,000, respectively. The ratio of reserves to liabilities rose to 0.5 per cent, compared with 65 per cent last week.

Brokers' Loans Decline.

The securities markets have got under a "cash and carry" basis in the last week than ever before. The weekly report on brokers' loans issued by the federal reserve board yesterday showed a further decline of $31,000,000, bringing the total down to $720,000,000, a new low record. This total also is $1,291,000,000 under a year ago, when the figure was $2,111,000,000.

The New York banks reduced their own loans by $24,000,000 in the last week, and interior banks withdrew $3,000,000. Nonbanking lenders, however, increased their loans by $2,000,000. The New York Federal Reserve bank yesterday made no change in its 3½ per cent rediscount rate.

Mexico Seeks to Restore Confidence in Paper Money

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 3.—(AP)—The long predicted Mexican banknotes, provided for in the monetary law adopted last July, appeared today in the peso and ten peso denominations and in small quantities. [The peso is worth about 28 cents.] Less than 1,000,000 pesos worth of the bills were issued today.

The money, acceptance of which is voluntary on the part of the public, is guaranteed by a deposit with the Bank of Mexico of 50 per cent of its value in silver and by an additional 50 per cent in commercial paper payable within 90 days, which is rediscounted by the Bank of Mexico.

Issuance of the new money was preceded by a propaganda campaign and a demand for bills to improve general business conditions. Frequent issues of worthless paper money in the early revolutionary days destroyed the confidence of the Mexican people in that form of currency.

Stock Brokers Lose Suit Against Grigsby-Grunow

The United States District court of the southern district of New York has dismissed the suit against Grigsby-Grunow company and R. J. Grigsby brought by Sulzbacher, Granger & Co., stock brokers of New York City. This was one for three and one-half million dollars, being a claim for alleged loss of profits and commissions due to the failure of the Grigsby-Grunow company to complete the formation of a French company in the summer of

Big N.Y. Banks in 600 Million Dollar Merger

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 3.—Plans for the merger of the Chatham Phenix National Bank and Trust company and the Manufacturers Trust company into an institution with resources of nearly $600,000,000 and deposits in excess of $460,000,000 were approved today by directors of the two banks.

The combined institution will have a new name to be announced later. Harvey D. Gibson, president of the Manufacturers, will be chairman of the board and president of the merged bank; Louis G. Kaufman, president of the Chatham Phenix, will be chairman of the executive committee, and Henry C. Von Elm, former president, and now vice chairman of the Manufacturers, will be vice chairman of the board.

Subject to Approval.

The merger, which is subject to the approval of stockholders and of the state and national banking authorities, will mark a further striking step in the progress of the Manufacturers Trust company since Mr. Gibson assumed control at the beginning of this year.

In 1929 arrangements for a merger of the Chatham Phenix with the Bank of America National association reached an advanced stage, only to be rejected by directors of the Chatham Phenix after a stormy session devoted to consideration of last minute stipulations advanced by A. P. Giannini, the then controlling influence of Bank of America. The latter institution was merged, effective last Monday, with the National City bank.

The Manufacturers Trust company figured last year as a principal in the four cornered billion dollar merger plan which was to have united the Bank of United States, the Public National Bank and Trust company, the International Trust company, and the Manufacturers. The failure of this plan, announced on Dec. 9, 1930, was followed two days later by the collapse of the Bank of United States.

Terms of Merger.

Under the terms of the merger plan approved today the Manufacturers bank will issue 546,750 new shares of its $25 par value stock in exchange for the 810,000 shares of the $20 par value stock of the Chatham Phenix outstanding. This figures out at approximately 1½ shares of Chatham Phenix for one share of Manufacturers.

On the basis of their September reports the two institutions combined would have resources of $594,418,179 and deposits of $414,768,046, while capital would be $43,700,000 and surplus and undivided profits $40,899,111.

The statement of the Manufacturers Trust company as of Sept. 30 showed total resources of $358,155,804, deposits of $255,701,159, capital of $27,500,000, and surplus and undivided profits of $24,821,808. The Chatham Phenix reported as of Sept. 29 total resources of $236,262,575, deposits of $159,006,847, capital of $16,200,000, and surplus and undivided profits of $16,077,805.

Deposits Increase.

Control of the Manufacturers Trust company was purchased by Mr. Gibson on Jan. 2 last when, together with associates, he bought from the Goldman Sachs Trading corporation 277,000 shares of the bank's stock for the sum of $7,300,000, an average price of $26.35. On Jan. 5 he became president and chief executive of the institution.

Under Mr. Gibson's direction the Manufacturers has made striking progress. As of Jan. 3 combined net time and demand deposits of the institution reported weekly to the New York Clearing House association were $188,125,000. Six months later, on July 2, combined net time and demand deposits were $206,950,000. As of last week's report for Nov. 28 the institution showed deposits of $235,145,000, representing a gain of 28 per cent over the January figure.

N. Y. Stock Exchange Seat at $148,000; Down $9,000

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 3.—The New York stock exchange announced today that arrangements have been completed for the sale of a membership at $148,000, the lowest price for a seat on the exchange since 1926. This price was a decline of $9,000 from the previous sale and compares with a previous low this year of $156,000 on Sept. 30 and a high of $210,000 on March 17 for the sale of a full membership. Last year the price of seats ranged from $480,000 in May to $186,000 at the end of the year. In 1929 the price touched the all time high at $625,000. For comparison with today's price it is necessary to go back to 1926, when the price ranged between a low of $132,000 and a high of $178,000.

Sloan Gives Income of General Motors.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 3.—In submitting the pamphlet report of the General Motors corporation for the third quarter and the first nine months of this year, Alfred P. Sloan Jr., president, asserts that the general business and industrial structure of the country has been strengthened through the elimination of the "inefficiency, waste, and false thinking that accompany periods of intense and prolonged prosperity and inflation."

ALFRED P. SLOAN.

"Equally important," Mr. Sloan says, "is the fact that out of the situation problems have risen, the recognition of which is sure to mean progress in our industrial development. Out of it is also bound to come a great acceleration in technical progress. All of these factors mean nothing more or less than the building of the foundation for a greater and, I believe, a more stable prosperity."

"Notwithstanding the very subnormal rate of operations at which the automotive industry in common with all other industries is operating," Mr. Sloan continues, "I might at this time reaffirm the statement that I have made before to the effect that the motor car is today in the strongest position in its history from the standpoint of having become an economic necessity."

The report of earnings corresponds with the preliminary statement issued in October, showing a net of $13,333,214 for the third quarter and of $97,455,390 for the first nine months. These figures include equities in the undivided profits or the losses of subsidiary and affiliated companies not consolidated. For the third quarter the earnings were equal to 25 cents a share on common stock after preferred dividends, while for the nine months they were equal to $2.08 a share. The corporation earned $25,470,697 or 53 cents a share, in the third quarter of last year, and $123,826,052, or $2.68 a share, in the first nine months of last year.

North Western Ry. Orders 15 Per Cent Cut in Pensions

The Chicago and North Western railroad has ordered a 15 per cent reduction in its pension payments, effective Jan. 1, 1932. The cut, announced yesterday, was the second voted by the pension board within a year, George W. Hand, assistant to the president, said. Last January the pensions were cut 10 per cent.

100 MILLIONS IN BONDS ASKED BY N. Y. CENTRAL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 3.—The New York Central Railroad company sought authority in an application filed today with the interstate commerce commission in Washington to issue $100,000,000 of refunding and improvement mortgage 6 per cent bonds series C, to be dated Oct. 1, 1931, and maturing Oct. 1, 2013.

The road proposed that the bonds be not sold at the present time but that they be authenticated and delivered in order to be pledged and repledged from time to time as collateral security for short term notes which may be issued. The application stated the company had now outstanding a total of $51,500,000 of short term notes and $85,000,000 of the series C bonds.

Loans Mature in January.

Much of the New York Central's bank loans mature in January. J. P. Morgan & Co. and the First National bank are the traditional bankers for New York Central and it is presumed they hold much of the railroad's paper. With the issuance of the $100,000,000 of bonds, which would be ample collateral for this loan, the indebtedness of the New York Central would be distributed through a widespread syndicate.

The form of financing proposed by the New York Central has been used on a smaller scale by many other railroads this year. The interstate commerce commission has authorized in these cases the issuance of securities which were accepted by banks as collateral but which were not sold to the public. As a rule the blocks of securities thus pledged have not run much above $10,000,000.

The last long term financing by the New York Central was the issuance of $75,000,000 of 4½ per cent refunding and improvement bonds due in 2013 which were sold in March by syndicate headed by J. P. Morgan & Co. These bonds, sold at par, have, in company with other leading railroad issues, declined in respect to market value since their offering. They closed at 62¾ on the stock exchange today.

Makes Construction Loans.

Since March, the road has made short term loans for construction which in September amounted to about $40,000,000.

A great part of the New York Central's current debt was incurred through expenditures on the west side improvement, which is to ultimately cost $150,000,000. The railroad had acquired title to nearly 95 per cent of the land required for the project, much of this property, having been bought since the deflation, cost less than had been expected.

The balance sheet issued by the New York Central as of Sept. 30 showed a drop in profit and loss surplus from $294,375,000 a year previously to $268,926,000. Current assets dropped from $103,247,000 to $86,501,000 and current liabilities jumped from $78,328,000 to $103,991,000. "Other investments," which would include purchases of stock in other railroads or advances to subsidiaries increased from $408,254,000 to $441,121,000. Funded debt increased from $644,177,000 to $689,037,000, reflecting the sale of the $75,000,000 bonds in March after retirement of other issues.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 3.—Directors of the Radio Corporation of America today voted to omit the regular quarterly dividend of $1.25 on the preferred "B" stock and at the same time authorized the payment of the usual quarterly dividend of $7½ cents a share on the "A" preferred. Directors also declared the usual dividend of 25 cents a share on the original preferred stock which is payable yearly.

Omission of the dividend on the "B" stock was decided on because of the decline in October and November earnings, officials explained. While gross earnings of the corporation have been running below 1930 all during the current year the net earnings of the company in the first nine months were substantially in excess of the comparable period last year.

Net Earnings Up.

Gross earnings for the period ended Sept. 30 totaled $73,638,019 as compared with $85,150,257 in the first nine months of 1930. Net earnings, however, after all costs and depreciation amounted to $3,957,489 as compared with $870,753 in the corresponding period of 1930. The net this year was equivalent to $3.82 a share on the class "B" stock, against a deficit of 20 cents a share in 1930.

Lambert company, which earned $7.16 in ninth months and will earn $8.50 for the full year, according to present indications, reassured the financial district by declaring the regular quarterly dividend of $3 a share. The $3 annual rate had been maintained since April, 1929.

Vote Extra Dividend.

An extra dividend of $1 a share was declared on the common stock of the Hygrade Sylvania corporation in addition to the regularly quarterly of 50 cents.

The Western Tablet and Stationery corporation has declared a dividend of $1 a share on the common stock, making total dividends of $2 for this year.

The usual quarterly dividend of 2½ per cent on the common capital stock has been announced by Fred Fear & Co. The company has maintained an unbroken dividend record for the last twenty years.

An interim dividend of 3½ per cent on the ordinary stock was declared by Furness Withey & Co., Ltd., compared with an interim dividend of 5 per cent at this time in each of the last two years.

Maintain Rate.

COAL PROGRAM ADOPTED AT MEETING IN N. Y.

New York, Dec. 3.—(AP)—A four point program designed to stabilize and revivify the bituminous coal industry was adopted today by the General Bituminous Coal committee, an organization of prominent operators. It calls for:

1. Regional consolidation of the sales agencies of coal producers.

2. Actual physical merger of coal producing properties wherever possible.

3. An embargo on the importation of all petroleum products, which have been giving the coal industry serious competition.

4. Reduction of freight rates for the transportation of coal.

The first two points were approved by Col. William J. Donovan, former assistant United States attorney general, who had been retained to give an opinion whether the plan violated the anti-trust laws.

Pullman Company Shows $282,976 October Deficit

The Pullman company, carrier subsidiary of Pullman, Inc., yesterday reported gross earnings of $4,439,461 for October against $6,016,389 in the same month of 1930. Net for the month in 1930 was $111,059, while this year the figure was a deficit of $282,976. For the first ten months of 1931 Pullman company transportation resulted in earnings of $53,467,507 against $65,511,799 in the same period of 1930. Net earnings for ten months were $2,462,723, compared with $5,003,163 a year ago.

CANADIAN LOAN OVERSUBSCRIBED BY $65,000,000

OTTAWA, Ont., Dec. 3.—(AP)—Oversubscription by $65,000,000 of the $150,000,000 national service loan was announced tonight by E. N. Rhodes, acting minister of finance. He said the government would accept the full $215,000,000 using the excess to redeem outstanding obligations of the dominion in the form of treasury bills and bonds.

"Steps have already been taken to put this program into operation," he said, "and when completed the net increase in the obligations of the Dominion of Canada will be $150,000,000."

The entire amount sought in the loan together with the $65,000,000 extra was subscribed in approximately one week.

BOND HOLDERS' COMMITTEE SET UP FOR WABASH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 3.—Appointment of receivers for the Wabash railway on Dec. 1 has resulted in the formation of a bondholders' protective committee to look after the interests of the holders of the company's refunding and general mortgage bonds, it was announced today.

The committee is composed of John W. Stedman, vice president of the Prudential Insurance company; George W. Bovenizer of Kuhn, Loeb & Co.; James H. Brewster Jr., vice president and treasurer of the Aetna Life Insurance company, and Henry George, second vice president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company. Mr. Stedman has been elected chairman of the committee.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 3.—The ailing share market was able to sit up once more today. Somebody dosed it with a report that a huge revolving fund is about to be set up to tide the rails over their crisis and the glowing effect was manifested throughout the list. The improvement amounted in spots to 2 or 3 points.

Previous to the recovery a number of eye-filling issues had slumped to new lows for the decline. U. S. Steel violated its previous minimum for one mile, but quickly rallied to register a net advance of more than a point. The preferred stock of the corporation sold off 4 points to the lowest since 1917, but, likewise, made up about half its early decline. Western Union sank to the lowest mark touched since 1908, when the century low of 41 was recorded. Pennsylvania railroad dipped to the lowest price in its history and Central of New Jersey gave up 13 points on two sales at the lowest price in more than forty years.

Prices in Early Decline.

For a while in the earlier dealings it looked as though the market was destined to go through the last of the Oct. 5 averages, which stand as the minimum of the long bear movement which began back in the fall of 1929. Realization of the imminence of such a catastrophe caused no little concern in speculative circles and the sinking figures opposite recognized pivotals were watched with considerable anxiety to see if big-hearted bankers would again throw out the lifeline, as they have done on so many similar occasions in the past.

Probably some of the buying which turned the list upward in the afternoon did come from these sources, but there were evidences of an improved feeling toward the list, particularly feeling toward the list, particularly in regard to the railroad shares.

Make Good Showing.

Pivotal issues made a good showing as a whole throughout the day, even when the tide was going against the list as a whole. American Can after following U. S. Steel lower in the forenoon snapped back to 67, a net gain of more than 3 points. General Electric replaced an early loss with a net gain, and Consolidated Gas rose more than 2 points above its Wednesday closes. Eastman Kodak, Johns-Manville, North American and other notables of the list were well thought of.

Automobile stocks did a little better as a group, Auburn spurted more than 5 points on short selling and General Motors, Chrysler, and Nash all improved fractionally. General Motors' earnings report is due tomorrow and the street heard that it will show around 25 cents a share for the quarter, or better than $2 for the nine months.

CHICAGO STOCKS FIRM; INTEREST CENTERS ON CORD

Payment by Auburn Helps Parent Company.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Stock prices were firmer in the main on the Chicago exchange yesterday, but selling pressure continued to depress individual stocks. Active shares followed the trend of the New York market and the grain market.

Speculative interest centered on Cord corporation stock which was the heaviest traded in issue on the board. Declaration of the regular quarterly dividend by Auburn Automobile company, in which Cord has substantial holdings, provided an excuse for a bullish demonstration in the latter stock.

Auburn Pays Dividend.

Auburn directors authorized the disbursement of the regular quarterly dividend of $1 in cash and 2 per cent in stock. There had never been any doubt concerning the maintenance of the dividend inasmuch as the company made a better showing in the first nine months of this year than in the same period of 1930 or in the comparable months of 1929—the banner year for the automobile industry. Net profit for the nine months ended Aug. 31 was equivalent to $16.77 a share against $5.35 last year and $14.84 in the corresponding 1929 period.

Continental Chicago preferred stock was forced to a new low price of 21¼ under pressure, which report credited to tax selling by interests close to the company. The common stock was also active around its previous price of 2½.

Motor Accessories Neglected.

The motor accessories shares, which have been getting a little's portion of the speculative attention recently, were more or less neglected yesterday. Turnover in Bendix dropped to around 3,700 shares which was the smallest trade in the stock in recent weeks.

That the recent claims of improved conditions in the motor industry have a real basis in fact is detailed in the statement by C. S. Davis, president of Borg Warner corporation, that November business of the company's subsidiary, Marvel Carburetor company, has shown an increase of 20 per cent. Outlook for the current month is quite favorable, Mr. Davis added. Renewal of old contracts and orders for furnishing carburetors for two new models of cars accounted for the business, he explained.

Chicago Curb Exchange Stocks

More than 17,000 Commonwealth Edison and Public Service rights were traded on the Chicago curb yesterday and both options finished fractionally higher. Elsewhere prices shifted irregularly. Hasmond Clock jumped nearly two points.

The week, $5.00; average, $5.50.
Estimated receipts at Chicago today: Cattle, 5,000; hogs, 33,000; sheep, 14,000

Buyers scored in the hog market yesterday when they forced the extreme top down 10c to a new low of $4.40, which is only 10c above the low-set spot for hogs since 1899. The general average showed 5c loss at $4.30. Receipts continued large at most of the leading markets and yesterday's arrivals at Chicago were augmented by a liberal carryover from the day before.

Shipping demand is dropping off due to the unsatisfactory condition of the fresh meat trade at leading distributing centers in the east. The immense supplies of hogs have finally choked the outlet for fresh pork and sellers can hope for little support from eastern interests until the surplus has been worked off. Local buyers ran into a deadlock in the hog market, however, when they tried to cut 15@25c from quotations and found sellers ready to carry their holdings until today. Both sides finally granted some concession and bulk of offerings moved over the scales at 5@15c reduction.

There was little action in the hog futures market yesterday. Most offers and bids were too far apart for trading. Several sellers were willing to take $5.75 for March and May contracts and offers in December hogs ranged down to $4.50. The latter were bid $4.25.

Sellers were able to check the decline in cattle yesterday, but action was lacking and all sales showed the week's full loss. Beef steers are selling fully 25@50c under a week ago and yearlings show losses of $1@c to $1. Prime 1,314 lb cattle topped the market yesterday at $12.75, but few other sales were made above $10.

Butcher stock moved slowly at the week's 50c price cut. Calves weakened again yesterday and sales of best calves at $6@$6.50 were 75c to $1 lower for the week. Stockers and feeders were slow and 25@50c lower than a week ago.

Lambs Sell Steady.

The lamb market yesterday was a repetition of the midweek trade. Quotations in all classes were exactly the same as they were on Wednesday. Receipts were moderate and both buyers and sellers seemed agreeable that there was not much cause for a change in the price list. Available offerings are about equal to requirements.

While receipts for the first four days of the week show an increase over a week ago, eastern demand has dropped off some, but local outlet is broad enough to make up the difference in the demand. Large local packers took most of the good grades of slaughter lambs around $5.75, while city butchers paid up to $6. Eastern competition was not so pronounced.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 2,000 cattle, 32,000 hogs and 14,000 sheep, against 7,964 cattle, 36,886 hogs and 26,902 sheep the previous Friday, and 9,161 cattle, 32,792 hogs and 12,419 sheep a year ago.

The grand champion steer of the live stock show sold at auction yesterday at $1.27 per lb. It weighed 1,076 lbs. and brought a total of $1,358. Sargent & Bastian, Allentown, Pa., was the buyer. The grand champion carlot sold at $30.25 to McCann & Co., Pittsburgh, Pa. Both sales were low-set for the first prize winners since 1925. The champion carlot of lambs sold to Armour at $12.25. The car lot of hogs sold to the Plankinton Packing company at Milwaukee.

URE PROPERTY ON HOWARD ST. TO BE REORGANIZED

Norshore Theater Is in Building.

BY AL CHASE.

What is said by the attorneys in the transaction, Markham & Allie, to be the first step in a reorganization of the Norshore theater property at 1767 Howard street, took place yesterday when the Ure Building corporation transferred title to the 1767 Howard Street Building corporation. This is a three story fireproof business building erected in 1924 and financed with a $1,250,000 first mortgage bond issue underwritten by George M. Forman & Co. The property is 125x265.

It was erected by the Ure Building corporation, of which John F. Ure was president and James Ure, secretary. It contains the Norshore theater, under lease to the Balaban & Katz interests, several stores, shops and a few small apartments. The original bond issue of $1,250,000 has been reduced by payments of $102,500 on the principal, according to George M. Forman & Co. They also state that the owning corporation defaulted in its bond issue on the last due date.

Another Reorganization.

S. W. Straus & Co. report the reorganization plans for the Fenway Hall Apartment building bond issue of Cleveland, O., a considerable portion of which is held by Chicago investors. This is the first plan of reorganization to be announced since the general principles of reorganization by the bondholders' committees organized by S. W. Straus & Co., were published in The Tribune of Nov. 17.

The salient features of the plan of the Fenway Hall Apartment building reorganization are as follows: All bondholders who deposit the bonds by Dec. 31st will receive a new 5½ per cent fifteen year first mortgage sinking fund bond in the same amount as the bonds deposited. In addition they will receive in cash interest at the rate of 5½ per cent from Nov. 1 to date of the issue of the new bonds.

Horne by Junior Interests.

Provision is made for a reserve fund of six months' interest on the new bonds outstanding to protect the new first mortgage bondholders. The entire expense of this reorganization will be saved by the bondholders and will be borne by junior interests, who will own and operate the property. Sufficient funds, it is stated, will be provided by the junior interests to rehabilitate the furniture and furnishings and thereby put the property, when reorganized, in first class, physical condition.

S. W. Straus & Co. make this comment: "This favorable plan of reorganization depends upon the committee securing the deposit of at least 80 per cent of the outstanding bonds before Dec. 31, 1931. A substantial majority of the bonds have been deposited."

Van Buren Street Deal.

County records yesterday disclosed the sale of the eight story building at the rear of 237-239 West Van Buren, in the block between Wells and Franklin streets, for an undisclosed consideration. The building stands on a lot 40x105. The property was transferred by Emanuel M. Rosenwasser of 9025 Muskegon avenue, and others by master's deed to William J. Bateman. The latter then conveyed it to Harry C. Pearson, as trustee for an undisclosed purchaser. According to C. W. Seignious & Son, brokers, north side vacant was given in part payment as well as a cash payment made.

The furnished apartment hotel at 5716-18 Winthrop avenue, lot 50x150, has been sold by Miss Nellie Corrigan to Maurice Ebert for an undisclosed consideration. Max Krauss was attorney.

COTTON MARKET STRONGER

Cotton markets finished fairly strong yesterday after early weakness. The strength came from covering by shorts and buying of 6,000 bales of March by a brokerage house. Trading in all was light and the range of prices narrow. Closing trades on futures in Chicago were 4 points of 2811 points, with other markets as 4@9 points. Spots in New York were advanced 10 points to 6.30c. New Orleans up 5 points to 6.05c. Galveston 6.10c, and Houston 6c. Liverpool closed 3@4 points net lower, with spot sales 7,900 bales. Traders are disposed to go slow until after the government crop report is issued on Dec. 8. The general impression is that it will show around 17,000,000 bales. There were light rains over the greater part of the belt, with freezing reported in North Carolina.

Ginning returns to Dec. 1 show 15,189,- 253 bales, compared with 12,837,000 bales ginned for the same period last year. Ginning from Nov. 14 to Dec. 1 aggregated 919,936 bales against 874,182 bales last year, as given by the E. H. Miller- J. E. Bennett report. Production is estimated at 16,396,000 running bales, or 16,098,000 bales of 500 lbs. The highest estimate so far this season is for a crop of 17,250,000 bales. Ginning in Texas to Dec. 1 was 4,988,396 bales. Prices follow:

RUSSIAN NEWS HELPS BOLSTER WHEAT MARKET

Soviets Reported Making Grain Purchases.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Renewed reports from abroad to the effect that Russia was canceling sales of high quality wheat for forward shipment, and a partial confirmation of the recent rumors that purchases of several cargoes of Australian grain had been bought by Soviets for shipment to Vladivostok gave the market a firm undertone yesterday and at one time the May sold 1½c above the finish on Thursday after an early break.

The market, however, was "thin" and sufficient selling developed against offers to bring about a moderate recession from the best figures, with net gains of ⅝@1c; March, 34⅝@34⅞c; May, 35⅛@35⅝c, and July, 37⅝@37¾c.

According to cables from abroad Russia bought two cargoes of Australian wheat, or about 900,000 bu yesterday. At the same time exports of 800,000 bu were reported from Russian Black sea ports, making a total of 1,700,000 bu from July 1 to Dec. 2, compared with 67,040,000 bu for the previous season. This was the first time this year the total has fallen below that of a year ago. The recent exports, according to reports from Europe, have been of poor quality, which partially explains the relatively low prices for futures in Liverpool, as compared to the latter market permit of a delivery of what would be regarded in North America as a poor quality grain.

Purpose of Buying.

While it was thought in grain trade circles that the purchase of Australian wheat may indicate merely that the Soviet authorities find it advantageous to buy wheat from the nearby Australian market for shipment through Vladivostok into the northern area rather than to overburden its inadequate railroad system with wheat from South Russia, coupled with other recent developments in Russia it strengthened the assumption that exports of Russian wheat on the world market will be much less than had been expected in the next few months.

A keen demand was reported for cash wheat in the leading markets, final handlers selling $9,000 bu for shipment, including some to Nashville, while it is understood that fairly liberal sales have been made to mills at Kansas City this week. Deliveries of over 1,000,000 bu on December contracts in the latter market are said to have been taken in and paid for by leading northwestern mills who will probably ship out the grain. The Pioneer National was reported as shipping wheat out of Minneapolis to mills, and the Doedgsier in that market gained 1½c for the day.

Liverpool wheat futures which has been showing relative weakness as compared with Chicago of late reversed its recent action and gained sharply, the finish being equal to ⅝@¾c per bu lower, falling to respond to the decline in North America the previous day and at the last the December was 64c, or only ¼c under the spot future in the local market. Winnipeg failed to follow the upturn in Chicago and was ¼@⅝c higher for the day, with December at 55¼c in Canadian currency, which was 13⅝ per cent discount.

Heavy Rains Wheat Bulls.

Heavy rains were reported in parts of northern Argentina which had some effect on Liverpool as the movement of the new crop may be delayed. However, both new Argentine and Australian wheat was reported as offered abroad at a discount under hard winters. Buenos Aires closed unchanged to ¼c higher, with December at 45c. Owing to comparatively steadiness in sterling exchange there was more interest shown in North American wheat during the day, with export sales of around 400,000 bu estimated in all positions.

Corn showed an easy undertone from the start and prices averaged lower. Destruction of 2,163,000 bu on December contracts led to scattered liquidation in that delivery which declined 1½c from Wednesday's finish to 37⅝c, but recovered part of the loss later. There was selling of December and buying of May at 51½c difference.

Distant Fairly Active.

Closing trades on corn were ¼c lower to ⅛c higher, with December, 38⅛@38¼c; March, 40¾; May, 42¾@43⅛, and July, 44@44¼c. Shipping sales, 400,000 bu. Cash demand was fairly active, with sales of 81,000 bu, including some to go to Wisconsin points, while country offerings were slightly larger at 28,000 bu.

The oats market was unsettled, but rallied sharply from the inside figures and closed at the top, with net gains of ¼c, December finishing at 24⅝@24¾c; May, 27c, and July, 28½c. Shipping sales aggregated 61,000 bu. Cash was ¼c lower to ¼c higher for the day, selling of rye against purchases of wheat by speculators being responsible for the easier tone. December finished at 35¼c; May, 47¼c, and July, 45c.

EGG FUTURES AT NEW LOW

Trading and new futures continued their decline noted on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday, making new lows for the year's options. December butter opened at 23c, low for all of last year, but recovered from the bottom to the same price as closed Wednesday. December eggs sold 1c lower and January to 1½c. Trading was light for the day. March green meats were named today for the new year's delivery. Estimated receipts included: Butter, 2,000,000 lbs; eggs, 3,000,000; cheese, 400,000 lbs. COTTONSEED OIL.

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—(AP)—Bleachable cottonseed oil closed irregular today at 3 points decline to 5 points net advance on sales of 5 contracts, equivalent to 750 barrels. Tenders on December contracts were 5 tanks of bleachable and 4 tanks of prime summer yellow. Warehouse stocks on December 1st were 340,000 pounds. In prime summer yellow contract there were sales of December at 6.45c. Bleachable spot closed 6.60c, December 6.50c, January 6.46c, March 6.45c, May 6.46c, July 6.60c. Closing prices in the prime summer yellow contract follow: Spot 6.60c, December 6.45c, January 6.35c, March 6.50c, May 6.60c, July 6.70c. Prime crude was quoted at 3½c bid in the contract and the valley and nominal in Texas.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—(AP)—Cotton goods eased ¼ of a cent in the print cloth division today on spot sales of 20¼ inch 64-60s. Demand in other combinations was also limited but there was little by cancel weather. Silk goods were quiet. Burlaps were easy, with trade light. Rayon yarns were in fairly good demand pending the receipt of better cloth orders by mills.

LARD MARKET WEAKENS

A combination of short selling and possibly a little hedging in a market that is not well supplied with buying orders carried prices down 9@7½c yesterday. At the same time bullish were 2½@5c lower, with no trading. Lard prices in Liverpool were 3 points up spots and 3d lower on January, with Mar 6d. Export clearances of lard were 487,746 lbs and of bacon 134,000 lbs. Hogs were easier, with receipts heavier than estimated. Cash lard situation is said to be fairly healthy as domestic and export account, while the pork loin market is easy at around 6c for layered weights. Prices follow:
